SHORTAGE OF WHEAT.

Famine Seems to be World-wide.

Too Many Men Engaged in Phlebotomy and too Few in Agriculture.

Use of the Cereal Within a Few Points of Civil War Record.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—The world-wide shortage of wheat today put prices on the local board of trade where the mark set in the corner of 1898 and close to the mark in the history of the days since Civil War days. December wheat soared today to $1.86 against $1.85. When Joseph Leiter was cornering the grain he drove the price of wheat up to $2.20, which was the highest mark touched since 1867 until today, except a corner engineered by B. P. Robinson ("Old Hutch") in 1898, when the record-breaking figure of $3 a bushel was touched.

Unfavorable reports from the wheat fields of the world indicate that no country under the sun has suffered more or less through disasters to the wheat yield and that the shortage has not been confined to this country alone. The recent sharp increase in the cost of living is asserted to be directly traceable to this cause and the end is not yet. So far as the prices of wheat and flour for bread are concerned the high records have not been reached and even the best-posted grain men have no idea where the situation will find its solution.

SOARING.

The cereal began to soar with the opening of the market today and sold up to $1.86 for December and $1.85 for May shortly after the opening. Eastern houses were picking up the wheat, and, regardless of the efforts of the local pit crowd to check the advance, prices continued their upward trend with only a temporary halt now and then when some of the "longs" inclined to take profits. December wheat opened $1.81½ to $1.80, an advance of 3 1-8 cents over last night. May wheat opened at $1.81 to $1.79¾, an advance of 3 1-4 cents.

A cable from Buenos Ayres reporting that wheat market 2½ cents lower, and a wire from New York saying foreigners were selling wheat there, caused a rush to sell wheat and prices were off materially from top figures. The closing price for December was $1.80⅝ to $1.80, an advance of 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 cents, while May was $1.80½ to $1.80 1-8, an advance of 1 3-8 to 1⅝ cents.

Prices for flour were 30 cents a

Pennies Count a Great Deal in San Francisco Just Now.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Six cents will be the price of the twelve-ounce loaf of bread that now sells for 5 cents if the recommendations made here late today by the State Bakers' Association are carried out. In addition to advising an increase in the price of bread the association adopted resolutions asking all associated organizations and all Chambers of Commerce through the State to join the Master Bakers' Association in a demand on Congress that an embargo be imposed forbidding the export of wheat.

More Troops Sent to Chihuahua.

Vigorous Denial that the City has been Captured by the Villistas.

Carranza Announces His Candidacy for Office of President of Mexico.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 25.—Mexican Consul Garcia at El Paso, Tex., telegraphed the Mexican Embassy here tonight that he had been advised by Gen. Trevino of the arrival at Chihuahua of troop trains bringing about 8000 men under Gen. Maycotte to reinforce the garrison.

CHIHUAHUA RUMORS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Persistent reports of the fall of Chihuahua City to the Villa forces, which have been current here, have not been confirmed in advices to Southern Department headquarters of the United States Army. Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston, questioned directly regarding the reports, said tonight that so far as he knew they were not true.

"VIGOROUS TERMS."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Gen. Gonzales at Juarez tonight announced the receipt of a message from Gen. Jacinto Trevino at Chihuahua city, stating that all was quiet there and authorizing him to deny "in vigorous terms" the report that the city had fallen before an attack by Villa.

CARRANZA AS POLITICIAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Oct. 25 (via El Paso Junction.)—Gen. Trevino today received a wireless message from Gen. Venustiano Carranza announcing his candidacy for the Mexican Presidency at the coming election.

The message stated there probably would be many changes in the Carranza Cabinet. Gen. Pablo Gonzales, it was stated, is to give up his command of the First Military Division to accept a special confidential commission.

SKIRMISHING.

Skirmishing between Gen. Carlos Ozuna's advanced forces and those of Francisco Villa continue, although the general engagement is being delayed by Gen. Jacinto Trevino until all of his troops have been placed in strategic positions in Western Chihuahua.

The excitement caused by the approach of the Villa forces has been quieted and the concentration of 8000 troops has restored the feeling of security among the inhabitants.

Two military trains, carrying a part of Gen. Francisco Maycotte's command from Torreon, arrived here today and Gen. Maycotte is expected here tomorrow.

Gen. Trevino today authorized the Associated Press to make an official denial of the rumors that he was preparing to evacuate the city. He characterized these rumors as "malicious inventions."

Gen. Trevino stated that the situation in the field and in Chihuahua city was entirely satisfactory.

"Any fear that Chihuahua city would be captured by bandits is simply absurd," he said.

A decree of Gen. Carranza ordering the payment of all taxes in gold has been received here.

VILLA MOVING WEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Francisco Villa and his command are moving westward along the Mexico Northwestern Railroad, reports obtained by government agents here from refugees arriving from Chihuahua city state.

The reason given for this movement away from Chihuahua city by the refugees is to equip the men who have been impressed in Villa's command with the rifles and ammunition said to have been captured from Gen. Carlos Ozuna's command at Palomas.

WARNING TO LEAVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Gen. Jacinto Trevino, commander of the Chihuahua garrison, has issued warning to residents to leave the city, according to a report that reached army headquarters today from Gen. George Bell at El Paso.

Gen. Bell says Mrs. Trevino was among the many refugees who have arrived at El Paso from Chihuahua.

Although the report did not tell of the progress of the Villa attack on Chihuahua, persons who reached the border told army officers that the camp fires of the attacking force could be plainly seen from the city.

The report contained a detailed account of the crushing defeat received several days ago near Palomas by Carranza troops, under Gen. Ozuna, at the hands of Villa's command.

THE MEXICAN NORM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Gen. Francisco Gonzales, commander of the Carranza troops in Juarez, received a message from Gen. Jacinto B. Trevino today, stating that the conditions were normal in Chihuahua city and that the situation was unchanged.

TRADE RAILWAY FOR ONE DOG.

And then Shoot the Dog is Advice of a San Francisco Man.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—"Trade the railway for a dog and then shoot the dog" was encouragement given today by a San Francisco railroad official to A. H. Ward, general manager of an electric railroad four miles long in Norfolk, Va., who has sent out broadcast circular letters beseeching his brother railroad men for advice as to how to make his little road pay. Ward says he has just been made general manager of the road, that this is his first experience in railroading, that his road "begins nowhere and ends nowhere," and has steadily lost money. With the idea of "leaving no stone unturned in getting the road on a paying basis," Ward has conceived the idea of appealing to the entire railroad world for suggestions. The proposition he describes seems hopeless to local railroad men.

MOVE TO PAROLE JOHN J. M'NAMARA.

UNIONS START CAMPAIGN TO FREE "TIMES" DYNAMITER.

Still in Good Standing with His Brother Agitators, Aid is Asked of Local Labor Bodies to Secure Release of Convict and Murder Accomplice.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Parole for John J. McNamara, who was involved in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building in 1910, probably will be asked Saturday from the State Board of Prison Directors.

Warden James Johnston of San Quentin prison said today that McNamara had inquired as to his eligibility to parole and had been directed to file his petition with the board.

The Internatonal Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers and local 22, its Indianapolis body, have sent to all California labor bodies a request that McNamara's application be indorsed. He is still in good standing in his union and the Indianapolis letter says it is felt to be "the duty" of the California labor organizations to assist him.

"We would like to make it plain that this letter emanates from the local union, of which Brother McNamara has been for years and still is an honored member," the Indianapolis union wrote. "We feel strongly that it would be a beautiful thing for his home local to take the preliminary steps in the campaign for his release.

"While a continent divides us, we feel that the toilers of the Pacific Coast are actuated by the same high ideals, cherish the same hopes and aspirations, and stand ready to answer our plea in no uncertain manner."

HISTORY OF THE CASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—John J. McNamara, sentenced to fifteen years in San Quentin penitentiary upon his plea of guilty to dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works here on Christmas morning, 1910, formerly was secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

He was one of eight persons against whom twenty murder indictments were returned. His brother, James B. McNamara, pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering Charles Haggerty, one of the victims, and now is serving a life sentence at San Quentin. Mathew A. Schmidt was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment on a like charge and David Caplan now is on trial here for the second time for the same alleged crime. The true names of four others indicted never have been made public.

CHARGES STILL STAND.

The twenty charges of murder still stand against John J. McNamara, as do the unprosecuted ones against the others, according to Bonner Richardson, secretary to the District Attorney, Thomas Lee Woolwine, who prosecuted Schmidt and Caplan. Whether or not these charges might be pressed if McNamara were to be paroled, he said, could not be determined now.

"There is no precedent for such procedure," he said. "In small cases where there are a number of charges frequently only one is prosecuted. But this is a murder charge and there are twenty of them."

He said the District Attorney's office would supply information to the State Board of Prison Directors on the case, if requested, but it was not customary to make any recommendation to the board.

The McNamara trials, closing sensationally with the two pleas of guilty by the two brothers, ended what was known popularly as a "reign of terror" here growing out of union labor difficulties. Four accomplished or attempted explosions caused alarm among the public. Besides the explosion at The Times Building and the dynamiting of the Llewellyn Iron Works, it was found suit-case bombs were placed near the

DYNAMITE EXPLODED

Second Outrage of the Week.

Lenox-avenue Station and Road Bed Demolished, All Trains Delayed.

Officials of Carmen's Union Deny that Their Men did the "Job."

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—A dynamite bomb thought by the police to have been set by strikers was exploded on the subway tracks at the southern end of the "Island" station at Lenox avenue and One Hundred and Tenth street early today. No one was seriously injured, but the interior of the station was wrecked and the roadbed badly torn up. All trains on the division were held up nearly an hour before the damage to the tracks could be repaired.

The explosion, which was the second from such a cause within a week, shook the vicinity for a radius of a mile. Windows were smashed in the stores and apartment-houses near the station. The neighborhood was in terror. Looting followed the breaking of the windows, and a jewelry store and a tailor shop were stripped of their goods.

Officials of the striking car men's organization denied tonight that their men were implicated, but the police theory is that the bomb was the work of strikers.

SAW FIVE MEN RUN.

A moment before the explosion John Mittlekauf, No. 115 Manhattan avenue, who was driving past the station, saw five men burst out of the station, run toward Central Park and leap the wall. They disappeared in the shrubbery. After Mittlekauf had gone a block farther the explosion occurred. The police are working on Mittlekauf's story.

That there was no loss of life was accounted for by the fact that a south-bound train had just stripped the station of passengers. The train pulled out barely two minutes before the bomb exploded. The fuse of the bomb was in all probability smouldering beneath the train when passengers boarded it.

The police believe that the bomb was set in an attempt to kill the motorman of the train. The dynamite was placed on the track about ten feet short of the end of the platform, or just over the spot where the motorman's box on the car train would be. It is thought that the bomb placers miscalculated the length of the train, as only three-car trains are run at that time in the morning. Only two men so far as is known were in the station at that time. These were Charles Eckart, No. 671 Cortlandt avenue, the Bronx, the ticket agent, and Louis Lafri, No. 28 West One Hundred and Eleventh street, the ticket chopper. Eckart was blown out of the booth by the force of the explosion and landed in a shower of glass and mortar. He was severely cut and bruised. Lafri was knocked down and cut, but was not badly injured. Both men were treated by Dr. Jarnoff of the Harlem Hospital. They refused to leave their posts.

FORCE OF DYNAMITE.

The force of the dynamite gashed out a hole a foot and a half deep in the roadbed, cut off two concrete ties as cleanly as if they had been severed with a huge ax, and bent the heavy steel rails out of alignment. A huge portion of the concrete platform above the explosion was ripped off and the third rail knocked to pieces. The ticket booth was demolished, the kiosks stripped of glass and the twenty-foot sections of vault lighting forming the sidewalk above the platform were blown to bits.

At exactly 4:37 o'clock this morning, when the concussion stopped the clock, the bomb exploded at the southern end of the island platform in the subway station at One Hundred and Tenth street and Lenox avenue, wrecking the station and blowing up the sidewalk above. It was evidently placed on a cross tie on the south-bound track, for a foot or so of the tie which projects to the left of the tracks was cut off.

A three-car south-bound train had just passed through the station on its way to Brooklyn, just two minutes before the roar and crash of the explosion was heard. Residents within a radius of a mile of the subway station were startled from their sleep. The police have no clew to the identity of the placer of the bomb, which is thought to have been charged with dynamite and set off with a time fuse.

EXAMINES FRAGMENTS.

Owen Eagan, inspector of the bureau of combustibles, after examining the few fragments of the bomb, expressed the opinion that the bomb had been filled with high-power dynamite. This was shown, also, he said, by the fact that the force had acted principally downward against the tube flooring.

Detectives from the fourth branch were sent to Mt. Sinai Hospital to question Otis Williams, a negro, of No. 1483 Madison avenue, who appeared at the hospital soon after the explosion suffering from lacerations of the face and a sprained kneecap. Williams said he was entering the subway station when the HOME DYNAMITED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

BLACK-HANDERS ACCUSED OF OUTRAGE AND EXTORTION.

Officers are Investigating Blast Which Wrecked Residence of Frank Palazzotto, Who had Received Several Letters Threatening His Death.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—The police today were conducting an investigation along all lines into the dynamiting Tuesday night of the home of Frank Palazzotto, No. 628 Chenery street. In the blast a sick child was injured. Other members of the family escaped miraculously.

Detective McGarth, who is leading the search for the dynamiters, stated Palazzotto had received black-hand letters August 2 and August 18. Each letter is said to have threatened death unless $2000 was paid.

According to the police, the post-office inspectors are co-operating with the police in the hunt for the black-handers.

Detective McGrath made an exhaustive examination of the premises today in trying to get a clew as to the perpetrators.

The dynamiting of the Palazzotto home is directly attributable to what is known as the "Italian black-hand ring," according to Postoffice Inspector Madeira. It is the same ring that has been perpetrating other bomb outrages throughout the country, Madeira says.

"We are not only investigating the two letters sent Palazzotto," said Madeira tonight, "but also numerous other letters of like character. There is no question but what they all emanate from the same source. With many of the members of this ring serving time in prison and others of them having died, we are gradually exterminating the others and hope to eliminate the band altogether."

POLICE INVESTIGATE ALLEGED ASSAULT.

Claiming to have been assaulted by a man who gave his name as George Grayson and stated that he knew her brother, May King, 22 years of age, living at No. 122 South Hope street, early this morning sprang from a beach car at Seventh and Hill streets and called upon Patrolman Button to arrest Grayson, who had left the car at Eighth and Hill streets. The Patrolman chased the girl's alleged assailant for a number of blocks but was unable to overtake him.

According to Miss King, Grayson met her at Fifth and Broadway early in the evening and declaring that he knew her brother asked her to take a street car ride to Del Rey. When they arrived at the beach, Miss King told the officers, Grayson took her some distance down the beach and after knocking her down assaulted her. He then, she declared this morning, took twenty-five cents from her purse and placed a Mexican dollar bill in the purse. Both the young people took the same car into Los Angeles and after Grayson left the street car the girl also got off and sought to have Grayson arrested.

Investigations made by Detectives Haver and Houston failed to find any trace of Grayson. The detectives discovered that no one by that name lives at one of the large down town hotels where, according to Miss King, the man stated he was stopping.

SEACOAST DEFENSE UNITS WILL UNDERGO SWEEPING CHANGES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 25.—Sweeping changes in the alignment of the nation's seacoast defense units are to be made by the Navy Department in the near future, according to information received by officers of the Pacific fleet today.

Seaplane squadrons, piloted by enlisted men with commissioned officers and observers, are to be attached to each submarine division, it is understood. The seaplanes literally will be the "eyes" of the underwater fighters that will be assigned to coast defense duty.

The Navy Department has issued orders, it is said, that enlisted men and officers of the regular service hereafter will be trained exclusively in the handling of hydroaeroplanes and flying boats. The practice of training officers and men of the naval service in overland flying will be abandoned.

A number of the seaplanes, it is reported, will be triplanes, carrying a rapid-fire gun, and capable of flying more than 600 miles without alighting to replenish the fuel supply. A number of this type of air and water craft are said to be employed in patrol duty along the British coast, operating in conjunction with submarines.

The Navy Department is understood to be extremely desirous of establishing a school for seaplane pilots at San Diego, where student aviators may receive their preliminary training in conjunction with submarine scouting.

TO HARNESS STANISLAUS RIVER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Authorization to sell a million dollar issue of forty-year, 5 per cent., first mortgage gold bonds given today by the State Railroad Commission to the Sierra and San Francisco Power Company is only the first step in a proposed project to harness the enttire Stanislaus River, and a hydro-electric development costing millions of dollars, according to H. F. Jackson, president of the company. "When this is all worked out," said Jackson, "the Stanislaus will be producing 130,000 horse power and an incidental result will be that the impounding reservoir to be built, will iron out the flow of the river until it is nearly constant."

Construction of a new powerhouse on the middle fork of the Stanislaus to develop 20,000 horse power will soon follow the accomplished diversion of river water through constructed ditches, Jackson said.

Jackson told the commission that the company intends to purchase "another hydro-electric concern which the Sierra company logically should own."

JUDGE WORKS HIS WAY HERE.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.] (30)

HONOLULU, Oct. 25.—W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, Cal., Judge of the Superior Court, is, technically speaking, working his way home as an oiler on the Matson liner Lurline in order that he can reach California in time to vote at the general election.

The Lurline, which sailed today, was the last liner that would reach California in time for the election. The steamer, however, on account of damage sustained by striking a reef while entering Honolulu harbor, recently, was not allowed to carry any passengers.

The judge felt that he had to vote, and as the Lurline was the only available means of transportation, he shipped as a member of the crew, and signed ship's articles as an oiler.

CHINA MAIL BUYS TWO LINERS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] (30)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—The China Mail Steamship Company, which began trans-Pacific operations a year ago with the liner China, purchased from the Pacific Mail Company, has bought two big ocean steamers under construction at the Wallace Shipyard, Vancouver, B. C., it was reported here tonight.

Look Tin Eli, president of the China Mail Company, according to reports given credence here, has agreed to pay $2,500,000 each for the liners, delivery to be made within ten months. It also is said that Look has made tentative arrangements for two other liners, giving his company a fleet of five vessels.

CHICAGO AUTO THEFTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The increase in thefts of automobiles here from practical insignificance in 1911 to excess of $1,250,000 thus far in 1916, was shown in a report by the police department today. Thefts since January 1, this year were 2571 cars and the total for the six years were 8023 cars, of which 6669 were recovered.

Insurance companies have paid $500,000 in theft losses this year and the premiums in insurance against automobile theft alone have been more than $5,000,000.

FRESNO AUTOIST IS KILLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

FRESNO, Oct. 26.—W. M. Hefton, Hanford garage proprietor, was killed and F. Barnard, Southern Pacific agent at Hanford, and Mrs. Barnard, were injured when an automobile driven by Hefton collided with a freight train at the Hanford crossing of the State highway at an early hour this morning.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

From three points, the Teutonic allies are working with feverish haste in an attempt to encompass Rumania—from the northeastern and eastern borders of Transylvania and through Dobrudja. In the latter region and on the East Transylvania front further progress in their inroads into King Ferdinand's territory has been made. On the northeast Transylvania front, however, in engagements with the Russians, they have been driven from the heights south of Dorna Watra. In the region of Verdun where the French Tuesday made their spectacular drive over a wide front north and northeast of Verdun they are still holding the ground gained despite the vicious counter-attacks, delivered particularly in the region of Haudromont and Douaumont, and east of the Fumin wood and north of Chenois have gained further ground.

Villa is menacing Chihuahua city and Trevino is receiving reinforcements to save the town. A rumor was current late yesterday that Villa had actually captured Chihuahua city, but this was subsequently denied and it appears without foundation. The Wilson-Carranza peace makers are getting along so poorly at Atlantic City that the joint conference may be transferred soon to Washington to get the men under the influence of the White House.

The Gookeepers of Zion
They do not always stand
In helmet and whole armor
With halberds in their hand,
But being free of Zion
And all her mysteries,
They rest a while in Zion,
Sit down and smile in Zion,
Ay, even jest in Zion,
In Zion at their ease.
The gatekeepers of Baal
They dare not sit or lean,
But fume and fret and posture,
And foam and curse between,
For being bound to Baal,
Whose sacrifice is vain,
Their rest is scant with Baal,
They glare and pant for Baal,
They mouth and rant for Baal,
For Baal in their pain.
But we will go to Zion,
By choice and not through dread,
With these our present comrades,
And these our present dead.
And being free of Zion,
In bolts and fellowships,
Sit down and sup in Zion,
Stand up and drink in Zion,
Whatever cup in Zion
Is offered to our lips.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A flotilla of ours sighted six—there had been eight the previous afternoon—German battleships of the kingly and imperial caste, very early in the morning of the 1st of June, and duly attacked.

At first our people ran parallel to the enemy; then, as far as one can make out, headed them and swept around sharp to their left, firing torpedoes from their port, or left-hand tubes. Between them they hit a battleship which went up in flames and debris, but one of the flotillas has not turned with the rest. She had anticipated that the attack would be made on another quarter, and for certain technical reasons she was not ready.

When she was, she turned, and single-handed—the rest of the flotilla having finished and gone on—carried out two attacks on the five remaining battleships. She got one of them amidships, causing a terrific explosion and flames above the masthead, which signifies that a magazine has been touched off. She counted the battleships when the smoke had cleared, and there were but four of them. She herself was not hit, though shots fell close. She went her way and, seeing nothing of her sisters, picked up another flotilla and stayed with it till the end.

THE CHASE.

Some of the original flotilla were chased and headed about by cruisers after their attack on the six battleships and a single shell from a battleship or cruiser reduced one of them to such a condition that she was brought home by her sublieutenant and midshipman.

Her captain, first lieutenant, gunner, torpedo coxswain and both signalmen were either killed or wounded; the bridge with charts, instruments and signalling gear went; all torpedoes expended; a gun was out of action, and the usual cordite fire developed. Luckily, the engines were workable, and she escaped under cover of a smoke screen which is an unbearably-filthy outpouring of the densest smoke, made by increasing the proportion of oil to air in the furnace feed.

It is curious to note the subdued tone of a boy's report when, by some accident of slaughter, he is raised to the command. There are certain formalities which every ship must comply with on entering certain ports. No fully-striped commander would trouble to detail them. The young 'un puts it all down, as who would say, "I rang the bell, wiped my feet on the mat and asked if they were at home."

Joss, that is, luck, fortune, destiny, the irony of fate or Nemesis, is the greatest of all the battle gods that move on the water. Knowledge of gunnery and the delicate instinct for what is in the enemy's minds may enable a destroyer to thread her way slowly, speeding and twisting, between the heavy salvos of the opposing fleets, as the tall waterspouts rise and break with the chill smell of the salt sea, she judges where the next grove of them will sprout.

A FEATHER IN HER CAP.

If her judgment is correct she may enter it in her report as a little feather in her cap, but it is joss when a stray 12-inch shell, hurled by a giant at some giant ten miles away, falls on her from heaven and wipes out her and her profound calculations. This was seen to happen to a Hun destroyer in mid-attack. While she was being laboriously dealt with by a 4-inch gun, something immense took her, and—she was not.

Joss causes ships in thick weather or under a strain to mistake friends for enemies. At such times, if your heart is full of highly-organized hate, you strive frightfully and efficiently until one of you perishes, and the survivor reports wonders which are duly wirelessed all over the world, but if you worship Joss, you reflect, you put two and two together in the casual insular way, and arrive—sometimes both parties arrive—at instinctive conclusions which avoid trouble.

I hold no brief for the Hun, but honestly I think he has not lied as much about the Jutland fight as people believe, and when he protests he sank a ship, he did very completely sink a ship. I am the more confirmed in this belief by a still small voice among the reports, musing aloud over an account of an unaccountable outlying brawl witnessed by one of our destroyers. The voice suggests that what the destroyers saw was one German ship being sunk by another. Amen.

A LETTER.

Here is a letter—it has been quoted before, I believe, but it is good enough to repeat many times—from a 19-year-old child in a destroyer, to his friend, aged 17, and minus one leg in a hospital:

"I'm so awfully sorry you weren't in it. It was rather terrible, but a wonderful experience, and I wouldn't have missed it for anything, but, by Jove, it isn't a thing one wants to make a habit of. I must say it is very different from what I expected. I expected to be excited, but was not a bit.

"It is hard to express what we did feel like, but you know the sort of feeling one has when one goes in for an hour or so at cricket, and rather a lot depends upon your doing well, and you are waiting for the first ball. Well, it's very much the same as that. Do you know what I mean—a sort of tense feeling, not knowing quite what to expect. One does not feel the slightest bit frightened. There are too many other things to think about.

"You know, it's awful fun to know that you can blaze off at a real ship and do as much damage as you like. How any destroyer got out of it is perfectly wonderful, for literally, there were hundreds of huge shells in the water all around us, from 15-inch to 4-inch.

"It's extraordinary the amount of knocking about the big ships can stand. One saw them hit, and they seemed to be one mass of flame and smoke, and you'd think they're gone, but when the smoke clears away they are apparently none the worse and still firing away.

"But to see a ship blown up is a terrible and wonderful sight; enormous volumes of flame and smoke, almost 200 feet high, and great pieces of metal, etc., blown sky-high, and then, when the smoke clears, not a sign of a ship we saw. One other extraordinary sight we saw—of course you know the North Sea is very shallow. We came across a Hun cruiser absolutely on end, his stern on the bottom and his bow sticking up about thirty feet in the water.

"But the night was far away the worst time of all. It was pitch dark and you could see the flashes lighting up the sky, and it seemed to make much more noise, and you could see the ships on fire and blowing up."

THE LOS ANGELES ADVERTISING SCORE.

In printing the advertising records of all the daily and Sunday newspapers in Los Angeles every day The Times does not attempt to mislead or deceive its readers by using figures that concern only certain kinds of advertising. It boldly publishes the figures of all classes of advertising printed in each local newspaper.

The juggling of figures is left to those newspapers that dare not tell the whole truth and that have not the courage or fairness to make honest comparisons.

For the week ending Sunday, October 22, the Los Angeles newspapers published the following number of lines of advertising (300 agate lines make one column:)

Three Issues.

ELECTION TRIANGLE

Don't Forget State Legislature.

Fight to Control California's Affairs is Earnest Though Overshadowed.

Strange Bed Fellows Made by Politics Played by Rowell and Johnson.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Overshadowed by the big issue, the election of Hughes and a Republican Congress, and partly silenced by the big noise, the wet and dry campaign, a strenuous struggle is being waged, nevertheless, the length and breadth of California for the control of the next State Legislature.

Eighty Assemblymen and twenty-one Senators are to be elected. In order to wrest the control of the Senate from the present State machine fourteen of the twenty-one new Senators must be anti-administration. To secure Republican control, sixteen of the twenty-one must be anti-administration Republicans.

A STRAIGHT FIGHT.

In the Assembly there is more nearly a straight fight. It is already apparent that the lower house will be composed of at least fifty Republicans and not more than thirty Democrats, Progressive and Socialists combined. On a straight party division the Republicans would easily control; but in twenty of these districts the Republican candidates are simply Progressives masquerading under the name of Republicans. As many of these as are elected would make a combination with Democrats, Socialists—anarchists, if need be—in order to secure control of the Ways and Means Committee in the next Assembly. This is the committee that makes up the general appropriation bill which takes care of the 7000 members of the pay-roll brigade. Robbed of the patronage of that committee the State machine would be left running on four flat tires.

LET IT PASS.

Seeking to lessen in part the growing evil of buying votes in the Legislature with State money, an initiative amendment appears on the November ballot prohibiting members of the Legislature from holding other salaried places in the State government. The passage of this amendment is conceded, even by the administration. But Atty.-Gen. Webb has written an opinion to the effect that the amendment will not become effective until 1919. He holds that the legislators elected at the November election can hold places on the pay roll for the next two years and that those now holding such positions—there are twenty-six of them—will not be disturbed.

If Gov. Johnson remains in his present position for the next two years this traffic in legislative votes will continue, irrespective of a condemnatory vote by the people. But it is not at all certain that Lieut.-Gov. Stephens will have so little disregard for the will of the State electorate.

This question of continued patronage will very likely decide the control of the next Legislature. A Supreme Court decision reversing the Attorney-General might help some.

MERCENARY GAME.

As the campaign is waging at the present time, the whole force of the administration, including the majority of the Republican State Central Committee, is thrown to supporting those candidates who can be trusted in turn to support the present pay-roll brigade. To these mercenaries party affiliation means nothing.

In the Fourteenth Assembly District, comprising half Sacramento county, Walter Chenoweth ran as a Republican for renomination and was beaten. Chenoweth held two State jobs at the time. Because his successful opponent, J. W. Johnson, refused to take the administration programme in the Sacramento convention, Al McCabe and George Peltier, two members of the Republican State Central Committee, sent for J. C. Ing and agreed to look after the finances of the campaign if he would run as an independent against Johnson. Ing is now running as an independent against the regular Republican candidate and the members of the Republican State Central Committee from Sacramento, pledged under the State law to conduct a campaign for the election of Republican candidates, are making the campaign against Johnson.

Ing is seeking through the intermediary of these same committeemen to make a combination with Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sacramento district.

BED FELLOWS.

In the Fifty-second (Fresno county) District, Chester Rowell, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, organized with Martin Madsen, secretary to Gov. Johnson, the campaign against L. B. Cary, the regular Republican candidate for the Assembly. Madsen went to Fresno from Sacramento and outlined the campaign for Melvin Petit, a Democrat, who is opposing Cary. The Fresno Republican, Rowell's paper, is making openly the cam-

SUBMARINES SINK FIVE MORE NORWEGIAN SHIPS.

[BY CABLE AND A.P.]

LONDON, Oct. 25, 12:15 p.m.—The sinking by German submarines of five more Norwegian steamships, valued at about 5,000,000 kroner, is reported in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Christiania.

Shipping shares dropped considerably on the Christiania exchange today.

The steamers Alix and Rising and the schooner Theodore, together with the Swedish schooners Antoinette and Henriette, are among the latest submarine victims, adds the dispatch.

The Tidens Tegn of Christiania states that one boat with six men from the Norwegian steamer Ravn, reported sunk by a German submarine in the Arctic, October 2, has been lost, while another boat with eleven men on board reached a lonely part of the Russian Murman coast after drifting thirteen hours.

News agency reports from Copenhagen through London last night reported that sensational rumors were current regarding the relations between Norway and Germany. German submarines were declared to be waging a persistent war on Norwegian shipping, and one account stated that five German submarines had established a regular blockade of the Norwegian coast.

Another vessel, the sinking of which was announced today, was the Danish steamer Hebe of 775 tons gross.

The steamer Framfield has been sunk, Lloyd's shipping agency announces. The British steamer Framfield, of 2110 tons gross, was last reported at Genoa on September 29.

Summary.

MEXICANS ARE EXECUTED FOR STEALING FREIGHT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Oct. 25.—Twenty men, principally warehouse men have been executed in Mexico City during the past week for participating in robbing freight consignments through fraudulent bills of lading, according to reliable information received here today. Robbery of freight cars has been so frequent recently on the Constitutionalist lines that merchants have practically abandoned shipments, it was stated.

At least a score of railroad employees are confined in the penitentiary at Saltillo, Mex., charged with the theft of contents of railroad cars and face probable execution, while several others have fled the country, crossing the border, according to reliable information received here today.

It is said that for several months freight cars have been systematically robbed between border points and interior Mexican cities, entire consignments being taken in many cases and new bills of lading made out and shipments made to other points.

An investigation, these advices say, disclosed that most of the robberies were being committed by an organized gang operating out of Saltillo, and arrests followed.

Peace Commission.

MAY TAKE CONFERENCE NEARER TO WHITE HOUSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Oct. 25.—Unless an agreement on an adequate and amicable plan for border control is entered into by the Mexican-American joint commission within a few days it appeared a virtual certainty today that a serious effort would be made to have the conference transferred to Washington.

That an agreement will not be reached before Carranza has demonstrated his ability to eliminate Villa and his followers is admitted by those in touch with the commissioners. The Mexicans were still without definite news of the progress of the campaign against Villa, but they continued to profess the belief in the success of Gen. Trevino's operations about Chihuahua.

The removal of Gen. Carranza and Gen. Obregon from Mexico City to Queretaro was explained by the Mexicans to the American commissioners as having to do merely with the constitutional convention which will convene there November 20. They pointed out that by official decree Queretaro was made the capital almost a year ago, and that it remains the capital, while Mexico City has been merely the temporary capital in the past few months.

The following statement was issued by the commissioners tonight:

"The gist of two telegrams just received from Gen. Pershing is to the effect that Villa has with him personally about 500 armed men and a considerable number of unarmed. This is not understood to include a number of scattered detachments of unknown strength. He is moving about in the region southeast of Lake Babricora. Three days ago he was at Santa Ana, but yesterday cowboys reported by telephone from Santa Ana that Villa was at Neurachio. There are no de facto government troops between Madera and Chihuahua City.

"A column under Gen. Ozuna, according to information reaching the Mexican commission, has left Chihuahua City to operate against Villa and the commanding officer of de facto government troops near El Valle has orders to co-operate with him in preventing Villa's escape to the northward."

Fulminating.

VILLA MAY TAKE JUAREZ AGAIN.

Campaign About Chihuahua may Mean Second Coup.

Bandit Gaining Ascendency in Northern Mexico.

Big Force to Stay on Border to Head off a Raid.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Conditions in Northern Mexico, revolving on the new ascendency of Villa as a military leader, are commanding more attention than at any other time since the border raids which resulted in the dispatch of the American punitive expedition.

Administration officials made no effort tonight to disguise their opinion that the American-Mexican commission sitting at Atlantic City cannot be expected to arrive at a satisfactory solution of border problems until the situation in Chihuahua has been clarified. Any agreement for the early withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's forces from Mexico apparently is considered now as out of the question.

ON WATCH FOR RAID.

Moreover, the impression stood out clearly from all the views expressed that while the present situation exists there is little possibility that the forces of regulars or National Guardsmen on the border will be reduced. It was indicated that no chances would be taken of another raid into American territory.

Coupled with ugly reports which disparaged the stability of Gen. Carranza's regime and interpret his removal from Mexico City to Queretaro as a sign of the breaking-up process which his enemies have repeatedly predicted, the military movements of Villa, now making a formidable campaign in Chihuahua, are regarded here as menacing the de facto government's control of the whole northern country.

Prominent in the whole situation are apparently well-founded, but indefinite, reports of the connection of the so-called Legalista movement with the whole train of events which are expected by those familiar with the Mexican situation here to develop within a short time.

REPORT AT EMBASSY.

The Mexican Embassy today declared that Villa's forces consist only of a few hundred men claiming Villa as their leader, and branded reports of instability of Gen. Carranza's government as "a flood of misrepresentation that might be expected from enemies" when the Mexican-American commission began its work.

At the same time reports came to the War Department that Villa's campfires were in sight of Chihuahua city and that Gen. Trevino, the Carranza commander there, although plentifully supplied with arms and receiving reinforcements, was short of ammunition and considering evacuating the capital.

Department officials said tonight they had not heard the report reaching the border that Chihuahua had actually fallen. As a matter of military strategy it was pointed out that Villa, once occupying Chihuahua, could compel the surrender of Juarez, as he did easily once before, and at another stroke might take Torreon, Monterey and Saltillo, when he would be a military factor somewhat different from the bandit whose life an American military expedition was dispatched for.

REPORT IS FROM BELL.

The War Department's reports on Villa's latest coup came from Brig.-Gen. Bell, who transmitted stories he had obtained from refugees arriving in El Paso. As he did not give the names of his informants, some State Department officials expressed doubt as to the entire accuracy of the tales. It was conceded, however, that no room was left for doubt that the bandit leader was operating openly and in force against the de facto government's army. Gen. Bell's dispatches gave details of the annihilation of Carranza columns under Gen. Ozuna by Villa forces at Palomas, and described how the Villa troops captured or killed more than 1000 Carranza troops and took all the supply trains.

The Mexican Embassy's explanation of Gen. Carranza's move to Queretaro was that he had gone to prepare for the meeting of the constituent assembly, for which deputies just have been elected. The arrival of the families of Gens. Carranza and Obregon in the United States was declared to be without significance.

NEWS FROM FUNSTON.

Reports forwarded by Maj.-Gen. Funston, however, said Gen. Trevino had privately advised many officials in Chihuahua to leave the city. Trevino has sent his own family out of the country and he prepared a special train for officials which he guarded with military trains in expectation of an attack by the Villa bands.

Reports to persons here in touch with the legalista movement state unequivocally that Trevino has personally given assurances that he will leave Mexico and go to Cuba if Carranza is overthrown.

The shortage of ammunition among Carranza troops in the north is explained by the same persons with the statement that the internal politics among the Carranza leaders are such that Gen. Obregon is personally keeping control of practically all the available ammunition. Recent news dispatches reported movement of a trainload of ammunition to Queretaro when Carranza and Obregon went there from Mexico City. Sources in touch with the legalista movement say Obregon took it with him so that he might control its disposal. So far as is known, Villa has no leader of consequence, with the exception of Inez Salazar, whom he liberated from the Chihuahua penitentiary on his recent raid. Former Villa leaders, now exiles along the American border, are said to be ready to rejoin him at the first signs of a military success.

ALLEGED DISAFFECTION.

Some of the reports of the alleged disaffection within the Carranza administration have gone so far as to express fears for the safety of the first chief himself and intimate his removal from Mexico City to Queretaro was under circumstances controlled by Gen. Obregon. Carranza representatives here brand that as absurd. Out of the mass of reports, which must be judged by what five years of revolution in Mexico have shown American officials of the internal workings of political affairs south of the Rio Grande, there is much which openly is admitted to be disquieting.

In circles here it is believed that the presence of Gen. Pershing's forces in Mexico has served to keep this new outbreak from the border, and confidence is expressed that the bandit leaders will not risk operations in a region where they might encounter an American force. Some State Department officials are understood to share this view. They believe that in effect the present situation is similar to that which existed immediately after the raid on Columbus, except that the bandits have been forced away from the border.

BRIG.-GEN. BELL'S REPORT.

Brig.-Gen. Bell's report on the fight at Palomas, forwarded by Maj.-Gen. Funston to the War Department, is as follows:

"A prominent official from Chihuahua city says one of the commanding officers of the Ozuna army told him the following story of the battle of Palomas:

"Gen. Ozuna had about 3000 men and they had taken out eleven trains loaded with provisions, ammunition and troops, besides the vacalry. When near Palomas, Villa sent 200 men to intercept and gave battle for a few minutes, retreating and fighting as they retreated. Then Villa sent another detachment in behind Ozuna's forces, cut the railway and telegraph and also attacked Ozuna's rear. Ozuna followed the retreating Villistas into a canyon in the foothills and there Villa attacked.

"Salazar had stationed, about every 100 yards for more than two miles, about twenty men, and as Villa attacked their front Salazar attacked their flank, which caused a stampede, many of them throwing away their arms, and they ran like scared sheep. The Villistas killed and captured more than 1000, and also captured all their trains and provisions. The Carranzistas fled to Fresno, where they tried again to make a stand, but Villa drove them into Chihuahua and made his headquarters only five miles outside.

"When the train left yesterday (October 23) morning at 9 a.m., other passengers say that Villa was camped just outside the city and that his campfires were visible Sunday night and that the people are panic-stricken.

GEN. HAYCOTTE ARRIVES.

"Passengers also say that Gen. Haycotte had arrived with four trains of troops and that it was reported that there were fourteen more trains on the way to Chihuahua which were due to arrive last night and today."

Gen. Carranza has started a new military campaign against Villa bandits in Northern Chihuahua, according to information furnished the American forces beyond the border. The War Department gave out the following summary of Gen. Pershing's report:

"Gen. Pershing reports that Carranza officials state that a column of de facto troops is moving north from Parral against Villa. Nothing definite as regards the recent action between de facto troops and Villistas at Santa Isabel is known."

FRENCH REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS.

GERMANS FAIL TO RECOVER GROUND AT VERDUN.

Number of Unwounded Prisoners Claimed by Paris is 4500—Berlin Admits Gains at Fort Douaumont Which is in Flames—Little Fighting on Somme.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS (via London) Oct. 25.—Three successive counter-attacks by the Germans north of Verdun, in the region of Haudremont and Douaumont, were repulsed by the French today, says the bulletin issued by the War Office tonight. The prisoners taken by the French now exceed 4500.

"North of Verdun the enemy delivered three successive counter-attacks in the region of Haudremont and Douaumont. None succeeded and our front was maintained intact.

"East of Fumin wood and north of Chenois we continued to make progress during the day.

"The number of unwounded prisoners actually counted exceeds 4500.

"On the remainder of the front there was nothing of importance."

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25 (via Sayville.)—The War Office announced today that an attack made on the Verdun front by the French yesterday gained ground for them. French assaults on the Somme front were without success.

The statement reads:

"Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: Because of rainy weather yesterday fighting activity in the Somme sector diminished. There was a temporary increase, however, in the artillery fire. During the evening hours partial attacks by the French from the Les Boeufs-Rancourt line broke down with losses before our entanglements, ending without success.

"Army group of the German Crown Prince: On the northeastern front at Verdun a French attack as far as Fort Douaumont, which was in flames, gained ground."

INTRENCHING TOOLS ARE SENT PERSHING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (N. M.) Oct. 25.—Heavy shipments of intrenching tools, picks, shovels, crowbars and sandbags have arrived here. It is said they are for the use of the punitive expedition in Mexico. Officers take the shipments as an indication of a possible renewal of activity in the field.

Officers say the tools would not be needed at field headquarters if the troops are to remain there. Recently, the bands of the Fifth, the Seventh and the Thirteenth Cavalry, left at the border when these regiments went south, were ordered to rejoin their commands.

Adobe houses are being built at field headquarters in Mexico, it is reported here, and army overcoats are being issued to the soldiers of the expeditionary force.

GERMANS TAKE VULCAN PASS.

Position in Transylvania in Von Falkenhayn's Grip.

Rumanians Still Retiring Before the Enemy.

Bucharest Claims Victory on Only One Front.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via Sayville) Oct. 25.—Vulcan Pass on the Transylvanian front has been captured by Gen. Von Falkenhayn's army, the War Office announced today.

In Dobrudja pursuit of the Russians and Rumanians continues. Tchernavoda was captured this morning, depriving the Russians and Rumanians of their last railroad communication in Dobrudja.

With Tchernavoda in their hands, the Germans and their allies in Dobrudja now have possession of the entire railroad between the Black Sea and the Danube.

The announcement follows:

"On the eastern Transylvanian front there were local engagements. The situation is unchanged.

"North of Kimpolung our attack progressed. Vulcan Pass was taken by storm by German and Austro-Hungarian troops.

"In Dobrudja, Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army group is continuing the pursuit of the enemy as planned.

"Tchernavoda was captured this morning. No details are yet known. By this the Russian forces operating in Dobrudja have been deprived of their last railroad communication and an exceedingly important success has been gained.

"Quiet prevails on the Macedonian front."

The official account of operations on the Russian and Galician fronts issued today says:

"A Russian gas attack on the Shara failed. An attack of Russian battalions near Kolostrov, northwest of Lutsk, was without any success whatever."

GERMANS TIGHTEN GRIP.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 24, 6:30 p.m. (via London, Oct. 25.)—The iron grip of the central powers upon Rumania has tightened in two important notches with the capture of Medjidie and Rashova in Dobrudja and of Predeal, on the Transylvania border. The conquests of these important places have been achieved with surprising speed.

Military men as usual refuse to prophesy as to other developments of the campaign against Rumania, but appear confident that all will come in due time.

With the capture of Constanza, the Rumanians lost their principal seaport, while the taking of Medjidie and Rashova now places Tchernavoda in a critical position, and in military opinion here threatens Rumania more than ever.

The capture of Predeal comes as a climax to the recent forcing of a number of important mountain passes from Transylvania into Rumania, so that the central powers appear to be nearly in a position to swoop down upon the Rumanian plains and attack the heart of the country.

"Predeal and the passes behind it spell the loss to Rumania of its natural western fortifications formed by the mountains of Transylvania. Medjidie and Rashova, if they lead to the capture of Tchernavoda, denote with Turtukai and Silistria the removal of the artificial barriers to access into Rumania, across its other natural fortifications, the Danube River.

W.C.T.U. PARADE.

Many Turn Out, But Part of San Jose Is Not Cordial.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 25.—A street demonstration for the prohibition amendments which took the form of the biggest temperance parade ever held in San Jose was the feature of today's session of the State Convention of the W.C.T.U. The procession including 105 automobiles filled with people, traversed the principal business streets while handkerchiefs were waved by participants and spectators in some portions of the city.

In other sections of the town the appearance of the dry forces was received with a noticeable lack of cordiality.

Mrs. Sara J. Dorr of San Jose was re-elected State president at the morning session of the convention. Other officers elected were, honorary president, Mrs. Sturtevant Peet, Piedmont; vice-president at large, Mrs. Addie Garwood Estes, Stockton; first vice-president, Mrs. Anna A. Pettit, Parlier; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna Marden de Yo, San Francisco; recording secretary, Mrs. Emile M. Skoe, Petaluma; treasurer, Mrs. Ina A. Orvis, Madera; auditor, Miss Jennie Lind, Redfield, Berkeley; general branch secretary, Loyal Temperance Legion, Mrs. Louis Cobb, Tulare. Walter H. Evans of Portland, Or., District-Attorney of Multnomah county, was one of the principal speakers of the day. He stated that prohibition in California would help in keeping the liquor out of Oregon. Mrs. Stella B. Irvine of Los Angeles, president of the W.C.T.U., spoke on the "Signs of Victory."

"If Southern California doesn't give us a majority of 65,000, the prohibition cause is lost," was the prophecy of the Rev. D. O. Colegrove, division superintendent of the California Campaign Federation. This vote he considered necessary to overcome the wet majority which he predicted would be returned by San Francisco.

And Even Waitresses Must Undergo Physical Examination in Kansas.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Oct. 25.—Physical examinations of all waiters and waitresses in hotels and restaurants was ordered by the Kansas Board of Health today. As quickly as possible the board intends to extend the order to clerks in grocery stores, meat markets, butchers and everyone who handles any sort of food product in a raw state. The order cannot be made compulsory at the present time, but the Legislature will be asked to make the plan compulsory and require that all persons handling foods for consumption be given a physical examination frequently.

While Interborough officials refused to make any statement as to whether or not they considered the explosion the work of striking employees, the strikers lost no time in making capital out of it. Long before a hand organ with which strikers are soliciting contributions to their cause, appeared on downtown streets placarded with a newspaper bearing the headline: "Dynamiters wreck subway car. Crowded train escapes by two minutes." On the back of the card was another large sign which read: "Big accident at Lenox avenue and Ninety-Eighth street Monday, October 16; fifty injured and ten taken to hospital. The strikers when questioned as to why they were simply using this method to call the public's attention to the unsafe conditions on the subway lines and on the subway, due to the inexperienced motormen operating the cars.

RUSSIAN CASUALTIES SINCE JUNE ARE TO

BERLIN, Oct. 25 (via Sayville.) There have been 1,797,837 casualties in the Russian army since June 1, according to the latest report made public by the Central Information Office at Kiev, says an Overseas News Agency statement today.

"Included in this total," continues the statement, "are 8,000 officers. Among officers who have recently fallen are two generals, colonels in command of brigades, eight colonels and lieutenant-colonels in command of regiments. The largest number of casualties occurred among the Siberian corps and the Caucasian cavalry."

ALLIES CONTROL RAW MATERIAL.

Situation Proves Alarming to State Department.

Planned Commercial War May Prove Practical.

Power to United States is Seen in Agreement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Domination by the allied nations of the world's raw materials which are essential to American manufacturers has been proved conclusively to officials here by the completion today of a comprehensive summary of the trade policies as to imports of this country. As a result the recent Paris economic conference of the entente powers is regarded here with greater disquiet than before.

The proposed commercial war after the war, at first viewed skeptically as outlining policies which could not survive the heat of war and the operation of perennial economic forces, is looked upon as a very practical proposition in the light of the investigation. Consequently an earnest study of the data available is being made and the short extended to supplement the information now at hand. Every session since the conference has served to decrease the feeling that the decisions could not be carried out. Since then, it is pointed out, the blacklist, which has been used by England for some time, has been accepted in principle by all the allies.

FOR CLOSER UNITY.

What is more, the agreement reached by them for the closer economic relations between the governments is followed by reports now coming into Paris, working out through mutual agreements, excluding other countries from their benefits.

The compilation of the various agreements which England has initiated in this country to prevent the raw resources from going to Germany and is seen as strong indication of what the allies might do with different methods after the war. The domination of the supply of certain raw materials demonstrated after a year of war, considered in connection with article 3 of the Paris agreement, is believed to mean a distinct menace to this country. Article 3 says:

"The allies declare themselves resolved to conserve for the allied nations, before all others, their own resources during the whole period of commercial, industrial, agricultural and maritime action, and for this purpose undertake to establish such arrangements to facilitate the exchange of these resources."

SIX DIFFERENT FORMS.

There are no less than fourteen different forms for various kinds of goods which American importers file with British consuls before certain goods can be released from the British dominions. The materials, according to the official list secured today, include the hurdle of tin and tin ore, asbestos, shellac, tanning materials, antimony, rubber, diamonds, raw leather, plumbago, all the ores of iron, including ferro-manganese, cobalt, chrome, tungsten, molybdenum, vanadium, nickel and all kinds of ore.

It is possible the restriction is to be met through the chief American associations of manufacturers interested in the trade, such as the New York Metal Exchange for metal, the National Association of Tanners for leather materials, the United States Rubber Importers' Association for rubber and the textile alliance for silk and jute. In cases where the importer cannot apply through and be vouched for by such an organization he signs a personal agreement with the British Consul.

Importers accept the conditions for the whole length of the war, and the bulk of the kind imported, although part of their supply is from neutral or American sources.

THE CONDITIONS.

The conditions, which run through the whole list of agreements, provide that the importer is bringing in goods for his own use in manufacturing and not for further sale; that in no case will he sell to a German firm; that he will sell in Europe only to the British empire and to others that he will sell in Europe only through London unless permission to be obtained there; that in all cases every precaution be taken to prevent the goods from falling into German hands. Always it is provided that the original contracts and documents be held ready for examination by the British authorities.

Officials here have not been asked to help any of these arrangements illegal, as they recognize that England has the right of embargo if she desires to use it. Nevertheless the power which British officials have in this country of discriminating as between American firms, and possibilities that some such arrangements might be continued after the war under a form made to fit the conditions of peace would be a most disquieting effect.

RETALIATORY LEGISLATION.

Any retaliatory legislation recently passed at the eleventh hour by Congress is thought to fit the present situation under section 802, providing that if any article produced in a foreign country is imported into the United States under any trade understanding, or condition by the importer thereof, or any other person in the United States, shall not use, purchase, or sell, or be restricted in his using, selling, or dealing in the article of any other person there-in, levied, collected and paid in addition to the duty otherwise imposed by law a special duty equal to double the amount of such duty.

It is said, however, there has been no intention to use this legislation. While it is claimed that its use would be fully justified, it is said that the breaking up of the present trade arrangements would simply mean a general British embargo on goods which would leave this country in a much worse situation. It is at present under the importation scheme which is not acceptable to all merchants, those who wish to trade in Germany or with blacklisted firms.

It is because of the precedent that the present situation has established and its possible effect upon the after-the-war that officials view the deepest concern and are trying to investigate with the view of planning action to protect American industry.

COMPETITION AND CHURCHES.

Conclusion is Reached at Oregon University that it is a Mistake.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON (Eugene), Oct. 25.—That competition is killing the churches is the conclusion of the men who recently made a rural survey in Oregon under the auspices of the University of Oregon, extension division. Of competitive churches 58.4 per cent. were found to be declinning; of noncompetitive churches only 7.8 per cent. are clining; of noncompetitive churches 20.8 per cent. were found to be stationary; of noncompetitive churches, 34.2 per cent. But of competitive churches only 20.8 per cent. were found to be growing, while of noncompetitive churches there were 58 per cent. For the purposes of this comparison sixty-two churches were examined, all in rural communities, villages or small towns.

homes of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, owner of The Times, and F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

DARROW ALSO TRIED.

Clarence J. Darrow, chief of counsel for the McNamaras, was tried twice for alleged jury bribing. In the first he was acquitted and in the second the jury disagreed.

It was reported $300,000 was raised by union-labor sympathizers for the dynamiters' defense and labor leaders characterized the trial as a "frame-up" until the startling pleas of guilty by the two brothers. The prosecution expended $179,000 in the McNamara cases, $90,000 in the Schmidt case and a lesser amount to prosecute Caplan.

During the trial of Schmidt there was adduced testimony of an alleged "eastern conspiracy" in which Ortie E. McManigal, chief witness for the State, testified to his part in many dynamiting plots, many of which were executed, and all of which had their origin in labor troubles.

M'MANIGAL INDICTED.

McManigal was indicted in the Llewellyn case but he was never prosecuted nor was the indictment against him quashed, according to the District Attorney's records. He went to Honduras and returned to testify against Schmidt and Caplan, for whom a four-year search was made before they were arrested. Schmidt was taken into custody on Broadway in New York City, February 13, 1915, and Caplan was arrested five days later at Rolling Bay, Wash.

Donald Vose Meserve, who trailed Schmidt and Caplan, told of meeting the former at the home of Emma Goldman in New York, and of Caplan's unceasing journeys from one city to another in this country and Europe, and his establishment of himself as a chicken rancher in Washington.

The trail of the dynamite conspiracy was picked up in the Ferry Building in San Francisco when a suit case containing newspapers telling of The Times' explosion was found unclaimed in a parcel checking-room. Testimony at the trials told of the alleged purchase of dynamite from the Giant Powder Company at Giant, Cal., and its conveyance to San Francisco in a boat by men identified by witnesses as principals in the case.

Officials of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association declared here tonight they had as yet taken no action on the petition for a parole of John J. McNamara. "If it is at all seriously considered," one of the officers of the organization stated, "we will probably protest."

The Building Trades Council of this city with which the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers is affiliated, announced they had not "yet" acted upon the suggestion from Indianapolis to support the petition of the prisoner.

ELECTION FRAUD INQUIRY STATED.

ATTY.-GEN. GREGORY APPOINTS AN INVESTIGATOR.

Administration Declares Breaches of Law in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois will be Prosecuted to the Limit Even if They Should Involve Democrats.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—So many reports of election frauds in the Middle West have reached the Department of Justice, that Atty.-Gen. Gregory today appointed Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis, former United States attorney, as special assistant to the Attorney-General in charge of investigations and prosecutions of election law violations in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

Mr. Dailey's designation followed conferences which Atty-Gen. Gregory had with him and with Senator Taggart of Indiana, who made a flying visit to the city. It also follows a mysterious trip of Asst. Atty-Gen. Graham last week. Mr. Graham will have charge of the Washington end of the investigation.

It was stated at the department that there will be no politics in the investigation and that any Democratic offenders will be dealt with as rigidly as any member of any other party.

The department officials pointed out that there have been recently a number of convictions at Terre Haute, that there have been prosecutions in West Virginia and elsewhere, some of them successful and some of them unsuccessful, and that the situation in Michigan has been particularly closely watched at the instance of Federal officers who have been keeping in close touch by direction of the Attorney-General.

FOUR FIRMS BID ON BATTLESHIPS

Easterners will Probably Build New Vessels.

Figures Well Within Limit of Navy Department.

Government is not Likely to Construct Any Craft.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Bids for the four new battleships, Colorado, Maryland, Washington and West Virginia, were opened today at the Navy Department. While all of the tenders show the heavy increase in prices due to the abnormal conditions of the shipbuilding industry, they were within the department's limit of cost, and it is very certain that all four ships will be awarded to private concerns and that the government itself will not construct any of these craft or of the twenty destroyers for which offers also were received.

Prices for the battleships quoted ranged from $10,060,000 to $11,475,000, as against the department's limit for hull and machinery of $11,500,000. It is believed that the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, Mass., will get two of the big ships and the Newport News Ship and Drydock Company the other two.

OTHER PROPOSALS.

There were two other bidders, the New York Shipbuilding Company and William Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia. The former may get one ship on final examination of the figures quoted. The Cramp company offer was to build one ship on the basis of cost plus 10 per cent. commission, a proposal which cannot be entertained legally on the battleships, but would be in order for the four battle cruisers, bids for which will be opened in December.

None of the bidders offered figures for the steam electric drive system of propulsion preferred by the Navy Department. Offers in this connection provided only for the construction of the ship, the government to supply the driving machinery. For this reason quotations on electric-drive ships were approximately $500,000 lower than similar figures for all steam drive.

FOR ELECTRIC DRIVE.

Indications are that the electric-drive ships will be ordered. Under the appropriation act the department has funds available to complete them under today's bids.

The department received twenty-four offers for the construction of the twenty destroyers, contracts for which are to be let. The limit of cost is fixed at $1,200,000, which again is a decided increase over the limits for the last similar ships contracted for. Bids ranged from $1,150,000 to $1,195,000 each and the time of delivery from twenty-two to twenty-eight months. The Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me., the Union Iron Works of San Francisco, and the Fore River Shipbuilding Company were the principal bidders, making offers for four, six and eight vessels, respectively. The Cramp company also bid for four boats. The contracts will be awarded among these four concerns as the only other bidder, the Seattle Construction and Drydock Company, exceeded the limit of price.

A week from today the department will open bids for four thirty-five-knot scout cruisers and twenty submarines.

THE WEATHER ELSEWHERE.

Eastern States Warmer, but Middle West Continues Cold.

Shortage of Wheat.

barrel higher today at $10 for special brands of spring wheat flour, in wood, delivered to Chicago. The advance is due to the bullish condition of the wheat market.

OFFICIAL FIGURES.

Official figures are available from only two countries as to the 1916 wheat crop at present. These are the United States and Canada. There have been many estimates issued in the European countries, as well as other big wheat-producing sections of the world, and, presuming these to be based on facts, the shortage as compared with a year ago will be over 1,000,000,000 bushels, roughly speaking. Figures taken from the Monthly Crop Reporter, the official publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, show the world's wheat crop for 1915 was 4,217,000,000 bushels. The average yield for the last fifteen years was 3,462,000,000 bushels. This year's figures are estimated at 25 per cent. less than last year, or approximately 3,375,000,000 bushels.

The wheat crop of the United States, as estimated by the Department of Agriculture, totals 607,557,000 bushels. Last year this country raised the biggest crop in its history, the yield being finally estimated at 1,011,505,000 bushels. Canada's wheat crop is officially estimated at 159,126,000 bushels, compared with 373,203,000 bushels last year. These are the only two countries that have issued official figures. At present the warring nations do not feel inclined to give any information to their enemies as to the size of their food supply.

ARGENTINE.

Argentine has proved the biggest disappointment the European importer has had. Grain buyers for the allies had figured on a surplus of fully 64,000,000 bushels from the South American republic, but now it is uncertain whether that country will raise enough wheat to supply its own needs. All private information available shows that that country has suffered severe damage as the result of drouth and locusts.

The recent advance in wheat prices in Chicago and other grain markets of the world is due largely to the failure of the Argentine crop.

CHICAGO "DAILY NEWS" PARTS WITH WILSON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—The Chicago Daily News, which four years ago supported Wilson for President and has stood by many acts of his administration, today, in a lengthy editorial, declares itself against him, saying it believes the interests of the republic require his retirement.

The Daily News denies that President Wilson kept us out of war, as for more than two years there has been nobody who could go to war with the United States, nearly all the world's fighting men being locked in the European trenches.

The President's method of dealing with the threatened railway strike is the chief reason for the Daily News' change, styling it a shameless destructive surrender, establishing a precedent both dangerous and humiliating, and a pitiful display of timidity and craft.

The Daily News closes its editorial by saying: "In the opinion of the Daily News, the safety of the nation and the integrity of its institutions cannot wisely be entrusted to President Wilson for another term."

BRITISH LOAN IS ARRANGED.

Three Hundred Millions to Go from this Country.

May Cause Cessation of the Great Gold Influx.

Morgan, Who is Abroad, Completes the Details.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Official announcement was made today by J. P. Morgan & Co., that a new British loan by American bankers, aggregating $300,000,000, had been arranged. It will bear interest at 5½ per cent. and is payable in two installments, one of three years and one of five years.

An interesting feature of the loan, according to the announcement, is that because of the easy money market here it was arranged in advance of the time contemplated by the British government. Another is that it is expected to cause, for a time at least, a cessation of the enormous inflow of gold to this country, which is said to have caused apprehension in banking circles of late because of danger of inflation and fictitious values.

J. P. Morgan sailed for England recently to arrange the loan and still is there.

"A new British government loan offering," says the statement, "had not been in contemplation at the present time, but the prevailing ease of money and the difficulty which the banks are having in profitably employing their funds has led us to indicate to the British government that the present is a favorable time for it to establish additional credits in America, even though such credits may not be immediately required. Accordingly, the British treasury has today accepted the views of the American bankers and has authorized them to proceed.

"The British treasury has of late renewed its shipments of gold to this country upon a large scale. This continued influx of the metal has caused some concern in the banking community, and it is believed that the issuance of the proposed loan will tend to cause at least a temporary cessation in gold imports."

Final details have not been arranged, but the notes to be issued will be "amply secured by high-grade collateral."

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty.

Try this! Your hair gets soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! Beautify it. It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff, or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after two weeks' use when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

CRITICAL REVIEW OF NARAYUVKA FIGHTING.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via Sayville) Oct. 25.—Reviewing the battle between the Austro-Germans and the Russians on the River Narayuvka in Galicia, the military critic of the Overseas News Agency writes:

"The battle of Narayuvka, after seven days of violent fighting, has terminated completely in Germany's favor. The renewed Russian attempt to reach Lemberg, the Galician capital, once more has failed in spite of gigantic sanguinary sacrifices. The Russians in this sector advanced across the Narayuvka in the form of a bend about two kilometers deep and four kilometers long. Within this bend were the dominating heights of 345 and 310, which offered an excellent base for the Russian offensive to advance.

"On October 15 the Russians made three attacks without success on the front between Lipica and Skomorochy. A new attack which was still more violent followed on the 16th, when 32,000 men were sent forward. Soldiers from Pomerania and Brandenburg repulsed this attack. The Germans then in turn attacked. They captured thirty-six officers and 1937 men and took the Russian position for a depth of one kilometer.

"On October 19 the Pomeranians took height 345 by storm, including the Russian intrenchments, reaching the trenches situated to the south of the height. Many machine guns were captured and fifteen Russian officers and 1760 men were taken prisoner.

"On October 20 height 210 was stormed. Strong Russian reserves made a counter-attack against height 310 and the San Cov work, but they were unable to stand on the west bank of the Narayuvka, being definitely thrown to the other bank.

"The second great Narayuvka battle did not help the Russians to approach their aim—Lemberg. The contrary happened. They lost the strong bridgehead position on the Narayuvka. The river bend, the heights 345 and 310, the field intrenchments and the network of trenches now are covered with Russian corpses.

"The Russians during the seven days' battle lost more than 5000 men as well as a large number of machine guns, mine throwers and pioneer material. The forty-first Russian division was completely routed while the third Finnish division was almost annihilated, only a small number of these troops remaining."

ADVICE TO DYING MAY BE LIMITED.

URGING PERSON TO MAKE WILL OPPOSED BY DEPUTIES.

Such a Service is Asserted by Episcopalian Leader not to be a Religious One—House for First Time also Favors Adoption for Supplication for Dead.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal church will no longer advise dying persons as to the disposal of their property if the house of bishops concurs in an action taken in the house of deputies of the church general convention in session here today.

This action would eliminate from the prayer book the direction to ministers to urge a dying person who has not disposed of his goods to make his will, declare his assets and liabilities, "for the better discharging of his conscience and the quietness of his executors."

The decision was a result of a proposal of the commission on the revision of the book of common prayer.

Francis A. Lewis of Philadelphia asserted that such service is not a strictly religious one. "Whether a man has made a will is none of the clergy's business," he said. His creditors will take care of his debts and his executors in all probability will be well paid."

PROPOSAL IS VETOED.

The lower house vetoed the proposal of the commission and voted to drop the objectionable part of the present rubric.

The lower house approved a recommendation to insert in the service for the visitation of the sick a rubric directing that the "sick person shall be moved to make a special confession of his sins if he feels his conscience troubled with any matter; after which confession the minister shall assure him of God's mercy and forgiveness." The rubric, which to be incorporated in the prayer book, must be approved by the house of bishops, was adopted only after vigorous protests had been voiced by the Rev. George C. Foley of Philadelphia, and Judge Richard Packard of Baltimore, chairman, had been forced to decide a deadlock in the vote.

The House of Deputies adopted for the first time in the history of the church a prayer for the dead. This action also is subjected to the concurrence of the House of Bishops.

Heretofore, it was said, such prayers have been confined to the ritual of the Roman Catholic church. Leaders of the convention said the changing sentiment is a direct result of the great death roll in Europe.

TWO PRAYERS SUBMITTED.

Two prayers for the dead were submitted in the prayer book commission's report, one being recommitted to the commission and the other adopted. The commission also approved proposals to include in the prayer book for the first time a blessing for graves and a special funeral office for children. Slight changes also were made in the sentence of committal in the office for the dead. These retained, however, the expression of hope for the general resurrection and of the second coming of Christ.

That the United States should occupy a prominent place in every Protestant Episcopal church in the country was urged by speakers at a joint session on missions of the houses of the convention today. A resolution directing clergymen to display within their churches a national flag and urging that the Stars and Stripes follow the cross in church processions was offered, but the time for the introduction of new business having expired, was tabled.

TO EXHIBIT FLAG.

"The church is the heart of patriotism," the Right Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, bishop coadjutor of Southern Ohio said. "A prevalent idea among our people that the church and the state have nothing in common is heresy. The way to dispel this is to show the flag in our churches and make the people of the church realize that it has everything to do with the nation."

METHODIST DISCUSSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Oct. 25.—Informal discussion of various questions bearing on the future policy of the Methodist Episcopal church marked the opening session here today of the Board of Bishops, the administrative body of the denomination. Beginning tomorrow all deliberations of the board will be secret. Only a few questions of importance will come up at the present meeting, it was said. A reception was held tonight.

PATTON IN OAKLAND TALKS TO BIG CROWD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 25.—Following his big meeting in San Francisco last night, George S. Patton of Los Angeles, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, arrived in Oakland tonight and spoke to a thousand people in the auditorium of the Oakland Hotel.

The meeting was the largest Democratic rally ever held in this city. Patton was given a demonstrative reception. His declaration that the southern part of California was entitled to equal representation with the north in the United States Senate and that the custom of thirty years which has established the rule of one Senator for each end of the State should not be disregarded, was received with enthusiastic applause.

"I have found a very decided spirit north of the Tehachepi to be fair in this regard," said Patton, "and I believe that the people in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, the coast counties, the bay region and the mountain districts are pretty generally of the opinion that it would be unwise to stir up a sectional feeling in this regard. Everywhere I have been assured that the claim of the Southland in this matter is considered a just one.

"I happen to be the only Senatorial candidate from the South and I am thoroughly familiar with the needs of the section south of the Tehachepi. Senator Phelan, from the north, has treated the south fairly and impartially and I ask you to believe that I will do the same by the north."

Patton speaks tomorrow night with Senator Phelan in Fresno.

COUNTRY'S AT WAR; WILSON HIDES FACT.

SANTO DOMINGO FIGHTING REFUTES CAMPAIGN CRY.

George W. Perkins Calls Attention to Haiti, Nicaragua and Mexico as Giving Lie to Assertion that President has Kept Nation at Peace.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—Commenting on the killing of Americans in Santo Domingo, reported in press dispatches from there, George W. Perkins, at Republican National Headquarters today, said:

"The death of American officers in Santo Domingo controverts positively the statement that we are at peace. This peaceful shield behind which Chairman McCormick has been issuing his peaceful statements daily was torn down yesterday in Santo Domingo.

"Probably not a fraction of 1 per cent. of the population of the United States knows that we are at war with Santo Domingo because of the fact that the whole foreign policy of the Wilson administration has been clothed in the utmost secrecy. None of the military operations in Santo Domingo, Haiti or Nicaragua have been given to the public, and the closest possible censorship has been kept on things in Mexico.

ALL FALSE PRETENSE.

The entire Wilson campaign has been conducted under false pretences. Their slogan has been 'peace, preparedness and prosperity.' We haven't peace, we haven't preparedness, and our prosperity is caused solely by the European war, and is stained with the blood and tears of all Europe."

William M. Russell, American Minister to Santo Domingo, arrived in New York today on leave of absence. When he learned of the engagement yesterday he said:

"Until this outbreak the country has been peaceful for some time owing to the strong domination of the country by the American marines. It is extremely unfortunate that American lives were lost. The uprising will undo much of the work accomplished, I am afraid."

DETAILS OF FIGHTING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Official reports on the killing of Capt. W. W. Low and First Sergeant Frank L. Attwood of the Marine Corps in the Dominican republic yesterday while attempting to arrest a bandit were received today by the Navy Department from Col. Pendleton, commanding the American forces.

First Lieutenant John Marston III was injured by a fall, presumably during the fight, although the dispatch gave no details. The bandit Roman Batista was killed.

The dispatch does not say where the fight occurred. It adds conditions otherwise are quiet.

LIFE-LONG DEMOCRAT WILL SUPPORT HUGHES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—William B. Anderson, one of the most prominent members of the New York bar and lifelong Democrat, has enrolled in the National Hughes Alliance. In his letter joining the alliance Mr. Anderson wrote that he always has voted the Democratic national ticket, except when Bryan ran against McKinley. He voted for Wilson in 1912.

"The conviction has been growing in me very strongly during the past year," he said, "that we can no longer look for disinterested motives in Mr. Wilson's official acts. His vacillating Mexican policy, his attitude first against and then for, then again against honest preparedness, is not indicative of a man of principle acting with a mind single for his country's good, but rather of a man seeking the easiest way out of difficulties, afraid to decide lest he might offend one body of citizens or another, a man unable to make strong friends and yet seemingly fearful of making enemies, always self-conscious and viewing all public questions chiefly from the standpoint of their relation to himself."

PAWNS GOLD FILLING AND BUYS WHISKY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Joseph Hefferman, according to a verdict in the Municipal Court here today, had his teeth pulled to get the gold therefrom, pawned the product and bought whisky with the proceeds. He was sent to the House of Correction on complaint of the dentist, whom he failed to pay.

If you have nervous headaches, see Dr. Logan, 341 south Spring street.

CALIFORNIA'S KEEL IS LAID.

Beginning of Work on Warship is Gala Occasion.

Start on Dreadnaught Marks Big Day at Vallejo.

Telegrams from Wilson and Daniels are Read.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO, Oct. 25.—Blue, sunflooded skies, smiling down upon flashing uniforms and the pinks, blues and whites of thousands of summer-gowned women, turned the keel-laying of the dreadnaught California at Mare Island navy yard today into a gala fete. It was the big day in the history of Mare Island.

A great cheer went up as the battleship Oregon, the "bulldog of the navy," nosed her way as the guest of honor up through the channel, carrying aboard her a party headed by United States Senator Phelan, who officiated at the keel-laying. After reading a telegram from President Wilson, Senator Phelan, in a speech commemorating the occasion, said

"The building of the California here makes Mare Island a first-class navy yard. It has the best record of any government yard in the country."

Senator Phelan also read a telegram from Secretary of the Navy Daniels in which Mr. Daniels expressed gratification that he was able to let Mare Island build the California.

Senator Phelan received the following message from President Wilson, dated Shadow Lawn:

"Will you not convey to all present on the occasion of the laying of the keel of the California my warm congratulations and my earnest best wishes both for the ship and for the great State whose name she will bear. WOODROW WILSON."

TORPEDO PROOF.

Lessons of the European war, especially those taught by submarine and torpedo attack, have been so well analyzed by United States naval constructors that the new oil and electric superdreadnaught California will be able to make port in spite of numerous and several torpedo wounds, say navy engineers.

The 1022 bluejackets who will man the battleship under fifty-eight officers, however, probably will divide their admiration between this, her dozen fourteen-inch guns, and some of the many electrical devices, such as the electric potato peeler in the galley, the electric-driven ice cream freezer, or the electric dish-washing machine with a capacity of 1000 dishes per hour.

Use of electricity on the California begins with her main engines, driven by motors supplied with current by generators turned by steam turbines of 28,000 horse power. There will be practically no work done on shipboard directly by steam, and the "black gang" of tradition, instead of heaving tons of coal per hour into ever-hungry furnaces, will manipulate levers controlling oil-burners under the boilers. These latter will be the usual water tube type, but new methods of installation have been devised for practically all the California's engine and boiler-room equipment, it is said.

It is understood that the new torpedo and mine-proof construction is gained largely by an improved method of bulkhead building. The bulkheads are to be of steel, but less rigid than the ordinary types, and resistance is said to have been increased 25 to 30 per cent.

CHARACTERISTICS.

A clipper bow, instead of the conventional ram, will distinguish the California, and she will have two cage masts bearing fire control platforms. Other characteristics are: Length over all, 624 feet; breadth, ninety-five feet; depth, forty-seven feet, two inches; mean draft, thirty feet, three inches; displacement, (at this draft,) 32,300 tons; speed, twenty-one knots (twelve hours;) fuel oil capacity (normal,) 1900 tons.

The armament is: twelve 14-inch, .30 caliber, breech-loading rifles; four submerged torpedo tubes, twenty-two 5-inch rapid-fire guns, four 6-pounder guns for saluting, two 3-pounder guns for boats, four 3-inch anti-aircraft guns, one 3-inch landing gun and two .30 caliber machine guns.

GUN BATTERIES.

The guns of the main battery will be mounted in threes, in four heavily-armored turrets on the ship's center line.

When battleship No. 44 was assigned to the Mare Island yard for construction the name California had been assigned to No. 40, being built at the New York navy yard. The name of the latter was ordered changed to New Mexico, and the California assigned to Mare Island, inasmuch as the California, it is believed, is destined to become the flagship of the Pacific fleet.

The present flagship is the armored cruiser San Diego, which was called the California until the name was needed for the newly-authorized battleship.

DEMOCRATS ARE SUED FOR CONVENTION BILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—An attachment suit for $1940.99 alleged to be due for rent on the Coliseum during the National Democratic Convention last June was filed in the Circuit Court today against the Democratic National Committee by the St. Louis Coliseum Company. Attachments were issued against all the nonresident members of the committee as well as the committee itself.

Just what property of the committee members the Coliseum company expects to attach does not appear, and J. M. Goodwin, attorney for the company, declined to discuss this feature of the case.

The suit is in two counts. The first count asks for $1500 as a balance due on the rent of the Coliseum, $3000 having been paid. The other asks $440.99, the amount spent for cleaning and painting the building. It is alleged that the committee agreed to pay for this work.

The building was leased for ten days at $300 a day.

FIGURES CHANGE IN "DRY SPELL."

Oregon's will End Last of November Says Pioneer of Portland.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 25.—J. F. Irons, pioneer of Oregon, has figured it out that Portland's and Oregon's "dry spell" will last till the end of November. "Mars is doing it," says Pioneer Irons. "Mars influence forecasts that the same weather—cold, wet, dry or otherwise—that began in September, will continue through October and November." Mr. Irons is a careful student of the late Rev. Irl R. Hicks, of St. Louis, Mo.

SCIENTIFIC DOOM OF DENTISTS DUE.

ALTERATION IN SALIVA MAY STOP TOOTH DECAY.

Interesting Results Obtained in Research Carried on by State University Instructor—More than Three Hundred Persons Examined in Over Two Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, Oct. 25.—An alteration of saliva which will stop decay of the teeth may be the result of experiments now being carried on by J. A. Marshall, instructor in the Department of Biochemistry at the University of California. Marshall's experiments have been going on for over two and half years and over 300 persons have been examined during that time.

"We find that saliva has a definite effect on the teeth," said Marshall today, who has just been appointed a special director of the institute of research by the National Dental Association. From his analysis Marshall has obtained a factor, called the salivary factor, which indicates the presence or absence of dental decay.

"If the peculiar action of saliva," he says, "is a cause of dental decay it would be but a step to alter the saliva from the state predisposing to decay to that which stops decay."

HALF-MILLION LOSS IN LUMBER FIRE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OROVILLE, Oct. 25.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Swain Lumber Company in the Feather River Canyon, near here, today. The flames, which wrought damage estimated at more than $500,000, consumed more than 6,000,000 feet of lumber, in addition to the mill buildings.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

LINER GOVERNOR FLOATED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 25.—The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's liner Governor, which grounded off Point Grey in a dense fog early today while coming to Vancouver to discharge freight, was floated at high tide this afternoon after part of her cargo had been lightered. The Governor arrived here early tonight apparently undamaged.

AGAIN HALT MURDER TRIAL.

Missouri Prosecuting Attorney's Fate Delayed After Election.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) Oct. 25.—The trial of Oscar D. McDaniel, Prosecuting Attorney of Buchanan county, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Harriet Moss McDaniel, was halted again today. As a result the accused prosecutor's fate will not be decided until after the November election, when he is candidate for the office he now holds.

The new trial, made necessary by a ruling here late today by Judge Thomas J. Ryan, judge of the Criminal Court, asked by the State, was set for the November term of court, starting on the sixth day of that month. Another venire of prospective jurors already has been ordered by the court.

Judge Ryan's decision was that the venire already empanelled had been influenced so that an impartial trial was impossible, by an alleged interview, published here yesterday, which quoted John T. Barker, Attorney-General of Missouri, and head of the prosecution as having said "the State has been 'jobbed' in the selection of this jury."

Mr. Barker explained that his objection to the jury consisted largely in the speed with which the special veniremen were obtained. Thirty-three were accepted by State and defense Monday and Tuesday.

TURN-CLOCK FORWARD CHAMPIONS TO MEET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Preliminary preparations for a national convention of "turn-the-clock-forward-an-hour" enthusiasts in this city in December were taken at a meeting here today. Invitations will be extended to chambers of commerce, scientific societies, labor unions and other organizations to send representatives to join a national organization.

Speakers at the meeting today declared the plan would result in a saving of one-fourth on gas and electric light bills, conservation of eyesight and more time for outdoor sport and recreation.

ASKS FOR VOTE OF YOUNG MEN.

Hughes Gives Reasons Why They Should Aid Him.

Assails Administration for Lack of Preparedness.

Government in the Open His Idea of Authority.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles E. Hughes tonight told an audience in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, why, in his opinion, the young men of the nation should support the Republican ticket at the next election. Five chief reasons were cited in answer to the question, "What sort of country does young America, abreast with patriotism, desire?"

Mr. Hughes answered the question in part as follows:

"First, he wants a country respected throughout the world. He wants a country which respects the dignity of its citizenship. Second, young America must desire a country that is prepared for every emergency. Third, young America, looking ahead, must desire that when peace is once more restored we shall contribute to its maintenance by doing our proper share to secure a practicable and effective international organization in the interests of peace. Fourth, young America wants government in the open, by public constitutional instruments, not by unofficial spokesmen or invisible authority. He also wants a government not sectional, but truly national. Fifth, young America wants industrial preparedness."

SCORES WILSON POLICY.

In citing his second reason, Mr. Hughes assailed the administration for lack of preparedness, referred to "manifest defects" in the army reorganization bill, declared that the War Department had incapable leadership, and touched on a recommendation by Secretary Garrison in June, 1914, that the regular army be filled to its full "strength," a recommendation Mr. Hughes said had been ignored.

"I am informed on competent authority," Mr. Hughes said, "that had there been the addition to the regular army then desired by Secretary Garrison it would not have been necessary to send our National Guard to the border."

In discussing the administration's alleged failure to prepare, he said:

"The President informed Congress in December, 1914, that the administration would not change its attitude because some among us are 'nervous and excited.' It was said that the country had been misinformed; that the administration had not been negligent of national defense.' This was four months after the outbreak of the European war and nearly eight months after Vera Cruz.

GARRISON'S REPORT.

"Secretary Garrison had recommended in his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, 'the existing organization' which composed the aggregate mobile forces of the regular army, should be filled up to their full strength.' This, he said, would require 25,000 men. He also recommended that with this increase there should be authority to obtain 1000 more officers. I understand that his recommendation was ignored. I am also informed upon competent authority that had there been the addition to the regular army then desired by Secretary Garrison it would not have been necessary to send our National Guard to the border.

"What was needed on the part of the administration was no exhortations, but the business-like action demanded by the condition of the times. One of the very few strong men the President gathered about him left the Cabinet rather than be responsible for seriously mistaken policy.

THE ARMY BILL.

"I cannot now review the army reorganization bill and its manifest defects. I must content myself with saying that I believe that we should have a regular army large enough for the ordinary military demands in the absence of grave national exigencies and that our first citizen reserve should be trained and controlled by Federal authority. In the administration of the Navy Department we have had incapable leadership. The young men of the country cannot fail to take a special interest in these matters. We propose to have adequate preparedness and the efficiency of administration which is its indispensable condition."

REPUBLICANS REPORT ON MONEYS RECEIVED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the western Republican national headquarters, said today he had received a total of $387,162.96 in campaign contributions up to the close of business Saturday, October 21, and that this sum had been expended in the western department, which includes the territory between the west line of Ohio and the Pacific Coast. He has forwarded to the clerk of the House of Representatives at Washington a detailed report of the receipts and expenditures, as required by law.

He will make another report just before election day and a final statement within ten days after election.

Eight years ago a total of $548,- 000 was collected and expended in the Republican campaign in the western territory.

paign against the regular Republican candidate.

In fact, reports from the eighty Assembly districts of the State show that in not half of them are the Republican candidates receiving support from the Republican State Central Committee. They are not permitted to appear on a platform with the Republican candidate for the United States Senate and the Republican members of the State Central Committee from those districts are openly supporting the man—be they Democrats, Socialists, Prohibitionists or "Independents"—whom the administration has selected to oppose them.

ANOTHER CASE IN POINT.

Just another glaring instance. Henry D. Byrne is the regular Republican nominee from the Thirty-second (San Francisco) District. In the Sacramento convention he refused to take orders from Frank Daroux. They had an altercation in the lobby and Byrne asserted that Daroux told him that Byrne would vote for Gov. Johnson's candidate for Speaker or he, Daroux, would spend $10,000 in his district to defeat him. Byrne refused to switch. Since that convention the nomination papers of E. P. McGeeney have been filed at the State Capitol as an independent candidate in that district. Accompanying them was a personal check signed by Frank Daroux to cover the filing fees. This incident is only one of many that might be cited to show how openly and impudently corrupt is the campaign now being waged by the administration mercenaries to get control of the next State Legislature.

In most of the districts the Republican county committees are supporting the Republican candidate, irrespective of how he voted in the Sacramento convention. But there is not an instance in the whole of the eight Assembly districts where the Republican State Central Committee is supporting a Republican candidate who failed to take the administration programme in that convention.

Games as desperate as this are only played for big stakes. The stake in the present instance is the Assembly Ways and Means Committee that will have control of the expenditure of $40,000,000 during the next two years.

A Republican Assembly that would follow the precedents of intelligent economy set by our former Republican Governors, Pardee and Gillett, could save from public waste and political debauchery $8,000,000 of that $40,000,000 in the next two years. An Assembly controlled by the mercenaries of the administration will be very likely to spend the whole of it and the $2,000,000 surplus that will be in the treasury at the end of the present fiscal year. The new rates made by the last Assembly raised $3,000,000 more than was anticipated and $2,000,000 is on hand ready to pay for more high-priced commissionerships.

Pacific Electric Railway

—the Swan Song of Luckenbach & Co. their first and last sale

By REED HAYES.

MY GOOD friend John Luckenbach has asked me to write an advertisement telling the people of Los Angeles that Luckenbach & Co. are going to retire from the jewelry business.

¶ For twenty years the people of Los Angeles have been buying their jewelry from this firm. It has become a leader in its field. Now it is going to sell every piece of jewelry in its stock, and in a short time the doors will close on this big business forever.

¶ This is the first sale ever held by the house of Luckenbach. It never had to hold sales to force its wares. Square dealing, honest wares, quality and courtesy brought business which stayed year after year. Everybody who bought came again when they wanted other jewelry.

¶ This is the biggest advertisement the firm ever paid for. It got its advertising through fairness and honesty, and all the time this personal advertising paid. Now it is different. The firm has thousands of friends. It wants to sell its stock and get out of business as soon as possible. The newspapers will carry the message most quickly to these friends.

¶ Yesterday John Luckenbach took me through his store. He told me the plans he had made for the sale. From one jewelry wall case to another he took me, and from one showcase to another. In great safes he showed me all sorts of jewelry and precious stones. Every piece and every bit had been carefully selected by a man who loved his business. They were the best money could buy.

¶ "Prices must move all this stock," John Luckenbach told me.

¶ So he took me around still again. He pointed to this diamond, to that watch, to clocks, to quantities of solid silver, to all sorts of things—everything you could imagine. He told me the purchase price, the price ordinarily charged retail, and the prices he would make during the sale. He decided me on one thing:

¶ I am not going to quote a price in this advertisement.

¶ This is the first advertisement I have ever written in Los Angeles. It will not be the last. Advertising precedent says prices must be quoted in starting a sale. But I am going to break precedent. Here are the reasons:

¶ Thousands know John Luckenbach. They know his word is as good as a bond and when he says prices are to sell out Luckenbach & Co.'s stock then they know those prices are going to be LOW.

¶ Luckenbach & Co. can sell jewelry far below the market. Every article in the store HAS BEEN PAID FOR. This is not a so-called sale to raise money. It is a legitimate sale to enable the firm to close out all its stock. The firm wants to do this as soon as possible and because of this prices are going to be low, lower than I ever saw jewelry prices before.

¶ Most of the stock was bought before the war sent prices skyward. You will get the benefit. Everything was bought for cash. This means your cash will go that much further. EVEN SET AND UNSET DIAMONDS WILL BE SOLD UNDER THIS PLAN.

¶ If desired, arrangements can be made for goods purchased to be delivered during December. It really is the opportunity of the Christmas shopping season for those who buy gifts.

¶ This is going to be the greatest jewelry sale ever held in Los Angeles. I say this, knowing John Luckenbach, the stock of Luckenbach & Co., and their prices.

¶ But there is one word for the clerks who will wait on you during this sale. They are the very last word in efficiency and courtesy. They have been trained in the Luckenbach way and that means the customers' wants and likes come first. The same treatment will be carried through every day of the sale.

¶ I advise you this is the biggest pre-Christmas announcement of the year. This is the time to take advantage of it—early—before the stock has all been picked over.

¶ This is a real closing-out sale. No new stock is to be bought and every day is going to show a lessening of what is on hand.

¶ Luckenbach & Co. really are going to quit the jewelry business. It will be a long time before you have another such opportunity.

JOHN LUCKENBACH, President. F. W. CRANE, Secretary.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Bohnists to Meet.

The botanical section of the Southern California Academy of Sciences will meet this evening in the music room of the public library.

To Elect Officers.

Officers for the new year will be elected at the meeting of the Plymouth Rock Club in The Times Assembly Hall this evening. A. C. Goodacre will also discuss the specials to be offered at the 1916 and 1917 shows.

Amendments to be Discussed.

The proposed amendments to the State Constitution will be discussed at a meeting of the Woman's Republican League at noon tomorrow in the Broadway Department Store cafe. Capt. W. T. Helms, George C. Watson and Harry A. Chamberlain will also speak.

Immanuel Women's Tea.

The monthly tea given by the Women's Aid Society of Immanuel Presbyterian Church will occur at the home of Mrs. E. W. Clark, No. 2140 Western avenue, tomorrow afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock. All women of the church and their friends are invited.

Modern Goblins at Party.

The song "Pretty Baby" and several other lively musical numbers took the place of goblins at the Halloween party of Colorado State Society, which was held Tuesday night in The Times Assembly Rooms. More than 150 persons were present. Numerous selections were rendered and games and dancing also were features of the entertainment. E. F. Whittemore, president, presided.

Editor, Rabbi, Priest.

More than ordinary interest is attached to the next meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom, which will occur Sunday evening in Columbus Hall, No. 612 South Flower street, owing to the personnel of the speakers. They will include Max Socha, editor of Germania; Dr. Isidore Myers, Jewish rabbi, and Rev. John M. Hegarty, Catholic priest. P. P. O'Brien will be the chairman. A pleasant musical programme has been arranged.

Pine Tree Folks Meet.

Music and recitations were the features of the meeting of the Maine Society of Los Angeles Tuesday night in The Times Assembly Rooms, which was attended by more than 100 former residents of the Pine Tree State. The programme was given by Helen Louise Kimball, Mrs. Ada Marsh Chick, Mrs. Alice Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Shepard and Iano Bianchi. Gen. James Donovan, president of the organization, made a short talk. The exercises were followed by refreshments.

Poultrymen to Meet.

The Poultry Breeders' Association of Southern California will hold its October meeting in The Times Assembly Rooms this evening. The Wyandotte Club of California will have specimens of the different varieties of Wyandottes on display for judgment and discussion. The subject of "Chicken Stealing" will be thoroughly discussed and preventive measures talked over. A representative of the Sheriff's office will be present to give helpful hints.

Y.M.C.A. High Jinks.

With a varied programme ranging from a lecture by Mr. Baker, head of the vocational department of the Portland Y.M.C.A., to musical numbers, the "high jinks" held at the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night was a decided success. Features of the programme included Miss Naomi Sweeney, whistling solo; Miss Doris Baker, recitation; Arthur Hardt, pianist; Orpheus Four, male quartette, and others. Gymnasium stunts and a basketball game ended the fun.

City Attorneys Organize.

The annual election and banquet of the City Attorneys' Association of Southern California was held Tuesday night at Christopher's, No. 741 South Broadway. The new officers are: Walter Dunn, Monrovia, president; C. E. Spencer, Los Angeles, vice-president, and Charles Burnell, Los Angeles, secretary. The next meeting will be held November 24 at a place to be designated by City Attorney Stephens of this city, whose guests the association members will be.

Jewish Charity Ball.

In the name of charity the Jewish Sisterhood, made up of a large number of prominent society matrons of the city, will stage a benefit ball at Solomon's Grand-avenue dancing pavilion next Sunday night. Last Sunday evening the Immediate Relief Society raised $237 for their cause, and the backers of this week's affair expect to exceed that figure. Mrs. Louis Meyer is in charge of the affair, assisted by Mrs. F. Lorenz and Mrs. H. Salkey. The Flower Committee is composed of Mrs. Cohen, Mrs. Vogel and Mrs. Russakov. Mrs. A. Lane is director-general. The entire gross receipts will go to the charitable fund.

Will Explain Amendments.

Speakers who know will explain the seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution, which are to be voted on at the general election in November, at the Realty Board luncheon at noon today in the Broadway Department Store cafe. Oscar Lawler will discuss the two proposed prohibition measures; Henry W. Keller, good roads bonds and the proposed amendment to the State highway act; A. L. Bartlett, direct primary law; E. P. Clark, single tax, and F. P. Dougherty, the ineligibility to office amendment.

Eight-hour Law Debate.

The English classes of the Los Angeles High School have arranged for a debate on the Eight-hour law. The question is "Resolved that the action of our government in the recent treatment of the railroad strike was prejudicial to the interests of our country." Hanna Rayburn and Mary Hobson will uphold the affirmative, while Coral Berwick and Pearl Hobson will take the negative.

For Scoutmasters.

The new Scoutmasters' class of the University of California will be started on its course this morning at 9:50 o'clock by P. W. Pollard, instructor in charge, at the university buildings. The class was formed to overcome the lack of scoutmasters in the Boy Scout organization.

Open French Restaurant.

The Victor-Hugo, a French restaurant, will open at No. 623 South Hill street, November 1, with appropriate ceremonies. A. Brandstatter and Hugo Aleidis, the proprietors, propose to create a "restaurant Francais" noted for its service and cuisine.

Civil Service Examinations.

The Civil Service Commission of Los Angeles county will hold competitive examinations for junior floorman, County Recorder's office; multigraph operator and poultryman, County Farm; November 8, 14 and 16, in room No. 1007, Hall of Records Building. Applications should be made in the commission's room at least three days prior to the examinations.

Speaks on "Playgrounds."

Dr. J. E. Cowles, president of the City Playground Commission, will speak to the members of the Proximo Club on "Playgrounds," at the weekly luncheon of the club, which will be held tomorrow, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the Broadway Department Store Cafe. Following the luncheon the club members will visit the Southwest Museum as the guests of Dr. Hector Alliot, curator.

To Discuss State Measures.

At the dinner to be given by the Municipal League tonight questions upon which the voters are to pass judgment at the next election will be discussed. The speakers will include Rev. D. M. Gandier and Macallum Forline, on the prohibition amendments; N. D. Darlington on road bonds, W. J. Ghent on single tax, T. E. Gibbon on State legislators holding no other office, and Seward E. Simons on proposed changes in the direct primary law.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Oct. 25.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.11; at 5 p.m., 29.97. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 62 deg. and 82 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 32 per cent.; 5 p.m., 13 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 10 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 5 miles. Highest temperature, 90 deg.; lowest, 55 deg. Rainfall for season, 3.48 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS. — The course of the Canadian area of low pressure includes the Great Lakes and that region and the Upper Mississippi Valley generally is under its influence, raising the temperature and causing well-distributed precipitation, which has become heavy in Missouri. Kansas City recorded 2.94 inches in the past twenty-four hours. The extension of the northwestern area of high pressure is ushering in a period of fair and dry weather for Southern California. Off-shore winds are common to most of the stations in this district, and Mt. Wilson reports a strong wind during the night.

LOCAL FORECAST.

For Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair Thursday; northerly winds.

For Southern California: Fair Thursday.

STATE FORECAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Weather forecast: San Francisco, Oakland and vicinity: Fair Thursday; continued warm; light northerly wind.

Sacramento Valley: Fair Thursday; light northerly wind.

Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys: Fair Thursday; light northerly wind.

Southern California: Fair Thursday; continued warm; light northerly wind.

ARIZONA FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Forecast for Arizona: Thursday, fair and warmer; Friday, probably fair.

YUMA (Ariz.) Oct. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch from the U. S. Reclamation Service.] Gauge height Colorado River, 18.6 feet; discharge, 24,400 second-feet.

Contest.

CLAIM MINER'S RIGHTS.

Bartell Entry Near Neenach is Bone of Contention Before Land Office Officials—Property Said to Contain Gold in Paying Quantities.

The protest of the Western Pacific Mining Company against the homestead entry of Harrison L. Bartell was on before Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office yesterday. The Bartell entry consists of 320 acres of land in the vicinity of Neenach.

According to the complaint of the mining corporation the land contains gold in paying quantities. The contestants also claim they have sunk 2000 feet of tunneling and shafts; that it has on hand 3000 feet of pipe line, houses, a mill, etc., and a fully-equipped mining camp. It is further alleged that the company has so far spent $30,000 on the proposition.

The gold claims alleged to be located on the land are known as the Gold Cup, Wolf Gold, Laurison, San Felice, Gold Cup Fraction, Sagamore, Gap, Rover, Forgotten Treasure and Patsy.

How to Judge a Woman by Her Hair

There are always the well-known and semi-humorous methods, such as saying brunettes are quick-tempered. But there is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge a woman's neatness. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good preparation made expressly for shampooing. You can enjoy the very best by getting some canthrox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water when your shampoo is all ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

The New Method

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack of ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single anuric tablet before each meal for awhile.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for anuric if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, 'dropsy, begin immediately with this novel treatment.

FINNOCHIO LOSES.

Appellate Court Dismisses Appeal in Murder Case on Technicality.

Calogero Finnochio lost his appeal from a judgment of imprisonment for life for murder, yesterday, when the District Court of Appeal dismissed the application, on the ground that his attorneys had failed to comply with the rules regarding the submission of briefs.

The court affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the case of Jose Andrade, on appeal from Solano county. Andrade was convicted of killing John Cook in a hobo camp, and sentenced to San Quentin for life.

The case of the city of Los Angeles, and others, against Walter Lewis, auditor, and M. H. Esser, intervenor, involving the payment by the county cement plant, was argued at length.

UGLY INSULTS SWIFTLY MET.

Ralph Graham Makes Vicious Attack on Republicans.

Disgruntled Officeseeker is Called to Account.

Helms Man then "Declines" to Make Good on It.

The publication Tuesday of a letter which Ralph F. Graham, who was overwhelmingly defeated for the nomination for District Attorney, admits having written, and which reflects upon the honesty, honor and integrity of "influential members of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Central Committee," has resulted in a formal protest by the maligned members of that committee, all of whom enjoy the respect and confidence of the community. Resenting the vicious aspersions cast upon the committee as a whole, Leon F. Moss, one of the members, wrote to Graham asking an explanation. He replied in terms just as insulting as those contained in the published letter.

Graham's interest in the matter is supposed to be the result of his humiliating defeat at the primaries. He has announced himself against the re-election of Thomas Lee Woolwine.

THE LETTERS.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24, 1916.

Mr. Ralph F. Graham,
311 American Bank Building,
Los Angeles, California.

Dear Sir: In today's Evening Express there is published what purports to be a letter signed by you, dated October 21, 1916, addressed to Capt. W. T. Helms, concerning his candidacy for District Attorney of Los Angeles county as against the candidacy of Hon. Thomas Lee Woolwine, from which I quote as follows:

"Further, Tommy gets the indorsement of the Democratic County Central Committee (so I am informed.) They are not worried about nonpartisanship, but you failed to get the indorsement of the Republican County Central Committee on account of certain influential members of the Executive Committtee, who are afraid that some of their pet houses of prostitution might be interfered with."

I respectfully request you to inform me:

(1.) Is the above a correct quotation from a letter which you sent to Capt. Helms?

(2.) Did you authorize the publication of the letter, or send it with the expectation that it would be published? And

(3.) The names of the "influential members on the Executive Committee who are afraid some of their pet houses of prostitution might be interfered with?"

You must realize that the above statement reflects on every member of the Republican Executive Committee, and your sense of justice must surely indicate to you that if you do not intend to include all of them in your statement you should state the names so included, in order to relieve the other members from the burden of your serious charges.

For your information, and so that there may be no misunderstanding concerning the matter, I state the names of the Los Angeles County Republican Executive Committee as follows: Frank P. Doherty, chairman; Mrs. R. W. Richardson, vice-chairman; Charles L. Chandler, secretary; Nicholas J. Cordary, treasurer; W. W. Mines, Willis H. Booth, Walter Bordwell, George P. Adams, George R. Davis, J. D. Fredericks, William Rhodes Hervey, Mrs. Calvin L. Hartwell, E. W. Britt, J. W. Calvert, Leo V. Youngworth, W. C. Mushet, W. P. Jeffries, Maynard McFie, Leon F. Moss, Percy V. Hammon, Henry E. Carter, Mrs. O. P. Clark, Oscar C. Mueller, Gilbert S. Wright, Frank C. Roberts, W. J. Ford, Edward A. Clampitt, W. M. Bowen, Mack E. Meader, Madison Marine, L. L. CHAMBER'S FOR CITY STEAMERS.

Directorate Indorses Project to Form Municipal Line for Foreign Service.

Following two weeks of consideration, the report of the subcommittee appointed some time ago by the Chamber of Commerce to make an investigation of the value of a municipally-owned steamship line for foreign service, was indorsed by the board of directors of the chamber yesterday afternoon.

The report carries a recommendation that the matter be presented to the Mayor and the City Council for a detailed report, to be made within thirty days, and that following this action the matter be again referred to the three committees of the Chamber of Commerce. A clause in the paper states that it is the belief of the committee that two wooden vessels of 1500 tons displacement each, and costing approximately $150,000, will be sufficient to fill present shipping demands between this port and South American harbors.

New Elements Complicating "Double Murder" Mystery.

Fresh Sensation.

GIGANTIC "MURDER PLANT" TO BE THE DEFENSE OF BARRETT.

Counsel for Supposed Double Slayer Amass Great Number of Facts Tending to Show Plot to Remove Senile Man and Get Property—Second Arrest.

BY F. A. SCOTT.

THE defense of Benton L. Barrett, now in the County Jail, charged with the murder of his wife and stepson, Raymond Wright, on his own confession, will be that a gigantic "murder plant" was framed up against him and that Mrs. Barrett and her son still live.

Lewis D. Collings, attorney for Barrett, and Capt. H. L. Zimmer, an investigator, declare that persons who would profit financially by the death or removal from the scene of Benton L. Barrett, schemed to work on his already weakened mind by inferring he murdered his wife and son. They expected that Barrett would end his own life or go to the gallows, the attorney says.

Here are the facts Mr. Collings alleges in support of his theory:

Benton L. Barrett has been senile for months.

He was about to have a guardian appointed, his children having the proposition under consideration,

Barrett confessed to a double murder, committed in a heinous method, alleging self-defense, and at every suggestion from the detectives changed his story.

The fire in which he says he burned the bodies was never more than four feet long and Mrs. Barrett was 5 feet, 5 inches tall.

It is admitted by Barrett's accusers that the bones found in the outhouse were not there the Saturday following the fire. Barrett's story, suggested to him, was that he put the bones there on Friday. Barrett was arrested Saturday.

The bones in the outhouse were bleached by the sun; the marrow remained intact and was not melted away as would have been the case in green bones subjected to heat.

FREE OF FLESH.

The bones were free of flesh, a fact that would not have occurred in the case they had been burned in an open fire.

The blood found in the stable was not blood from a wound. It contained certain organic matter than can be introduced into the blood only in one way.

The blood was fresh Monday, four days after the murder. The attorney says he stained his fingers in the fresh blood.

The blood was not there Saturday following the alleged killing.

A quantity of cartridges were found in Raymond Wright's room last Saturday. They have disappeared and five of them turned up in the vault under the bones found there.

These cartridges were not tarnished as they would have been had they been long exposed to moisture.

The bones found in the fire and the vault are not sufficient to compose two or even one complete skeleton.

There are bones that do not fit in for either the woman or the boy.

Barrett went hunting for his wife Wednesday night and seemed seriously anxious about her.

He confessed to the murder only afters others had openly accused him of the deed and suggested the method he had probably used.

Barrett told the officers that he had laid mother and son, clothed, in the fire, their heads together. A gold tooth, presumably from one of their jaws, was found welded to an eyelet from a shoe.

Traces of two makes of lace shoes were in the fire although Mrs. Barret wore button shoes.

Mrs. Barrett spoke of disappearing a day before she did disappear and gave her reason for leaving.

Raymond Wright for some reason did not go to school on the day of the supposed tragedy.

MOTIVE LACKING?

Benton Barrett had no motive. His property was in better shape on the day preceding the murder than it had ever been since his marriage.

The knowledge of the letters written to George Forbes was not a motive—he had known of them since last May.

Barrett said he took the bodies through a hole in the fence; there is abundant evidence to prove the fence was not molested—the hole did pot exist on the day he said he killed his family.

A mysterious telephone message to a newspaper man concerning the murder was delivered before Barrett confessed.

Barrett did not say the things he is credited with prior to the confession.

Alleged conversations given publicity were a part of a plan to "plant" the murder mystery in the hope the old man would end his life or would be hung.

Abundant proof exists to show that Barrett will confess to almost any thing that is now suggested to him.

No effort has been made to ascertain whether or not Mrs. Barrett and her son are still living.

VICTIM OF SUGGESTION.

Attorney Collings stated that he was positive that his client is the victim of suggestion. He declares that he had this first impressed on his mind when the Forbes letters were under discussion. There were thirty-one letters in a package. No one ever saw these letters after they came into the possession of Mr. Collings, who had them direct from Forbes. Nevertheless last Monday Barrett, after talking of the letters told half a dozen persons that he had read the letters. He then went to the office of an attorney, met his wife and also told her he had read the letters. In jail he referred to the letters and said that although he had read all of them he did not remember the contents.

These letters will figure in the trial of Barrett, no difference what the charge may be. If murder they will be read into the case to show that the old man's mind had become diseased because of the letters.

One of the letters which the defense alleges indicates intrigue and abuse of Barrett's confidence and shows motive and an effort to get his property follows:

THE LETTER.

February 16, 1916.

My Dear George:

I received your registered letter last evening and was glad to hear from you, but, dear, I cannot understand why you would send me a registered letter addressed in the name of Barrett to care of postoffice box 282, when you could have registered it to Wright, postoffice box 282. You see, the people in the office will be on the watch for my mail, and you never can tell who is looking up such things. And if he had gone to the office and got the letter he would have known we were in touch with each other, and God knows I am not anxious to lose this place now, nor do I think you want me to after what I have gone through so far.

Now, he was out yesterday and told me he would do anything I wanted him to if he could come back, and he has agreed to take care of the mortgage as soon as he can, and almost promised to buy me the Majestic Theater at Santa Monica. Also make over his life insurance—it is a life policy and the premium is paid up in full for $2500. So I am going to try it again, and

TEN THOUSAND GONE; BOOK-KEEPER'S JAILED.

A WARRANT for the arrest of R. J. Vening, a trusted employee of the Valvoline Oil Company, located on East Fourth street, was issued yesterday afternoon by Deputy District Attorney Stafford. The officials of the company allege that there is a shortage of $9584 on the books of the company in charge of Vening and the charge against him is embezzlement. He was arrested last night by Constable Woodbury and is said to have made certain admissions.

Discrepancies in the company's books are said to have been discovered several weeks ago. An audit of these was ordered by the head of the company and the expert accountants uncovered a statement in which Vening is said to have entered $100,103 on the books when actually only $90,555 had been paid out.

The Valvoline officials declare that they know of no reason why Vening should have taken the money, declaring that he never gave evidences of extravagance in his tastes or appeared over-supplied with ready cash. His alleged defalcations are said to have covered a period of several months and they came as a decided surprise to his associates.

Among other things Vening said last night that his books have not been audited in fourteen years.

He is held under $10,000 bail.

CITY WOULD MERGE ALL TELEPHONES HEREABOUTS

A CITY and county telephone merger, consolidation of two long distance services and the final elimination of all independents in Southern California are suggestions made by the Board of Public Utilities in the argument it will present to the State Railroad Commission tomorrow regarding the proposed merger of the Home Telephone and Pacific company's systems under the name of the Southern California Company.

"We want a local company here and we want all the Sunset forces in and around Los Angeles and in this county to be taken in on the merger with the Home Telephone Company," said Fulton Lane, president of the Board of Public Utilities. "Then we ask that the Pacific Company cease operation in this entire district of other than long distance service, and also that the Southern California Company be prohibited from making contracts either with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for royalties on expired patents and so-called legal and engineering advice, or with the Western Electric Company as purchasing agents, but be required to purchase in the open market at competitive prices. We also ask that the principal offices of the Southern California Company be maintained in Los Angeles."

This means that the city will ask that the Southern California Company be absolutely divorced from the "Bell" company. F. D. Howell, chief engineer of the Board of Public Utilities, has submitted a report discussing the telephone system in Los Angeles and the requirements of the city. One of these is the demand for interchange service. Engineer Howell says the proposed combination provides for only part of the city in this respect.

"The Pacific and Home companies propose to give this interchange by sale to the Southern California Company in lieu of a new franchise asked for by the Pacific company," says Engineer Howell. He speaks of it as "getting away from the necessity of obtaining a new franchise," and calls attention to the fact that the city's permission is required by ordinance before the Home Company can assign its franchise to the new company.

OPERA STAR DUE SUNDAY.

Florence Macbeth will Give Recital at Trinity.

Florence Macbeth, the American coloratura sopano, who so charmed Los Angeles audiences three years ago, when as co-star with the famous Titta Ruffo, she sang in "Rigoletto," with the Chicago Opera Company, will arrive Sunday. She is to give her single recital here next Tuesday evening at Trinity Auditorium. While in California she will be heard in San Francisco, Berkeley, San Jose, Sacramento, and open the Tuesday Musical Club's season in Riverside.

Leopold Godowsky, the Polish pianist, after an absence of three years, will appear at Trinity Auditorium Saturday afternoon, opening the matinee series of the Philharmonic course. He will arrive Saturday morning, coming direct from Chicago.

BIG RUSH FOR RESERVE LAND

People Ready at Daylight to Move to Boundaries.

Ninety-six Thousand Acres Opened to Settlement.

Lack of Water Makes Task of Entrymen Almost Hopeless.

Nine o'clock yesterday morning was the time set by the government at which homeseekers could enter upon the 96,000 acres of land open to settlement in the Angeles National Reserve and make their settlements or selections of land. These settlements are not subject to entry, however, until November 22.

Despite these facts, a number of "sooners" appeared at the local Land Office yesterday morning and wanted to make entries on 160-acre pieces in the area up Banning way. When they discovered that they could not make entry yesterday, but that they could go on the land and make their settlements, they took the first train for Clearwater, the nearest railroad station.

There was a general rush. People went in from both Banning and Whitewater. Along the boundary line dozens of prospective settlers have encamped. There were people with automobiles, buckboards, horseback and on foot when the rush began. Sentries were posted to see that nobody "hunched over" during the night, and the grand rush toward the boundaries of the much-desired lands began about daylight. Every man tried to gain some point of vantage so as to be ready for the final sprint when the hour of 9 o'clock arrived.

For days before the opening the section was visited by inquiring parties, eager for the best locations, and it was in the vicinity of these favored spots, where pre-selections had been made, that the greatest crowd of homeseekers could be found when the time came when the land was opened to settlement. It was a case of first come, first served.

No sooner did the adventurous and hardy pioneers secure a location that they deemed the best within sight than tents were put up, and word from the Whitewater country last night was to the effect that it looked like an encampment of the California National Guard at Exposition Park.

Surveys made by government officials since the proclamation of the President was issued are to the effect that the land is all but worthless. There is some good land in that part of the country, but it has been appropriated long ago. The lack of water is the greatest drawback, but it seems that when the government opens public land to homeseekers there are always a lot of folks who are willing to take a chance.

BRANDS RUMOR FALSE.

Inspector Says "Umbrella-Detector." Mule and Station are Dreams.

The wonderful "umbrella-detector" with which Ellery W. Stone, Federal radio inspector, was to ride across the desert on a mule in search of a "mysterious wireless station somewhere in California or Arizona" turned out to be a flight of fancy when Mr. Stone arrived at the Alexandria late Tuesday night.

"There has been no report or rumor of any such station," said Mr. Stone, indignantly, "and as to my making a trip across the desert on a mule—well, the trains will have stopped running a long time before I see myself doing it. I am here merely to conduct examinations for amateur wireless licenses and to inspect the stations of this vicinity and Arizona. It is my annual trip, and there is nothing but routine business ahead of me."

HOME TRUCK SUCCESS.

The International Sales Managers Hear Merits of Motor-drawn Vehicles, Especially of the Los Angeles Product, at a Banquet.

Members of the local branch of the International Sales Managers' Association were enlightened on the respective merits of gasoline and distillate-driven trucks, 7costs of operating trailers, and other technical points dear to the heart of the automobile salesman last night at a banquet at the Alexandria. Masses of statistics were presented and as a result it is probable that some delivery systems in vogue will shortly be changed.

Approximately a score of speakers discussed various phases of getting the best results from motor-drawn vehicles. Among them were representatives of the Moreland, H. L. Arnold, Buick, Republic and Lord motor companies, and traffic managers of various local corporations extensively using automobiles for deliveries and soliciting.

E. G. Judah advocated patronizing home industry and told of the marked success of his company with a Los Angeles-made truck. He recommended as perhaps the most satisfactory way to make a motor truck pay big dividends to have the manufacturer of the truck furnish the driver.

BIBLE CLASSES BEGIN.

First of Events at Great Institute Occurs Tomorrow Night.

The popular Friday night Bible classes, free and open to the public, will be resumed at the Bible Institute tomorrow evening, to continue through the winter. Last winter these classes were attended by audiences as great as 1500, and the average attendance was probably 1000. It is hoped to enlist an equal interest during the present season.

Beginning at 6:15 sharp, T. C. Horton will lecture on the use of the Bible in personal work. At 7 o'clock Rev. J. H. Hunter will conduct the study of the Sunday-school lesson for the following Sunday. At 8 o'clock Dr. William Evans will lecture on the New Testament, beginning with Matthew, and all persons who desire to secure a popular and comprehensive view of the Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles are invited to attend.

The classes will be held in the great auditorium and there will be good music, led by prof. Trowbridge, with Prof. Marsh at the piano.

TO COMPLETE PURCHASE.

Treasury Warrant Arrives as Payment for San Luis Obispo Lot.

A United States Treasury warrant for the payment of $7500 to W. D. Adriance of San Luis Obispo for the lot at Marsh and Morro streets, as a site for a government building, was received yesterday at the office of the United States District Attorney here.

Assistant United States District Attorney Mosely will go to San Luis Obispo today to deliver the warrant and finish up the business connected with the transfer of the property to the government.

JINNISTAN GROTTO INSTALLS OFFICERS.

SHRINE AUDITORIUM AFFAIR ATTRACTS MANY.

Deputy Grand Monarch of Order Presides at Installation Ceremonies—Turkey Dinner is Preliminary, While Music and Vaudeville Follow.

Joy reigned supreme at the first big initiatory ceremonial of Jinnistan Grotto, No. 76, at Shrine Auditorium last night. Over 400 candidates were initiated.

The affair started with the installation of the new officers, who are: H. W. Reynolds, Monarch; William T. Osterholt, Chief Justice; Henry W. Bohrman, Master of Ceremonies; B. P. Glenn, Treasurer; Lon W. Claybaugh, Secretary; Harry Andrews, president of the board of trustees; J. H. Sheridan, registrar, and W. H. Fisher, trustee. The installing officer was W. A. Mensch, deputy Grand Monarch of the order.

More than 1000 men sat down at the big turkey dinner in the auditorium after the preliminary exercises. At 8 o'clock the degree work was instituted. Music for the affair was furnished by the Grotto band of twenty-five pieces, under the direction of Benjamin Laletsky. The patrol of the new organization, which numbers thirty members, appeared in uniform for the first time. The outfitting of these thirty men cost $3500.

A part of the ceremonial was a huge vaudeville show, which was arranged by a special committee. The Jinnistan Grotto was the first grotto to be organized on the Pacific Coast and it is the only one at present, with the exception of the newly-formed grotto at San Diego. The membership of all the grottos is made up of Master Masons. The order has a serious as well as its frivolous side.

CLASS FOR FOREIGN GIRLS.

Foreign-speaking women and girls are invited to join a free English class to meet at the Young Women's Christian Association, No. 251 South Hill street, on Thursdays at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Ethel Richardson, executive secretary of Southern California for the Immigration Commission, is to be the teacher.

GRAHAM'S IMPUDENT ANSWER.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25, 1916.

Hon. Leon F. Moss,
707 Black Building,
Los Angeles, Cal.

My Dear Judge: Your favor of the 24th inst., making inquiries in regard to my letter published in the Evening Express of October 21, duly received.

In reply I will answer your questions categorically:

(1.) The quotation you refer to is correct.

(2.) I consented to the publication of the letter.

(3.) I respectfully decline to state the names of the "influential members on the Executive Committee who are afraid some of their pet houses of prostitution may be interfered with." "Let the galled jade wince."

If there are any such members on the committee to them I refer. If there are no such members on said committee then I refer to none. The language of my letter would certainly indicate that I did not intend to include all of the members of the Executive Committee. I thank you for informing me of the names of the Executive Committee, many of whom are most excellent citizens of this city and county. However, I will inform you that I was familiar with the personnel of the committee before writing the aforesaid letter, and knew whereof I spoke.

Very respectfully,

[Signed] RALPH F. GRAHAM.

P. S.—By the way, Judge, our old friendship and acquaintanceship emboldens me to inquire what is your personal interest in this matter, anyway?

[Signed] R. F. G.

stag affair, according to advance information.

Day after tomorrow an automobile tour of the beaches and neighboring points of interest will be tendered officers of the brigade. Capt. James Irvine, commanding Co. B, Engineers' Corps, N.G.C., is in charge of the tour.

There will be a dance for the enlisted men and their ladies at Shrine Auditorium Wednesday evening.

Physical examinations of the Seventh Regiment personnel began yesterday. The doctors are working overtime and hope to complete their task by Monday evening in time to start on the Second Regiment Tuesday.

WHERE THE CHICKENS?

The chicken dinner scheduled for this evening's meal in the Seventh's camp threatens to be mostly stew. Up to a late hour last night but fifty chickens and $15 in cash had been received at the Chamber of Commerce. If the unexpected happens there will be enough to carry out the original scheme of giving each company in the Seventh Regiment thirty-five chickens, but in all probability the companies will have to draw lots to see who gets the supply on hand.

Stanley Baker, vocational director for the Portland (Or.) Y.M.C.A., who has just returned from a tour of the army camps along the border, visited the camp in Exposition Park yesterday and inspected the Y.M.C.A. tent there. Mr. Baker says these recreation tents have done wonderful work in keeping the soldiers away from the "dives" along the border. There are about fifty border Y.M.C.A.'s maintained at present, he says.

The Second Regiment busied itself pitching camp yesterday, following its arrival late Tuesday night and will take up routine work today. Col. Pond expects to establish a record for time in making out property returns and invoices and instructed the various company officers to "speed up."

MOTHER DIES IN EAST.

Charles H. McGwire, [illegible] chief engineer of the Board of Public Utilities, received news from Chicago yesterday of the sudden death of his mother, who was visiting relatives there. She was 74 years of age. The funeral will be held at Monmouth, Iowa.

You men! get a Grand Prix Autopiano, tomorrow: take 3 years' time to make your payments

THIS AD IS ADDRESSED to men. We want to talk to men, and men only: for two minutes. For we have something to say of vital interest to men; especially to tired and worn out business and professional men.

We want to call the attention of men to the benefits of playing a player-piano as a means for resting jaded bodies and breaking nerves. Of seating oneself quietly at a player-piano and playing the tuneful music one loves best to hear.

Music is restful, Music is a solace; it soothes; it comforts; it cheers; it puts one "on one's feet." This is doubly true when one produces music for himself. To produce music for oneself doubles its enjoyment—and it is right at this point that we want to speak to men about the Grand Prix Autopiano.

Here is a de luxe player-piano: the flower of the great Autopiano Company's line.

It is a player-piano so simple with its playing parts that you can with fifteen minutes' practice, produce far better music than the average hand performer.

With an hour's practice you can play well.

Within a day or so you can play with marked expression, bringing out every desired tone effect, like the most capable pianists.

Operas, famous waltzes and old songs, will roll out under your guidance, better played by far than if played by hand by the average hand performer.

Here, then, is rest and solace and inspiration.

And if you men realized what it really meant to you, every Grand Prix Autopiano remaining on our floors would be snapped up tomorrow.

Now, we had but 42 Grand Prix Autopianos, to begin with. Nearly half of these have already been sold.

is the pre-arranged price of the Grand Prix de luxe model Autopiano. This superlative instrument can be procured only during this sale, and when our limited allotment is sold, it will never be offered for sale again. Terms will be arranged to suit your convenience, your payments being extended over a period of three full years

These instruments are being distributed at $495 each. Examine them. Examine them critically, and you will quickly see that they could easily bring $650, in comparison with other player-pianos selling at $650.

Therefore you have the distinct advantage of a 150 dollar saving in procuring one, to say nothing of the distinction attached to owning the finest de luxe player-piano ever built, of which the number for a world market has been limited to a production of but 2000 instruments.

Terms and Conditions of Sale

While the price of the Grand Prix Autopiano is exceedingly low ($495), as compared to the prevailing player-piano prices, the one big stroke of liberal dealing in this sales plan is giving purchasers the advantage of the low cash price, with the privilege of taking 3 years' time to make their payments. This means that you may make a small convenient payment, in cash, at the time you make your selection, and divide the balance into equal monthly, quarterly or semi-annual payments, extending over a period of 3 full years, and still enjoy the $495 price.

Every Grand Prix Autopiano is sold under the unreserved guarantee of "FULLEST SATISFACTION, THE PRIVILEGE OF EXCHANGING OR YOUR MONEY BACK."

1. Your money back within 30 days.
2. Privilege to exchange at full price any time within 6 months.
3. Unconditional and unreserved guarantee for 5 years from date of purchase.

Note: Included with the Grand Prix Autopiano without extra cost, is a bench or chair to match the instrument, and your choice of 20 rolls of music from our big Free Library.

McLeish as bridesmaids, and little Katherine Kyle completed the array of femi-nine attaches as flower girl. Dr. A. C. McLeish, as best man, and Messrs. Frank Powell, P. D. Rowan and Ar-thur Mace completed the party.

The bride, who walked to the al-tar alone, was resplendent in an im-ported marquise lace gown designed with seed pearls. She wore a hand-made veil of lace and carried gar-denias and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Harvey, the latter a sister of the bride, gave the wedding breakfast at their residence, No. 627 Western avenue, and later the happy couple depart-ed for their honeymoon, to be spent partly at Del Monte and at other northern points.

Mrs. Reynolds is the daughter of the late William M. Mathews and a niece of Gen. John R. Mathews, vice-president of the Security Na-tional Bank, both of the principals' families being prominent in this part of the State.

In Coronado.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Lothian have gone down to Coronado with their guest, Miss Dorcas Bier of Ohio, for whom Mrs. Ethel Thomas of Ho-tel del Coronado is complimenting with several affairs this week.

A Sorority Affair.

The Entre Nous sorority girls en-tertained with a dance at their lodge, No. 745 West Twenty-eighth street, on Friday evening. The hostesses were Misses Ann McDon-ald, Freda Martens, Elizabeth Sny-der, Mary Wilkes, Gertrude Pentland, Marie Briggs, Nita Watson, Dorothy Dyer, Margaret Porter, Helen Brush, Grace Witherell, Ella Mayo, Jessie Grieve, Else Behymer, Moselle Tay-lor and Aileen Rennison.

Announce Marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amos Van-derburg announce the marriage of their daughter Julia to George De-catur Milligan. The interesting event was solemnized Tuesday at the Church of the Messiah by Rev. How-ard D. French.

Their Home Ready.

In a decorative scheme of pink roses, Miss Virginia Earle Lynch and Norval T. Horton, Jr., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lynch of No. 2216 West Twenty-first street, on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, by Rev. E. P. Ryland. Only the fam-ilies and closest friends were bidden to the ceremony. Miss Anna Hook and Miss Hazel Jones, in frocks of pale pink, attended the bride, and Leslie Lynch stood with the groom, his prospective brother-in-law. White will-o'-the-wisp was made into an exquisite bridal gown, with the usual accessories and tulle veil, and the bride carried a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies, which were thrown to the bridesmaids later in counterpart bouquets.

Following a fortnight's honey-moon, Mr. and Mrs. Horton are to take possession of their own new home in Pasadena, where the groom is established in business.

Local Artists.

An old-fashioned Halloween party and dance, with old-time sports, will be given at Ye Alpine Tavern, Mt. Lowe, Saturday evening. A special programme in the new music-room will be rendered by Miss Naomi G. Sweeney, whistling soloist; Miss Berenice Marcher, singer and crea-tive dancer; and Roy E. McKibben, accompanist.

Miss Sweeney is a Pasadena girl who has been complimented by John Philip Sousa for the birdlike quality of her notes. She and Miss Marcher have just completed an engagement as soloists with the Los Angeles La-dies' Orchestra on a tour through the northern part of the State, where they won favorable comment.

FIRST DRAMA NIGHT.

Y.W.C.A. Class Gives a Successful Play.

The first drama night of the Young Woman's Christian Associa-tion, at which "The Maker of Dreams" was presented by Miss Florence Brown, Max Pollock and Lawrence Tibbett, drew a packed house, and was a success in every way.

After the presentation, Mrs. Eu-gene T. Pettigrew spoke on the sub-ject of the drama and referred to the piece just presented as a play that fulfilled the three essentials of drama, "unity of time, place and ac-tion."

Two groups were formed for fu-ture study, one for the reading and writing of plays, the other for the presentation. There will be a meet-ing of the latter group at 6:30 Mon-day evening at the association rooms. No tuition is charged for the drama study, but it is confined to mem-bers of the association.

Get in Ahead.

Telephone your Sunday ads. to The Times Fri-day or early Saturday.

Miss Vinna Mildred Young,

Who will leave today for San Francisco to sail on the steamship Venzuela for China, where she will be music instructor in the American School at Shanghai. At the end of three years she is to return to marry George Hampton, son of a prominent Fullerton rancher. Her finance, now a medical student in this city, will have finished his course by that time.

Barrett Murder.

if he cuts out again he will not come back again, and this time I am go-ing to pat him on the back and try to get myself in a better shape.

It is easy enough for (attorney's name) to say there is no danger of losing out, but if I was beat in court I would be the loser, not ——. And I certainly want some-thing for what I have put up with.

There is $140 in interest to be paid March 14, and I cannot pay it, also other bills. I am going to try and get the trust deed removed, and then I won't have to worry. And I don't think he will last many years at the rate he is going. No, dear, I do not know what you will say or think of this move, but I am doing the best I can to get myself in a better shape, and I am paying very dearly for all I will ever get. There is a lot of things I want to say, but do not care to write. You ask me if I have gotten a "divorce" from you and other things. Now, I am putting up with a good many dis-agreeable things here, and you should know that I have plenty to worry me. I am sorry that I ever undertook this job, but I am going to finish it now. And you will have to be patient. Or tell me you are tired and want to quit the bunch. And I could not blame you if you did. There are others as good or better, perhaps, that you could get. I sometimes think you are foolish to bother your head about me.

Now for God's sake be careful about your letters. Address to box 282 without name. You will get by my letters I have been writing I am getting all of yours and answering them promptly. Don't send any let-ters in the name of B. or wire in that name.

When you come down we will have a talk and see what we can plan for the future. Let me hear from you as often as you can.

As ever yours, with love and kisses, your sweetheart,

LILLIAN.

In the County Jail last night it was suggested to Barrett that per-haps he did not kill his wife. "You may have worried over her disap-pearance and merely thought you killed her," he was told.

"Well, there has been a big mis-take if that's true," he said. "I think I killed her. In fact, I seem to remember placing her body in the fire. I think I killed the boy, too, but I don't remember some things. I think I killed her in the back lot near the fire. Now, they tell me that I killed her in the sta-ble, and maybe I did. I don't re-member putting the bones in the vault, but maybe I did. I seem to remember washing my hands after the accident. Tomorrow maybe my mind will be clearer. I don't want to tell anything but the truth."

FORBES ARRESTED.

George Forbes, lead miner and movink-picture employee, named as "the other man" in the mystery, was taken into custody last night by De-tective Charlie Jones on a tech-nical charge of suspicion. The ar-rest was made on an order of Dep-uty District Attorney Clark, who is handling the investigation for Dist.-Atty. Fredericks. The prisoner was taken into custody at his hotel, the Spencer, shortly after 5 o'clock yes-terday, and placed in the City Jail.

Deputy Clark stated that the ar-rest of Forbes was caused by the fact that Forbes either could not or would not give a satisfactory account of himself and his movements last Wednesday. Mr. Clark stated that he had reason to question Forbes and sent for him, but that instead of calling at the District Attorney's office Forbes went directly to the office of Attorney Charles Barrett, a cousin of the alleged murderer, and remained there until after the District Attorney's office closed. Clark also declares that when at a later time he sought to question Forbes the latter made misleading replies, evaded direct answers and would not tell where he was Wednes-day.

"In addition to our general suspi-cions, and in justice to Forbes, it was deemed best to place him under ar-rest," said Deputy Clark. "Forbes may be an important witness, even if not an accessory after the fact. Forbes made love to Mrs. Barrett after her marriage to Barrett, ac-cording to his own admission, and then became a party to ruining old man Barrett's peace of mind by sell-ing his wife's letters, in which her guilt was betrayed. In addition, when we taxed Barrett with having an accomplice and told him that Forbes was under arrest, the old man collapsed, although he refused to admit that he did have an accom-plice."

Forbes, in the City Jail, laughed at the charges. He declared that he was "as clean as a whistle" and had no part in the crime. He said that his presence in Los Angeles at this time was merely a coincidence.

The manner in which Barrett's attorneys became possessed of Forbes's alleged love letters, writ-ten by Mrs. Barrett, is this. At-torney Charles Barrett, cousin of the prisoner was interested in sav-ing Benton Barrett's property. Ben-ton Barrett had transferred an un-divided one-half interest in his Santa Monica property to his wife, and recovered it, supposedly by in-triguing Mrs. Barrett into a com-promising position.

Attorney Barrett learned that Mrs. Barrett was writing to Forbes and made an effort to get the cor-respondence in order that Barrett could defend a suit to quiet title to the property and also secure a divorce. It appeared that Barrett had once befriended a close friend of Forbes. This friend went to Forbes, pointed out the injustice be-ing worked on the aged man and se-cured permission to use the letters in a divorce suit and in helping Barrett to keep the title to his home. Forbes declares he did not receive any financial benefit from delivering the letters and that he did so, not because of sympathy for Barrett, or hatred of his wife, but to pay an obligation to the friend. This friend, under obligation to Charles Barrett, was not interested in either Mr. or Mrs. Benton L. Bar-rett.

Dr. E. B. Hoag, alienist for the county probation department, to-gether with Investigator Walter C. Fisher of the District Attorney's of-fice, visited Barrett in the jail yes-terday and made a thorough ex-amination of the prisoner. Dr. Hoag refused to express an opinion on the mental condition of the prisoner, other than to say he is ap-parently sane on most subjects. Dr. Hoag was not sure as to whether or not the man is suffering from a mental disease that might have a manifestation in one particular line. The investigation will be extended over a period of days in an effort to arrive at an opinion of his real condition.

LITTLE THEATER OPENING NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT.

By Grace Kingsley.

The Little Theater, which will open next Tuesday night, has been redecorated throughout. The stage settings will be beautiful and artis-tic. Richard Ordynski is directing, and the production of "Nju" prom-ises to be an event in theatrical cir-cles.

"Nju" is Really "New."

"Nju," by the way, is pronounced "new." Nju is the name of the heroine. Dramatic writers of Los Angeles have struggled with this name. The press agent himself in-quired whether it had anything to do with the little creature classified in zoology as the "gnu," and one paper printed it "N.J.U.," as if it were the name of a lodge.

The play is a translation from the Russian and is one of the strongest dramas ever penned. It is famous in Russia and, while it deals with Russian conditions, speaking from a physical standpoint, it is said to have a strong universal appeal in its essential drama.

Another Film Aggregation.

The story has just leaked out con-cerning a big film concern backed by Los Angeles capital and formed for the purpose of producing pic-tures in Los Angeles. It was incor-porated under the laws of Nevada with a capitalization of $250,000. The combination has an option on two studios in Hollywood.

Further report says that the com-pany will hire its own theater and besides pictures will present other attractions.

Hospital Note.

Richard Ordynski, who is direct-ing the production of "Nju," was slightly injured yesterday morning. He wrenched his knee while hasten-ing up the steps of the theater. A doctor at once attended him, after which he resumed supervision of rehearsals.

Nell Flits.

Nell Shipman has gone to New York to join friend husband Ernest Shipman, who is conducting a motion-picture agency for Mabel Condon.

June's Best.

Little June Caprice is appearing at the Alhambra this week in her most charming photoplay, "The Rag-ged Princess."

Loves Out-of-Doors.

Margaret Edwards, whose dance in the Winter Garden show at the Mason is one of the most striking features of the performance, is a fresh-air fiend. She never orders a room at a hotel unless she first as-certains that there is a nice flat roof, where she may carry her blankets and sleep, if so disposed. (No, this column does not know her present address.) She also glories in that ancient and honorable sport, bi-cycle riding. In every town in which she arrives she and Rosie Quinn, who is also addicted to bicy-cle riding, go out searching for a bicycle stable. The two Winter Gar-den stars are spending their mo-ments gliding over the smooth roads of Southern California.

Tagore Approves.

Miss Edwards is in receipt of a great compliment from Tagore, the Hindoo poet. He came to see her performance the other night, and asked to meet the young woman. Having achieved this, he proceeded to tell her that the Arabian dance which she does is entirely correct and as beautifully performed as anything he has ever seen accom-plished even by a native Arabian dancer.

Good Dope Gone Wrong.

Melvin Bartlett, publicity expert of Pantages, is receiving this week in room No. 203 of the Clara Barton Hospital. He has been rusticating in the Ventura mountains, and took a header down a cliff, tearing the ligaments of his right leg badly. It will be some weeks before he as-sumes his usual spry Broadway gait.

"And to think this might just as well have happened to a Pantages actor" moans Bartlett, unselfishly.

Not Afraid of Thirteen.

Because Theda Bara has the re-quired girlish figure, and as sixteenth century costumes seem well suited for the part, she chose gowns of that period rather than the thir-teenth century for the role of Juliet. Anyway, she claims it was her own figure and not the figure thirteen that prompted her choice.

Compensation Note.

The ten California poppies in "A Night at the World's Fair," Sid Grauman's rapid-fire fun show and spectacle at the Majestic, are to dance on the lawn at Exposition Park for the benefit of the California soldiers who just returned from the Mexican border. Many a young man who refused to enlist when the Cali-fornia regiment sent out a call for volunteers will be kicking himself good and hard when he hears of the entertainment provided for the soldiers, and sees photographs of the bewitching maidens.

Peggy Flits.

Peggy Coudray, Universal actress, is now leading woman for Alan Brooks, whose act made such a hit at the Orpheum a few weeks ago. The change of leading women re-sulted from a quarrel between Mr. Brooks and Leah Peck, who played the feminine role in "Dollars and Sense," when it was here.

Orpheum.

Frederick V. Bowers, author of many song hits, as well as several well known light operas, will head-line the new Orpheum bill opening Monday. In presenting a song revue of his best known numbers, Mr. Pow-ers has hit upon the original idea of mounting it with full scenic equip-ment and costumes. Thus he makes a new production every time a song goes on.

Others on the bill are Walter Brower, in a novel monologue act, said to be somewhat reminiscent of Ezra Kendall; the Morlin sisters, dancers; the Lunette sisters, geisha girl dancers, and the holdovers, in-cluding the lovely dance pantomimes of Miss Evan-Burrows Fontaine and company, the sketch, "Honor Thy Children," Webb and Burns, and De-marest and Collette.

Here and Near.

SHOW WORLD REVIEW.

SPECTACULAR SHOWS CATCH THE POPULAR TASTE.

The reopening of the Little The-ater is announced positively for next Tuesday. The careful and exacting Richard Ordynski has finally suc-ceeded in getting the Russian drama "Nju" into such shape that it is now ready for presentation. "Nju" is said to be a play of everyday life, written by Ossip Dymow in that brilliantly clever style characteriz-ing European drama. Its theme is sensational, but its drama will, it is declared, reach the core of hu-man experience.

Ordynski is always revolutionary in his ideas of staging his produc-tions. A feature of the present one in this connection is the fact that he does away with the old, familiar three-room cross-section, and yet conveys to the audience the impres-sion that they are witnessing the dramatic incidents which are hap-pening in three separate and dis-tinct places at the same time.

The company includes Irving Pichel, Joe King, Herbert Heron, Kira Markham and Ann Andrews.

Mason.

Possessing almost the magnitude of a three-ring circus, "A World of Pleasure," now playing at the Mason Operahouse, is the largest girl show ever seen west of Chicago. Scen-ically the offering is said to lead any other Winter Garden show of recent years. There are nine huge scenes unfolded in its two acts, which run the gauntlet from an up-to-date metropolitan employment agency to a huge congress of the soldiers of all nations.

There are only four more per-formances of "A World of Pleas-ure."

Clune's Auditorium.

"Intolerance," the great Griffith picture production, is packing Clune's Auditorium at every per-formance. The mighty spectacle, with its four gripping stories run-ning parallel to each other, contin-ues to hold its audiences spell-bound.

It is not alone the tremendous battle scenes, the gripping histories of ancient days, told with the keen-est realism ever pictured on the screen, which is holding the crowds, for the stories are vital and absorb-ing, and their appeal is universal.

The third week of "Intolerance" will open next Monday afternoon.

Woodley.

"The Heir to the Hoorah," star-ring Thomas Meighan and Anita King, is proving one of the strong-est and most pleasing attractions the Woodley has ever had. The photoplay is adapted from the Paul Armstrong drama, the screen adap-tation preserving the charm and suspense of the original. Thomas Meighan gives a vitally interesting impersonation of Joe Lacy and Anita King is thoroughly in the spirit of the role of Mrs. Joe.

Next week the great Japanese ac-tor, Sessue Hayakawa, will be seen in "The Soul of Kura-San," said to be his best picture play. Many of the scenes are laid in Japan, others in New York. The story is tensely interesting, having to do with the tribulations and adventures of two Japanese lovers.

Burbank.

"Old Heidelberg," with Edith Lyle and Joseph Galbraith in the leading roles, is proving one of the most popular plays ever produced at the Burbank. The settings are of un-usually fine quality, and furnish an adequate background to the excel-lent work of the company. The singing of the twenty-five students is a delightful feature of the play.

George Broadhurst's famous comedy, "Why Smith Left Home," is now being rehearsed by A. Burt Wesner, and will have an early pro-duction at the Burbank.

Morosco.

"A Full House" is living up to its name by packing the Morosco this week. The farce is full of bright lines and amusing stituations, and is cleverly handled by the Morosco players. Maude Fealy, Douglas MacLean, Edmund Lowe, Lola May, James Corrigan and others are mak-ing individual hits.

Beginning Sunday afternoon the attraction will be the New York suc-cess, "The Dummy." One of the principal roles is that of a boy de-tective, and Charles Barton, a child actor of note, has been engaged for the part.

Majestic.

"A Night at the World's Fair," the Sid Grauman show, at the Majestic, appears to have settled down for a run. The spectacle, with its big va-riety of vaudeville acts, and its real-istic reproduction of certain attrac-tions of the San Francisco fair, has caught the public fancy.

Sixty players appear during the progress of the novel entertainment, and the Aloha Twins, the Grand Opera Four and the California Pop-pies and other features are proving a big hit.

The second week of the play will begin next Sunday afternoon.

Pantages.

Headed by Boyle Woolfolk's "Junior Follies," the act that bears the same relation to vaudeville that Ziegfeld's productions have to Broadway, the Pantages Road Show will hold the boards next week, th. names on the programme reading like the list of an all-star cast. The "Follies" act is a small show by its self. A score of youngsters present song, dance, comedy and novelty numbers of the highest order, while the staging and costuming are es-pecially good. There are five scenes through which romp a bevy of the cutest girls that have ever come to the Coast. Romaine Fielding, the famous film star, will share head-line honors in a dramatic sketch, "The Heart of a Man."

After his Pantages engagement, Mr. Fielding will return to pictures.

Hippodrome.

The Hippodrome promises a bright fun bill next week.

Courtenay and Jeannette open with some comedy juggling tricks; Hickoks and Gage, a couple of street urchins, will give novelty songs. Others on the bill will be the Graham Moffet Players in a Scitch comedy playlet, "The Concealed Bed;" Foster and Levett, in a laugh act; "Those Three Girls," in song and instrumental surprises; Billy Broad, mintsrel; Olivette and Moffet and Clare, a trio of sensa-tional dancers.

Miller's.

Theda Bara is delighting her many admirers at Miller's Theater this week, where she is appearing as Juliet in the colorful William Fox picturization of "Romeo and Juliet." It is needless to dilate upon Miss Bara's eminent fitness for portray-ing before the camera the intense-ly-tragic character of Verona's fair-est maid, for she makes Juliet a fascinating and delightful figure throughout the story. The settings are both rich and fitting, among the most attractive being the fate-ful masquerade ball, the beautiful balcony scene and views of the great city of Verona. A strong and well-balanced cast has been gathered around the great star, including Har-ry Hilliard, who gives an excellent presentation of the role of Romeo; Walter Law, Glen White, John Webb Dillion, Einar Linden, Elwin Eaton, Edwin Holt, Alice Gale, Victory Bateman, and about 2500 supers and minor characters.

Bertha Kalich is to appear, begin-ning Sunday, supported by Stuart Holmes and Jane and Katherine Lee, in "Love and Hate."

Superba.

"War's Women," said to be one of the most stupendous picture pro-ductions ever turned out of the Ince studios, will be the attraction at the Superba, commencing Monday. The story deals in a startlingly-realistic way with events which are supposed to happen in a war-ridden nation, especially as regards the way the war affects the status of women. A breathlessly-dramatic situation is evolved, when choice is given the men of a community to yield up the treasures of their city, with an attack on and probable sacrifice of their women, assembled in a con-vent, as the alternative.

"Through the Wall," the thrilling detective tale featuring Nell Ship-man, is proving a tremendous at-traction this week.

Clune's Broadway.

In "A Sister of Six" Bessie Love is finding the best dramatic expres-sion of her screen career. The story is a romance of the West, and has to do with the plot of Mexican bandits to steal the land from seven little children of a family on whose land gold is discovered. There are pic-turesque and vivid battle scenes, and in the course of the story Miss Love does some surprisingly strong emo-tional acting.

The Fine Arts kiddies furnish many delightful comedy episodes.

The picture is meeting with de-served success.

"The Man Who Would Not Die" is to be the attraction next week.

Alhambra.

June Caprice and Baby Jane Lee are the stars who are appearing at the Alhambra this week in a rare gem of a story called "The Ragged Princess." This is a tale of youth and sweetness filled to overflowing with romance and kindly humor.

Most of the laughable hits in the comedy drama are supplied by tiny Miss Jane Lee, the child actress. A big supporting company and a pro-duction that is both realistic and beautiful help to make this one of the best pictures of its kind ever shown on a screen.

Ford Sterling in a Mack Sennett produced Triangle-Keystone, "His Lying Heart," is the added attrac-tion.

Tally's Broadway.

Beautiful Edna Mayo in "The Re-turn of Eve," a charming bucolic photoplay, is proving one of the strongest attractions Tally's Broad-way has shown in some time. It is a delightful story of two young people, who were adopted in early life by an eccentric uncle, and brought up in pristine innocence, un-til it was found necessary to take them to the city. How they find the world unsatisfying, and return to their old home, gives opportunity for many appealing scenes.

Commencing Monday, the attrac-tion will be Clara Kimball Young in "The Common Law," adapted from the Robert W. Chambers novel of the same name.

Garrick.

"Idle Wives" is the title of the exceedingly gripping photoplay at the Garrick this week. The film features Mary MacLaren and Lois Weber, who give exceedingly vivid interpre-tations in this drama of realism dealing with certain social problems of modern life. The work of Miss MacLaren in this play is winning her many new admirers. The produc-tion is superbly staged and well photographed.

Palace.

"Fifty-Fifty," starring Norma Tal-madge, is drawing packed houses at the Palace this week. The story is a thrilling one of the "eternal triangle," well presented by the ex-cellent company.

Slim Summerville in "The Winning Punch," is the Keystone attraction.

"Louise Glaum, in "Somewhere in France," will be the feature next week. Mack Swain in "Vampire Am-brose" will furnish the laughs.

Symphony.

Lovers of romantic drama are finding delight at the Symphony Theater this week, where the great-est Shakespeare love play, "Romeo and Juliet," done in film form, is the feature. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne have the name parts. This picture is without doubt the most lavish ever staged by the Metro company, and was produced at enor-mous cost. It disproves the old idea that the works of the Bard of Avon could not be adapted to the screen.

Mr. Bushman, as Romeo, does the best work of his career in this drama, while Miss Bayne also de-serves much credit for her superb characterization of Juliet. The prin-cipals in the play are actors and ac-tresses with notable reputations in Shakespeare roles.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Trading in Wall street was of a highly professional character, as evidenced by the extraordinary activity of issues having only potential or future value. Foreign and international issues again contributed to the irregularity of bonds.

CARRANZA TO VAMOOSE?

Senor Carranza has sent his wife over the border for safety among the "despised gringos," and rumor has it that he is getting ready to dash across himself. He has good reasons for believing that he has at least one friend in the United States and no doubt thinks that Wilson's recognition will do him more good in the United States than it did in Mexico.

COMPULSORY COOKING.

In Schleswig-Holstein any cook who peels potatoes and throws away the peelings, by order of the burgomaster is liable to a penalty of six months in jail. If spuds become scarcer in that province possibly heavy fines will be imposed for not cooking the skins, tops, eyes and all of the succulent potato. We have heard of cheese-paring economy, but this potato-peeling legislation tells a real tale of want.

WASTE PAPER.

Strictly speaking, waste paper no longer exists. New York has just sold from its city records alone $500 worth of useless printed matter to junk dealers at public auction. The demand for paper pulp is so great that even rejected manuscripts, Congressional Records, bureau reports, political pamphlets and all the huge mass of printed but unread literature have now a marketable value. For if the written words are not worth preserving, the paper is.

THE PRICE OF PEACE.

Holland's naval appropriations for 1917 are $125,000,000. And we have a five-year programme involving the expenditure of $600,000,000 on our navy. Spain is even now passing a naval appropriation bill.

In Lord Roberts's posthumous article he hoped that the neutrals were profiting by the lessons of the war. It seems that we are. We all wish to avoid being misunderstood when next an authoritative voice assures the world we are too proud to fight. But the price of peace comes high.

NO WOMEN DEFAULTERS.

In response to an anti-suffragist who said that if women were given the vote they would run for office, a Kansas defender of the proposed amendment to the United States Constitution giving the women of the land equal political rights with men rejoined that in Kansas, where women have the vote and occasionally hold office, there has never been a woman official who defaulted or embezzled public funds or who was short in her accounts. God bless 'em!

CRIPPLING INDUSTRY.

Supporters of the two prohibition amendments assert that so long as grapes can be turned into raisins the elimination of the wineries need not spell disaster for the vineyardists. You might as well argue that so long as a railroad company can carry passengers the prohibition of its freight traffic would not be a hardship. The Employers' Liability Act provides compensation for a workman crippled in the service of his employer. Should not a vineyardist be compensated, too, if crippled by the act of the State that hitherto encouraged him in his special enterprise?

A RETORT DISCOURTEOUS.

Viscount Grey, Great Britain's Secretary of Foreign Affairs, says that in all peace plans Englishmen must never forget the real cause of the war. How can they forget something that neither they nor anybody else ever knew? One is reminded of an incident in the career of a British statesman who, at the close of a speech, dramatically uplifted his right arm and exclaimed: "When I forget this may my God forget me!" Whereupon an opposition member spoiled the situation by exclaiming amid roars of laughter: "He never will forget you. He will see you damned first!"

DEMOCRATIC INCONSISTENCY.

On this Pacific Coast there is unyielding opposition to the admission of cheap labor from Japan or China, because the American laborer and his friends do not want American citizens to be forced to compete with men who maintain lower standards of living and who, as a consequence, can force the American to take lower wages or go idle. And the whole nation stands with the people of the Pacific Coast in opposition to the admission of coolie labor.

But, strange as it may seem, there is a considerable body of our citizens, Democrats, who believe in the policy of admitting freely to our markets the product of coolie labor produced or manufactured in Asia. That is rank Democratic inconsistency.

If we shut out, as we do, the coolie laborer because he would force the American worker to accept a lower standard of living, why should we freely admit the product of his labor?

Yet that is what the Democratic anti-protection policy means.

THE ELECTION RESULTS.

That the people will not be fooled all the time and have reached the point where they will no longer give credence to the shoutings of reform-mad agitators was one of the things demonstrated in yesterday's election. In decisively defeating amendment No. 3, which provided for a freakish borough system, the electors showed good judgment, and it is to be hoped, since a similar proposition now has been thrice voted down, that it will be considered dead.

The overwhelming majorities given to amendments Nos. 1 and 2—the former providing for consolidation of city and county tax and Assessor's office and the second consolidating special city elections (of which Los Angeles probably has more than any other municipality) indicate the interest taken by the taxpayers in matters affecting their financial and economic status. Both amendments were particularly desirable, as they will make possible the saving of a large amount of money annually and will prove of great convenience.

While it was the consensus of opinion among financial experts that amendment No. 13 (granting the Harbor Commission authority to enter into emergency contracts) and amendment No. 14 (abolishing the reserve fund and permitting the city to borrow money in anticipation of revenues) were desirable, the voters are not to be criticised for their repudiation of the two propositions. By their action they further demonstrated their aversion to any new measures that will slacken the city's purse-strings. Under proper administration the moneys provided for in the two amendments would have been spent judiciously; but the voters have learned from bitter experience the inadvisability of taking any step that might increase the burdens they now are carrying. It is only hoped that they will continue the exercise of such discretion.

So far as the general welfare of the city is concerned it mattered not whether several of the amendments were ratified or rejected. They are of no consequence and no one was hurt by the action taken.

Personal pride and the desire of our citizens to do unto others as they would be done by no doubt defeated the slaughter-house ordinance. The measure provided for the location of slaughter-houses in certain of the recently-annexed districts and was defeated by upwards of 10,000 votes.

In decreeing that devotees of the terpsichorean art must go to the beaches or other outside pleasure resorts if they would dance in public places where liquors are served the voters did not take into consideration the financial side of the question. They opposed the proposition because they believed its effect would be harmful to the public morals. They were largely in the majority and their decision must be gracefully accepted by all concerned.

EARL GREY MAKES COMPARISONS.

On Tuesday, October 17, Earl Grey, in discussing the submarine question in the House of Lords, stated to the peers that in the Spanish War the British navy stood between the United States navy and the German fleet at Manila. He compared this action with that of the American war vessels, which, according to his account of it, on being requested by a German submarine to get out of the way so as to allow the submarine to send a torpedo at a defenseless British merchantman, promptly complied with the request. He gave no authority for this statement other than his unsubstantiated word. He further stated that two years ago the United States government asked the British government not to patrol American coasts and that thereupon British naval officers were carefully instructed to avoid causing unnecessary irritation and to comply, as far as possible, with the request of the United States government. If this statement of Earl Grey is true he should have added to it that the British naval officers disobeyed their instructions. He further intimated that when a German submarine was in an American port the United States did not take precaution to prevent its officers from obtaining information as to movements of British merchant vessels off the coast, although information was as much contraband of war as munitions or food; and the fact that it was contraband authorized the British government to seize and examine American mails and detain letters containing such information. It may be true that very close scrutiny—which our government was not called upon to make—into the cargoes of outgoing ships might have prevented the exportation of food, the ultimate destination of which was the stomachs of German women and children, and likewise the exportation of bombs intended to be fired from British cannon into the bodies of German soldiers. But how in the name of common sense could our government—even if inclined—have prevented the officers of the Deutschland, which submarine merchantman had an unquestionable right to enter and depart from the port of Baltimore, from obtaining information while there as to movements of British merchant vessels off the coast? And how could it have padlocked their lips and inoculated their fingers with pen paralysis so that they could not impart the information they obtained?

FOR FEWER AND BETTER LAWS.

Half a dozen laws, enforced to the letter, will constitute a safe and secure government; a hundred laws, by their complication and extravagance incapable of strict enforcement, will bring the best established government into disrepute.

Is not disrespect, in some cases almost contempt, for most of the recent statutes passed by the States too manifest already among all classes of our citizens? Too much law in time becomes almost as disastrous as no law at all. Extremes meet.

In Washington and in Sacramento we should have legislators who will enforce a few good strong laws instead of a collection of faddists turning out new ordinances in such numbers that it has become impossible for any authority to enforce effectively one tithe of them. We say that only lawlessness in the long run is encouraged by overlegislation, by seeking to do through government control things that each citizen should be trained to do on his own initiative.

Every time a statute is inadequately administered some respect for law and order is lost. Our lawmakers—national and municipal, need to do some heavy pruning on the legislative tree, rather than to intensify the already stifling growth of cumbersome branches. We are beginning to resemble the parents who hedge their children about with lots of restrictions they know the children will secretly laugh at. In each case either a spoiled child or a spoiled citizen is the result of the process.

Comparisons are sometimes instructive. During the last decade, according to the Spokane Review, this nation has written 62,550 new laws into the statute book. In the same period the British Parliament enacted only 1600 laws and the German Reichstag even fewer than this. Yet the brand of German citizenship produced under a few laws—every one of which is a law to the letter—has been amply evidenced in the cruel stress of a relentless war. Under the same conditions, would our over-legislated-for citizens stand the test as well?

With us lawmaking lately has become a mania and in consequence has ceased to be a science. A poor law is more demoralizing than no law at all. The idea that every legislator has failed in his duty unless he has fathered two or three pet measures that only cumber the statute book is a fallacy we cannot rid ourselves of too speedily. Under a President who has had practical experience in enforcing the laws and who understands that a law without dignity soon loses its authority we shall ensure better government than under a theoretical schoolmaster who thinks the same kind of rules applied in the classroom are good enough for a nation of a hundred million people.

The time has come for repealing obsolete and ineffective laws. Enforcement, not increase, of statutes and ordinances should, for a change, be the chief duty of all legislative bodies. Our legal system is so complicated, in many instances so contradictory, that experienced judges have a herculean task to apply it consistently. For the public litigation has nearly resolved itself into an expensive game of chance and hazard. And the more we multiply our laws the harder it will be for those not blessed with a long pocketbook to apply to the courts for justice. For the more we multiply our laws the greater will be the delays and the complications and the expense of the proceedings.

THE NEW MENACE.

According to Dr. Woods Hutchinson of New York there are other menaces to humanity than flies, alcohol, cafe dancing, cigarettes, rats and improper movies. He has just come out with solemn warning against dogs. The friend of man is, he declares, a serious germ-carrier. Humans and dogs cannot healthily occupy the same city.

Indeed, it would seem that the good doctor would like to see us swatting the dog as enthusiastically as we swat the fly. Alas, poor Towser and alas, poor Fido! The doctor can see no good in them. Mere germ carriers for the human race—this is his ultimate verdict against them after centuries of loyal affection. Shade of Llewellyn!

Menace discovery appears to be the main interest of the age; and the extermination of menaces the fashionable recreation. We shall soon have the feminists advocating the extermination of man as the archmenace of femininity. And numerous male writers show a strong disposition to advocate the extermination of the feminists. Whole nations have long since felt that the extermination of their enemies, their menacing commercial and kultur rivals, is the simplest means of settling the problem. Reformers want to exterminate sinners, and sinners certainly want to exterminate reformers. There is no pacifist quite so pacific but he wants somebody or something exterminated. We have long since been assured that the wily fly yearns for nothing so much as the extermination of humanity.

"Big fleas have other fleas upon their backs to bite 'em,
Lesser fleas have smaller fleas and so ad
infinitum."

'Tis a mournful thought. Perhaps if we could get the reformers to divert their attention to doggie for a spell he might be purified into fitness to reside among us. Prohibit his sinful, musty, old bones; deny his criminal taste for scraps; elevate his ideals of good citizenship with night classes; legislate against his amusements and all may yet be well. "Trying it on the dog" has proved eminently successful in other departments of scientific research. If prohibition and legislation can reform doggie, we shall know we are on the right track.

RESENT THE OUTRAGE.

Let it not be forgotten that one of the important questions to be determined by the voters of this country ten days hence is whether the Adamson law and the methods by which its passage was procured shall be approved by voting for Mr. Wilson or disapproved by voting for Mr. Hughes. As was well said by the New York Times, the passage of the Adamson law was a "national humiliation." Interruption of railroad service by a strike would have been a great but transitory inconvenience. The blackmailing of the whole nation under the threat of a strike, the extortion from a nation's legislature of a special act granting the demands of the railway brotherhoods without time to inquire into its justice or its practicability put upon the country an intolerable humiliation. It reduced one hundred million people to a condition of vassalage, no longer permitted to make laws that freely express their will, but held up, as the highwayman's victim is held up, and forced to instant compliance with the terms imposed upon them by the leaders of organizations comprising only 400,000 of their number.

Contributions in money have been extorted from conquered cities by armed force. Unjust laws have been put upon the statute books through the action of factories or groups strong enough to make their political influence felt. But the passage of the Adamson law is the first instance in the history of our government where the Congress of the United States was forced to make a law under threat of a small part of the people to do immeasurable and irreparable injury to the others. If the voters of the country fail to denounce the outrage by voting against the re-election of President Wilson, who caused it to be perpetrated, we have lost our republican form of government.

AVAILABLE PAPER MATERIAL.

Whenever the necessity existed for a new invention American brains have been found equal to the emergency. This has recently been illustrated by the fact that the Department of Agriculture at Washington has recently made discoveries that will prevent a shortage of materials for the manufacture of news-print paper. It has been found that good paper can be made from hemp hurds, a by-product of the hemp fiber industry from which cord is made. Tough paper used in making cement and flour sacks can be made from flax straw, of which 1,500,000 tons are annually burned in in the United States.

Corn stalks, of which 1,000,000 tons per annum are available, may be used in the manufacture of book and printing paper.

Mexican grass, called zacaton, produces a very satisfactory book paper. In fact there are about thirty-five different plant materials which have been investigated by the department for their paper-making value. Among them are corn stalks, broom corn, rice straw, Acebania, Zacaton, Orundo, Danox, hemp stalks, papyrus, hop vines, Eurya Japonica, Lygeum spartum, flax straw, yuccas, hemp hurds and many others.

Experiments with cotton stalks have not thus far given satisfactory results, but the department is encouraged to believe that they may be made available for wrapping paper. Almost any fibrous plant can be used for making some kind of paper.

Two Reminders.

HITS AND MISSES BY OTHER PAPERS.

A Long Course.

[Philadelphia North American:] Useless statistics—it has been estimated that the President's course in Mexico, if extended in a straight line, would encircle the earth three times.

Government Ownership.

[New York Commercial:] If railroads were added to river and harbor improvements and the money for railroads was spent or frittered away as it has been on rivers and harbors and Federal buildings where would we land? We could never stop, because the added millions of public servants with votes would see to it that the appropriations did not decrease.

By What Right?

[Rochester Post-Express:] Mr. Hughes gave defenders of the administration's policies something to think about when he asked what right the present government at Washington had to change American policy as to the protection of American citizens. The Democratic platform in 1912 declared for the protection of American rights abroad, but this protection has been withheld.

Out of Petty Partisanship.

[Buffalo Express (Rep.)] Is it not a pretty long drop from the supposedly high-minded college president of four years ago, who was going to lift government out of petty partisanship, to the very ordinary stump speaker who eulogized the Democratic party and denounced the Republican party at Shadow Lawn on Saturday?

Very Frank; Very Sincere.

[New York Sun:] Wilson composed fine phrases about American and neutral rights, international law, humanity, and uttered them against the German murderers of American citizens; and Bryan sneaked around to Dumba assuring him that they were mere words, for home consumption, not to be treated seriously.

Wilson assailed the hyphenated citizens with a vigor that seemed almost sincere; and Gum Shoe Bill Stone turned up in a beer hall, vainly seeking to placate the hyphenated citizens, assuring them that Wilson is their friend, the guardian of their interests, their refuge in trouble.

Let us have from Shadow Lawn another essay very frank, very sincere, revealing those corpuscles in shouting shape.

The Public Knows.

[New York Herald:] Deception never yet won a Presidential campaign. The Adamson law has become an issue because of Democratic effort to make it appear something it is not. There is not a line in the law that affects in the slightest degree the hours of labor of railway trainmen. It provides an increase in wages for workmen already highly paid—nothing else.

The public knows this. The public also knows that it will have to pay the increase.

Why Not an Eight-quart Bushel?

[Pittsburgh-Chronicle Telegraph:] The president of the Association of Farmers' Union Presidents urges farmers to work for the repeal of the Adamson wage-fixing law for train employees. It doesn't seem to occur to the farmers to go down to Washington and get President Wilson to raise the price of their products under the guise of an eight-hour day.

The Maine Verdict.

[Cleveland Leader:] President Wilson and his followers, thinking bitterly over the results of the Maine election, cannot blame the hyphenates for the smashing blow dealt the administration. There are only a few hundred voters in Maine who are of German origin and still fewer from Austria-Hungary. In that State the foreign-born population is nearly all from Canada or the British Isles. Maine is distinctly an old-stock American State and its verdict is the decision of Americans, without hyphens in fact or in feeling. It expresses the sentiment of a large majority of the people of the United States.

China's Open Door.

[Topeka State Journal:] China's door may still be open, but the way Japan has pricked up her ears over the big American railroad project that is being contemplated in the celestial republic wouldn't so seem to indicate. Japan appears to have voluntarily assumed the role of doorkeeper extraordinary for China. And no doubt the Mikado and his councilors will attempt to dictate just how far the door of China shall be opened to others.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THREATENED MEN.

Doc Whiskers says, "I am not joking when saying you must cut out smoking, or cross to t'other shore." I listen to the admonition of that renowned and learned physician, and then I smoke some more. The docs are fond of threats and bluffing; they like to scare you while they're stuffing their pills into your craw; they like to raise a little riot about your exercise and diet, while brandishing the saw. Long years ago the doctor told me that graveyard vestments would enfold me, unless I ceased to smoke; I heard their rede, then, late and early, I kept on smoking good old burley, and quite forgot to croak. At least a dozen famous surgeons, apothecaries and chirurgeons, have told me of my plight: "Unless you can your old rank briar, the nicotine will knock you higher than Gilroy's famous kite." And still my briar is a fixture; I still consume the Four Flush mixture, and buy it by the pound, the while the docs stand round and threaten, reproaching me that I'm forgettin' I'll soon be underground.

WALT MASON.

THE COMMON LAW.

A Literary Research at a Young Ladies' Select School.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 1.

Dear Mil—Can you get me a copy of a book I want to read? I saw it at the Dunn's this summer, but never got even a chance to look at it—except when it was in a case, or out of my reach somehow. It is "The Common Law" and I forget who wrote it, but it was Elinor Glyn or Robert Chambers or one of those, and I guess it is rather swift, but Alice Becker has read it, and liked it, but says I must keep it out of sight or Miss Corlander will make a fuss. So please buy me one and mail it to me.

Oh, we went to West Point last Saturday and etc., etc. Devotedly,

IRMA.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 6.

Dear Mil—Just a hasty scrawl to let you know the book has arrived, and you are a duck to get it for me. How much did it cost? Let me know and I will send it to you. I don't see how you dared to order it from your father's book-dealers, but I suppose they would furnish anything to him, as he is a judge. But what will he say to you? Doesn't he object to your reading novels of that kind? I'd never dare to let mine know. I have put it under the pillow in my room, but I shall have to take care just the same.

Devotedly,

IRMA.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 7.

Dear Mil—I don't see exactly why Alice Becker said that her mother made a rumpus about her reading this "Common Law" book, and said that girls in her day wouldn't be permitted to do so. I read two chapters in it, after hours last night. We have to have all lights out at 10 o'clock, but Beatrice Madigan—she's my room-mate this year—and I have some pieces of candle, which we keep covered with a fan, and I sat up last night and read it. I can't make it out. Still, perhaps I haven't got into it yet. But Alice said it was about an artist and a beautiful model, and altogether exciting. Maybe it comes later.

Devotedly,

IRMA.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 9.

Dear Mil—Oh, an awful thing has happened. Miss Corlander has "The Common Law!" She came poking round in my room yesterday morning, while I was out, and found it under the pillow. Oh, Mil, I am afraid I shall be expelled. What will I do? Hastily, but devotedly,

IRMA.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 9.

Dearest Mil—It is the strangest thing. Miss Corlander has returned "The Common Law." She brought it back to me just after I wrote that other letter. She asked why I had it under my pillow, and why I was reading it, and a lot of things. I was frightfully scared, and could hardly answer. She said I certainly had strange tastes for a girl of my age, but I don't know what she meant, as she is always awfully sarcastic. Then she remarked that I must be embarking on a legal career—what DO you suppose she meant? And left the book on my desk and went out. What do you think? Devotedly,

IRMA.

GUBB'S FERRY, Oct. 10.

Dear Mil—I cannot understand that book. I read two more chapters last night, and there's nothing at all about the artist and his studio, and the model. In fact, it's rather dry, and I'm not sure I understand it. Some of it is pretty good, and it's very well written, and in beautiful English. But why Alice Becker raved about it so I cannot see. Do you ever see her now? She was going to visit in Garden City this month, I think. If you do see her I wish you would ask her about it. Devotedly,

IRMA.

P. S. Just to make sure, I have copied the front page, where the name is. If you see her, show her it.

Comparative Degrees.

A teacher in a rural school in Massachusetts, according to the New York Times-Magazine, was one day explaining to her class the degrees of comparison of adjectives. To make sure she was understood she called on each pupil in turn to give comparatives and superlatives of adjectives which she named, and got good answers until she asked one little fellow to name the comparative of "sick."

After thinking a moment he said: "worse."

The answer puzzled the teacher, because, although it was not the one she wanted, the pupil had given a comparative. She decided she could best show him his error by letting him go on, and asked sweetly, "Well, if 'worse' is the comparative of 'sick,' what would you give as the superlative?"

"Dead," came the answer without a moment's hesitation.

Japanese Pets.

[Indianapolis News:] Singing insects and reptiles are great pets with the Japanese; and many varieties are caged and trained for the delight of their almond-eyed masters, it being said that Crown Prince Hirohito himself keeps a private stock of kajika, or singing frogs. The favorite singing insect is the kantan, a species of locust, which must always be kept in the shade and never sprinkled with water if it is to vocalize.

The Chicago Cubs will train in Pasadena. Quite an honor for Gem City. It enables it to give haughty and raucous laugh to Angeles.

The football athletes have commenced the training table [illegible] A training table is a collection eats where the rice pudding is ferred to as dessert.

Los Angeles is threatened with a visit of "Billy" Sunday. To cyclone cellars, all ye wicked! don't forget to leave something the collection basket.

Al Jennings, the ex-bandit, will make the race for Governor of Oklahoma again, this time on a dependent ticket. Good-by, take keer o' yourself!

With lady candidates in the field it will be funny to look over expense accounts following a campaign. "Hat for Palms ball, new gown for the reception at Inglewood, $100, etc.

It used to be that [illegible] timid when coming into the city, but now they are the livelier drivers and their automobiles [illegible] miserable for the pedestrians the same as the city "folks."

The constantly-increasing price of women's shoes is alarming. It may come about that the [illegible] to substitute wooden [illegible] footgear is not such a joke after all. The present high [illegible] be very interesting to father.

It is stated that several [illegible] inhabitants of the Island of [illegible] Alaska, never heard of the [illegible] and in some other sections [illegible] mention (the length of the [illegible] cluding its publication [illegible] umn) the attention paid to [illegible] vine teachings would seem [illegible] cate that it lacked the pull [illegible] of the six best sellers.

The Filipinos are to be given [illegible] other measure of self-government in that all of the heads of the various departments are to be Filipinos of that race. Graduates [illegible] will have complete self-government, thanks to the programme put [illegible] tion by the Republicans when the Philippine Islands were taken as a result of the Spanish-American War.

There is a railroad conductor in this town who, under his present arrangements, is able to [illegible] month's salary by using [illegible] twenty out of the thirty days in the month. Under the Adamson law he will be compelled to work eight hours each of the thirty days for the same money. Hence he is for the Wilson administration, but there are others.

During the present administration our trade has increased [illegible] except with the nations at war. Increase in our export trade [illegible] ured exactly by the increase [illegible] caused by the war. No such [illegible] cial fortune ever came to a nation on earth. It is brought by the President and the horrors of war. We have been selling to Europe for forty days an amount sufficient to build the Panama Canal.

A WORD TO YOU.

Don't cry, my little children,
To see the rainbow fade—
A million rainbows, just as gay
Of sun and mist are made.
So run along and play, now,
And dry your weeping eyes—
The sun and rain will bring them back
That wonder in the skies.

Don't wear your life away, [illegible]
About that old sweetheart [illegible]
You have not really lost him,
'Twas best for you to part.
He never can forget you,
Your faith will keep him [illegible]
Though he may wander for a time
He will come back to you.

Don't worry too much, [illegible]
About that wand'ring [illegible]
He cannot wander very far,

On with the dance—somewhere else!

The first step has been taken toward lower taxes.

By the way, what has become of the Crown Prince and how is he holding job in front of Verdun coming on?

This is the last week of the baseball season of the Pacific Coast League. And everybody is counting the days.

It is claimed that the crinoline skirt woman is coming back. If so, it will be worth going miles to see her squeezed down in a crowded street car.

It is stated that several thousand inhabitants of the Island of Nonivak, Alaska, never heard of the World war, and in some other sections we are told mention (the length of the list precluding its publication in this column) the attention paid to the divine teachings would seem to indicate that it lacked the pull of one of the six best sellers.

The Filipinos are to be given another measure of self-government in that all of the heads of the various departments are to be members of that race. Gradually they will have complete self-government, thanks to the programme put in motion by the Republicans when the Islands were taken as a result of the Spanish-American War.

There is a railroad conductor in this town who, under his present arrangements, is able to get a month's salary by only working twenty out of the thirty days in a month. Under the Adamson law he will be compelled to work eight hours each of the thirty to get the same money. Hence he is against the Wilson administration. But there are others.

During the present administration our trade has increased but little except with the nations at war. The increase in our export trade is measured exactly by the increased prices caused by the war. No such financial fortune ever came to a nation on earth. It is brought by the accident and the horrors of war. We have been selling to Europe within forty days an amount sufficient to build the Panama Canal.

A WORD TO YOU.

Don't cry, my little children,
To see the rainbow fade—
A million rainbows, just as fair,
Of sun and mist are made!
So run along and play, now,
And dry your weeping eyes;
The sun and rain will bring again
That wonder in the skies.

Don't wear your life away, dear,
About that old sweetheart—
You have not really lost him;
'Twas best for you to part;
He never can forget you,
Your faith will keep him true—
Though he may wander far away,
He will come back to you.

Don't worry too much, mother,
About that wand'ring boy—
He cannot wander very far
From love and truth and joy!
So dry your eyes, sweet mother,
Believe in God and smile;
Your boy cannot resist your love,
He'll come back after while.

Don't frown so much, O sister,
Nor let your hearts be sad—
What good is all your wishing?
If you can not be glad?
The world is growing brighter,
For all that you have given—
And everyone that walks the earth
Is on the way to Heaven!

SHOOTING GLORY FOR CALIFORNIA

California Rifle Team Places Sixth.

Twenty-three State Militia.

Sergeant's Case of Nerves Costly.

BY E. C. CROSSMAN.
[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
CAMP PERRY (Fla.) Oct. 25.—In a hair-breathing finish at 1000 yards, in which Pritchard of the California civilian rifle team pulled through by a bare margin before finding the target, California riflemen cleaned up forty-four other civilian rifle teams in the great shoot and made a clean sweep by also beating twenty-three State Militia teams, landing first place in the shoot out of fifty-three teams entered.

Sergt. Pritchard's string of misses in the last pair came up to fire. Had he not missed the team would have won the third place, having third place in the last pair came up to fire.

BY MARATHON TROPHY.

Not only did the California civilians clean up the civilian team division in which they competed, but they won the historic Marathon trophy for a team and the highest rank in the match ever taken by a team from any state heretofore confined to the regulars.

The team from California militia, which outranks the State team, by forty points, the guardsmen finishing in seventeenth place. Each participant of teams shot in a separate position, using the same course and firing at the same time. The members of the California men was known as the civilian rifle team consisted of the twenty-five who were entered, and second place to clean up the California militia team, both of which they did by a majority of points to spare.

The highest place occupied by the National Rifle Club shots was eleventh, following the long two days' struggle at three ranges, and they fell steadily until the slide of the fifty-sixth team out of the fifty-six to shoot.

The interest of the match was shot in a manner that increased at times until the bullets could not be seen.

BY MADE UP HURRIEDLY.

The California civilian team was made up hurriedly on receipt of news of the shooting of the matches from the rifle shots of the Marine Rifle and Revolver team and the Olympic Club of San Francisco, and was shipped East against the week's warning and no practice. Col. T. F. Cooke of Los Angeles was team captain; E. C. Crossman of Los Angeles, team coach. The same Los Angeles men also acted as adjutant and coach of the picked sixteen-man civilian team that fired today in the united service match against the best of the marines and the militia.

BEAT MILITIA.

The militia teams in the great shoot, sixteen men, of whom twelve shot in the match for each State, were the pick of the militia of the States represented—in some cases the best of 8000 or 10,000 State soldiers. For the pick-up team of California civilian riflemen to trim the two score militia teams in addition to the two dozen civilian teams entered was as much of a surprise to the California men as to the militiamen getting trimmed.

The Californians shot slowly for the last pair, because of the misses of Pritchard, and the score board of the California targets was crowded with men from other teams before the last pair finished, watching the westerners batting out bullseyes at the target more than a half-mile away, when they finally found the right sight set in.

MEDALS.

Each man of the California team gets a bronze national trophy medal for being third team of the three classes and landing in the first division instead of down in the civilian division in which it was supposed to compete against organizations of its own class.

The California men were led by the marines, New York, Iowa, New Jersey, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Georgia. The rest of the State teams took the dust of the California civilians. The scores of the team over the 200 rapid fire, 600 slow fire and 1000 slow fire, twenty shots per man per range, follow:

DOBIE HAS OWN SYSTEM.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—Coach Dobie has created a freak state of affairs on the Washington State football team. A big tackle by the name of Murphy will call the signals this year and direct the team's play. Another peculiarity about the incident is that Murphy is not the captain. Usually if the quarter does not call the signals, another back-field man does who is in every play. Occasionally a captain has called signals even when a line man. All Dobie has to say about the matter is:

"Murphy has the brains and the others haven't."

Inasmuch as Dobie has not lost a football game in nine years at Washington, he probably knows what he is doing.

BOWLING NOTES.

The fifth week of the Southern California Bowling Association will be held tomorrow night.

Following is the schedule: Keaton Tires and Popkin & Nestor at the Palace; Ed Knox and Hollywoods at Majestic; Santa Monica and Austin Biscuit Company at Santa Monica; Hammond Lumber Company and Menotti Buffet at Broadway; Benge Bros. and Robinson & Gordon at Palace, and the Muriel Cigars and California Portland Cement at the Lyceum alleys.

William Durkin, Jr., president of the newly-formed Los Angeles City Bowling Association, which was formed to handle the bowling in this county, reports that a large number of teams have joined the organization. A five-man, doubles and singles tourney will be held in the near future to decide the championship of this county.

"Dad" Meek thought he was going to make that coveted 300 score yesterday. After bowling ten straight strikes the former Coast League catcher "bit into the wood" too deep and came out with a score of 288.

POMONA TO MEET RIVERSIDE ELEVEN.

Football fans at Pomona High will have a chance to see a real battle Saturday, when the Pomona team will try to defend their citrus belt championship honors against the heavy Riverside eleven. These two teams and Citrus Union are the three strongest squads in the Citrus Belt League this year.

ATHLETES SHOWN IN SLOW ACTION.

Athletes will be interested in seeing how they look in action in some films being shown at Tally's Broadway this week. They are of the "movements analyzed" series by Pathe and show a tennis player and a rope skipper in the process of getting warmed up. Several athletes were down yesterday to look things over.

TWO GOOD SOCCOR GAMES FOR SUNDAY.

Two classy Soccer games will feature the second week's play on the Manual Arts Field Sunday afternoon, when the L.A.A.C. and Rangers will tangle in the opener, while the Sons of St. George will mix with the Wanderers.

GET THE LIMIT.

Ed Mitchell and Lee Garnsey returned yesterday morning from the Willow Gun Club, where they report the shooting excellent. Both hunters bagged the limit.

Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, major in the English army medical corps, who has returned to the University of Pennsylvania, where he is head of the physical education department. In eighteen months' service abroad he supervised the inspection of the men in the various training camps to devise methods of training them. He told the Pennsylvania students: "No man can do best for himself unless he is prepared physically. Then, and then only, can he give his best for the world, his country and for himself. This was clearly proven to me during my work in the English army."

In the Enemy's Country.

OCCIDENTAL TIGERS TO LEAVE FOR NORTH TODAY

Play California Saturday in Championship Battle. Brandstetner to be Taken, Although Crippled, as a Reward for Past Services—Stanton and Men Feel Fit to do Ferocious Battle.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

THE Occidental football varsity lead by Coach Stanton, and accompanied by the well-known cripple, Brandstetner, will leave for Berkeley this afternoon. The Tigers do battle with the University of California Saturday on the northern gridiron. The game will decide the football championship of California, provided no upsets happen after it is over.

The men who will make the trip north are Coach Stanton, Capt. Deems, Brandstetner, McClintock, Ohl, Davis, Wieman, Perkins, Ridderhoff, Cresswell, Brooks, Batz, Odell, Thompson, Betts, Blee, Mount and Wells.

For two weeks Stanton has been nursing his Tigers. Since the Sherman Indian game Occidental has only played one game. That was against the L.A.A.C. last Saturday. Fearing that his stars might be injured, Stanton kept some of them out altogether and yanked the others after they had warmed up. The Tigers were playing under wraps that day.

A MACHINE.

Stanton has built up a wonderful machine at Occidental, one which resembles very much his old Pomona elevens. The tackles lining up behind the line and shifting with the play make the formations look different, but they really aren't in their fundamentals.

Various, widely-different opinions have been expressed as to the chances of the Tigers against the Bears Saturday. Coach Wilson of Whittier does not think that they will make nearly as good a showing as his team. Others think Occidental will win.

Coach Wilson says that Occidental will not make a strong showing because it plays a bucking game and comparatively straight football. The Bears know how to stop that. Whittier's strength, according to Wilson, lay in the surprise the forward pass was to California.

SCORE AT WILL.

Tiger rooters claim that Occidental will be able to smash its way through the Bears. They point to the fact that Oregon used bucks off—tackle exclusively against California and scored almost at will. These rooters are not mad enough to claim Occidental is as good as Oregon, but they use the game to prove that the Bear line can be bucked.

Al Waddell, who is in this city at present, says that California has a strong team. Waddell is now a resident of Oakland and has officiated in some and been a spectator at the other California games.

"California in its first game was as good as it was when it played U.S.C. here in its final game last fall," said Waddell. "Smith and Mahan are drilling the fundamentals into the Bears. Against the Olympic Club they only used two plays, a buck off left tackle and the other off right. In their next game two end runs were added. This is the way Smith and Mahan have been drilling the Bears. They don't tackle around the neck, either, and they are pretty wise to football right now. Personally, I believe that Sharpe, their quarter-back, would make the All-American if he was in the East where somebody could see him play."

From what Waddell thinks California has some strong team. He is also of the opinion, however, that Occidental will give California a terrific game.

Those who saw Occidental play the Indians are inclined to agree with this last statement: "Occidental will give California a terrific game.

Brandstetner will be the only regular missing from the line-up Saturday. The Tiger full-back is going north only as a spectator. The Tiger student body is defraying his expenses personally. The students thought it pretty tough for such a star as Brandstetner to lose a trip.

Preparing.

MIDWICK POLO PLAYERS HOLD PRACTICE MATCH.

IN THE third polo game of the season at the Midwick Country Club yesterday afternoon the White Wings won over the Blue Jays, 5 to 3. The season is too young for either the players or their mounts to be in good form, but the enthusiasm of both men and mounts and of the feminine fans along the side lines yesterday gives promise of an exceptionally interesting season ahead.

These were the teams: Blue Jays—Malaby, 1; Ford, 2; Miller, 3, and Burke, back and captain. White Wings—Macy, 1; Cook, 2; H. Weiss, 3 and captain, and Boucher, back. Gerald Cudahy was referee and C. C. Baldwin timekeeper. Weiss, Boucher and Miller made two goals each, and Malaby and Cook one each.

The new turf field is in excellent shape and is regarded as one of the fastest in the country. The Bermuda grass is thick enough to give footing for the horses, and yet is not matted enough to keep the ball from rolling well.

A battery of fifty new stables has been completed and is ready to house the polo strings of visiting players. Carleton Burke has a string of half a dozen or so ponies at the club and twenty-six more animals at Exposition Park here in the city.

Harry Weiss, veteran player and recognized authority on polo possibilities in horses, furnished a thrill in the fourth period, when he fell from his mount in a collision with John B. Miller. He has experienced many such falls in his long career as a polo player and knows how to make connections with the earth with the minimum amount of suffering. He fell and rolled under his mount, but the intelligent animal carefully avoided stepping on him. Mr. Weiss rode several of his favorite mounts yesterday and played an exceptionally fast game.

John B. Miller apparently feels the responsibility of having to be the entire Miller family on the field, and consequently is playing a superior game. His two sons, John B., Jr., and Edgar G., both of whom are polo players, are at college in the East. For the past six years Mr. Miller has been a close student of the game, and, too, he has an excellent string of ponies.

After the game yesterday Dr. Z. T. Malaby went to the stable and rewarded Ramona, his favorite mount, with a bag of carrots. The lady is very fond of them, and they seem to help her disposition. She is from the famous Baldwin ranch, and is high-strung and temperamental. Carrots keep her in a good humor.

Mrs. Malaby is a faithful follower of the game, but mixes fiction with it. She is not especially interested in the play unless the poloists are near enough for her to see the fine points. When the players are on a distant part of the field she turns to her book until they again come within the zone of interest.

Two of the newer players—Tod Ford and L. R. Macy—are developing into good form, as was noticeably demonstrated yesterday. Since Mr. Ford transferred his affections from tennis to polo he has been using some of the skill acquired in the former and milder sport. He shows tennis skill in his ability to keep his eye on the ball and in the nicety of his stroke and his careful placement. Macy is developing freedom in the use of the stick, and both he and Ford are improving their horsemanship. Recently Macy has been looking longingly at some new polo ponies, and a substantial addition to his string is expected soon.

Harold Cook has the strong right arm of a blacksmith. He was one of the hardest hitters on the field yesterday. Also, he is a graceful horseman. Dr. W. A. Boucher apparently is a born back. As the guardian of the goal he has the faculty of whacking the ball back the other way.

Aftermath.

BAN JOHNSON ALL HET UP.

MUCH DISPLEASED OVER SOX BARNSTORMING.

In Favor of Fining All Players Who Participated in Post-season Games—Baseball Fraternity Protests, but may be Overruled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—President Fultz of the ballplayers' fraternity possesses a remarkably short memory, according to President Johnson of the American League today in replying to the New York lawyers objections to plastering fines on Boston's world's champions and other major league athletes for taking part in post-season exhibitions this fall.

The contracts which major league ball players sign contain the following clause:

"The player will not, either during the playing season or before the commencement or after the close thereof, participate in any exhibition baseball games, indoor baseball, basketball or football, unless the written consent of the club has first been given to him."

Said clause is a part of the contract in use by the major leagues and approved by President Fultz a couple of years ago, when the players' fraternity presented a number of demands, many of which were granted.

It not only forbids playing exhibition baseball but precludes participation in several other branches of sport that are liable to injure a player and put him out of commission for the following season.

The club owners to escape the unpopularity that would be theirs for refusing to permit their players to pick up extra coin in the off season, delegated the power of consent specified in this clause of the contract to the National Commission.

In other words, when a favorite player goes to the club owner with the request to be permitted to barnstorm for a week with the prospect of cleaning up some hundreds of dollars, the club owner refers the players to the commission. The commission refuses consent and gets itself disliked, while the club owner continues to be a bully good fellow, although he probably wired the commission to be sure to refuse his player's request.

President Fultz, with the usual legal acumen, may be objecting to the threatened fines to be imposed on players for barnstorming this year on the technical ground that the clause quoted from the contract does not express any fine for violating it. In baseball the only way yet found to enforce contracts and rules is by fining offenders and that is provided for in another clause of the contract.

Regarding the blast from Barney Dreyfuss demanding an entire new form of National Commission, President Johnson declined to talk except to say that every time a decision was rendered against the Pittsburgh club Dreyfuss wanted a new commission.

VENICE RING TO CLOSE FOR WINTER.

With the finish of the main bout at the Venice Auditorium Friday night the boxing show will be a thing of the past. Matchmaker Dick Donald has decided to close the place and will attempt to reopen the old Western Athletic Club, as the Venice ring is too far from the city during the winter months.

RAY SCHALK IS NOW MARRIED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FARMERSVILLE (Ill.) Oct. 25.—Ray Schalk of the Chicago American League club, regarded by many critics as the premier catcher of the American League, was married here tonight to Miss Lavina Graham.

CHICAGO AMERICANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The Chicago Americans will condition themselves for next season's work by practicing with minor league teams, according to an announcement here today.

The Americans, it was said, will arrange their spring schedule with a view to training in Texas and working their way back for the opening of the season.

VERNON WINS LOOSE CONTEST.

Hall and Johnson Pounded Hard.

Walter Doane Gets Homer, then Put Out.

Angels to be Given Big Feed Saturday.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The league leading Angels, realizing that nothing can deprive them of their lead, sauntered along through the sunshine and calmly accepted a 5 to 3 defeat from Vernon.

The average athlete on the Los Angeles club covers about as much territory as his own shoes. Once one of the boys gets a base hit he is satisfied and proceeds to curl up. They are giving about the worst exhibition seen here this year, and frankly admit as much. While not openly arguing the question, the athletes are known to hold the opinion that twenty-nine weeks of pennant winning baseball are all that can reasonably be required of any ball team, and that the last one should be set aside for joy-riding.

Furthermore, if the Vernon club wasn't winning this week there wouldn't be enough of a crowd out to justify the salary of a gate-keeper. Vernon fans are getting a lot of consolation out of every victory recorded by their club this week, and if the Hampats take the series never will cease to point to the fact that their club beat the champions. They couldn't beat them when they were not champions, but can now that they are.

It is these fans who are keeping the breath of life in the last few days of the Coast League season. Los Angeles followers, having seen their club cut and slash its way into the championship, and beat the Hampats into a pulp in four series, are content to rest on their laurels, and have no apparent interest in the subsequent proceedings.

Both clubs were manageless. Frank Chance was present, but not active. He viewed half the game from the press coop and the other half from Prexy Powers's box. Having won the pennant, killed the limit of ducks and held a king high straight flush in the poker game he felt that he had accumulated enough honors for one season. Having second place cinched, Hamilton Patterson felt that the occasion did not demand his personal supervision. Also it is possible that he had been out hunting ducks as well as enjoying a successful evening at poker. Anyway, he wasn't there. This left the Pats Hamless or the Hams Patless, whichever way you want to put it.

The Angels made approximately the same number of hits off Ellis Johnson as Vernon did off Charley Hall, but for the most part seemed sort of satisfied to die out after making their hits.

The Hampats played good ball, and were alert at all times. Plainly, they want to efface all memories of that Oakland episode.

Meantime, the Angels are making a fine showing in the Night League, and may yet cinch first place there.

This evening, or tonight, they will dine at Harlow's. Fred Harlow, the sportsmanlike proprietor of this

WASHINGTON TO HAVE SWIMMING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON (Seattle) Oct. 20.—According to an announcement by Arthur J. Younger, graduate manager of student athletics at the University of Washington, swimming as a minor sport will in all probability be adopted at the university in the near future.

Negotiations are now being carried on with the University of California for a dual swimming meet at Berkeley in the spring between the two institutions. Entries for the Coast intercollegiate swimming meet have been received by the California management from all northwestern colleges with the exception of the University of Washington. Swimming as a collegiate sport has been handicapped in its development for want of adequate facilities, as the only available tank is located in the downtown district.

Considerable interest has been raised in the aquatic sport at the university by reason of the very successful junior day sports on Lake Washington last spring. Class teams have also given vent to the growing interest in swimming and the interclass meets are attended by large crowds, even though they are held off the campus.

The fact that swimming is an ideal sport for women has been recognized at the University of Oregon, where more than 250 girls are actively engaged in this form of athletics. Lack of facilities at the University of Washington for handling this sport is the reason for the slow progress of the sport here.

TROJANS WALLOP MANUAL ARTS FIVE.

The basketball season opened at U.S.C. last night when the Trojans defeated the Manual Arts eleven by a score of 49 to 29 in a fast game.

Both sides changed players continually in order to give all of the boys a chance to show what they could do. In the final quarter Capt. Henderson sent his Trojan varsity into the game and scored twenty points to none for the high school boys for the period.

Tailor and Baker starred at forward for the Trojans, while McCormick and Henderson played good ball at center and guard. John Tuso played a fine game for the Manual squad.

Budweiser—and Other Foods

Note the food value in beer—as well as beverage enjoyment. A bottle of Budweiser may not be offered as a part of a meal—but it has its place in the meal comparable to bread, milk or any other of the dishes or drinks that are part of the well-balanced lunch or dinner.

The alcohol in beer (a small percentage) has its tonic effect and its use as an appetizer. The hops have a distinct soothing value. The malt not only has food value, but of all foods, one of the most quickly and easily assimilated by digestion into nourishment. By its very nature beer is especially thirst-satisfying.

Here are Two Little Charts that show graphically and in figures comparisons between beer and other beverages and beer and other foods:

	Comparative Alcohol Content
Whisky
Rhine Wine
Beer
Milk

Average Composition of	Bread	Milk	Beer	Rhine Wine	Whisky
Carbohydrates	52.0%	4.8%	5.0%	2.25%	none
Proteids	7.0%	3.5%	0.5%	none	none
Fats	0.40%	3.7%	none	none	none
Mineral substances	1.0%	0.7%	0.2%	0.2%	none
Alcohol by weight	none	none	3.75%	8.0%	40.0%

When you think of beer for your table, of course you'll think Budweiser.

Found Out.

"HONK" FORER INELIGIBLE.

"Ditching" Unprofitable for Deposed Captain.

Poly and Lincoln to Meet Today.

Both Teams Expect to Win Contest.

When the Lincoln-Poly football game starts, on the L. A. High field today, the Mechanics will be without the services of their speedy little captain and left half, "Honk" Forer.

"Honk" has seen his last days as captain of the Poly team, for he has been declared ineligible to play by the faculty, as he has been found to be a four-year man.

Forer was in perfectly good standing at the Mechanic institution until he began to ditch school continually and to bring back excuses that sounded rather fishy to those handling his case in the office. His records at the school were looked up and were all O.K., but when he got in bad again, his former records were dragged out of the warehouse and showed that he was a four-year man; all of which automatically debars him from any further interscholastic competition.

Poly football players will hold a meeting in the near future and will elect a new captain. The passing of Forer leaves only two men on the squad from last year. Cline at tackle and Gene Davis at right half are the two veterans who are to be put up for captain. Both of these boys are star players and either would make a good captain for the Purple and Gold eleven.

However, the loss of Forer does not worry Coaches Haslett and Rickershauser very much, as he has not been playing the football that he should, and had he been eligible it is doubtful if he would have been started in today's game.

When the teams line up this afternoon, Lincoln is expected to be the favorite over the city champs, mainly because of their excellent showing against the Hollywood squad last Friday afternoon. Both coaches are fairly confident that their teams are going to win, but both admit that they are not exactly going to have an easy time turning the trick.

Coach Rickershauser of Poly has played his first squad together but once this season, and that was in their game with San Bernardino last Saturday which they won 12 to 4 in a game of many fumbles. Outside of that one contest, the Poly squad has never been in action together enough to get a line on what they can really do.

Coach Tommy Davis' Lincoln boys are fairly light, but they are fast and fighting for every advantage from start to finish. In Capt. Evans at right half Coach Davis has a player that bids fair to be one of the best offensive backs in the city.

Despite their showing last week, Coach Davis is not quite as enthusiastic as he could be, because of the fact that since the Hollywood game his squad has had only two nights' practice before having to run up against the city champs. Whichever way it goes, it is going to be some battle.

Following are the line-ups of both squads:

LINCOLN.		POLYTECHNIC.
E. Isenhour	C.	Seefeld
McDonald	L.G.	Fitch
Bixby	R.G.	Wilcox
Hill-Buchanan	L.T.	Cline
Pearson	R.T.	Wagner
Phelps	L.E.	Matz
Taylor	R.E.	Burt
Evans (C)	Q.	Leland
Evans	L.H.	Davis
Davis	R.H.	Smith
Cook	F.	Richmire

COACHES LOSE TO NIGHT SCHOOL FIVE.

The L. A. High night school quintet completely smothered the coaches' eleven last night when they met at L. A. Hig hin a scrappy basketball game by the score of 43 to 13.

Rudman and Gold starred for the high school, while Klawans and Featherstone played stellar ball for the losers.

Following is the line-up:

NIGHT SCHOOL.		COACHES.
Rudman	F.	Klawans
Gold	F.	Fritsch
Vogel	C.	Featherstone
Mogelle	G.	Malone
Anderson	G.	Martini

LES WARK TO PLAY ON VARSITY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 25.—Leslie Wark, former Long Beach sprinter, has cinched for himself a position at wing on the varsity for this year by his wonderful playing.

Last season Wark played for the freshmen and was not seriously considered for the varsity at the start of this season, but during the last few weeks his game has been of the highest order.

HUNS PLAN TO SHOW OFF AGAINST THROOP VARSITY

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, Oct. 25.—Pomona plays Throop next Saturday in the second conference game. For the first time this season, the Huns will present their full strength on the field. With the Whittier game but a week ahead, Coach Nixon wants to see just how strong a team he can put on the field, and consequently, he will put all of his veterans into the line-up. Morrison will be back in the game at quarter, and his reappearance in the line-up is sufficient in itself to make the Huns dangerous.

Elliott is just regaining his old-time form, and will play left-half regularly from now on. The Sherman game demonstrated that his injured leg will not hinder him at all this year. Chambers and Dowling will complete a back-field, which the Huns claim is the fastest in the south this year, and one which they expect to prove a wonderful ground gainer.

One serious problem has been solved for the Hun coaches. Last year, the weakest spots on the Pomona varsity were the two ends, but King and Mead leave little to be desired this year. Both are fast and aggressive, and so far, it has been impossible to gain ground around them. Both are stars at handling the forward pass, and with Elliott on the throwing end, the Huns will show something new in the aerial game.

This week will mark the last hard scrimmages for the Huns. As soon as the big games start, the coach has announced that he will let down on the hard work, and will spend his time teaching the varsity the finer points of the game. He has already given the team a large assortment of new plays, introduced upon the Coast from the East for the first time, and expects to increase the number before the Whittier game.

HUNTING LICENSE IS STANDING ARMY.

STRIPED BASS SHIPMENT COMING FROM NORTH.

Present Season Thought Favorable for Introducing Fine Food and Game Fish to Southern California Bays—Petitioners Ask Enforcement of Law.

Hunting-license sales at the southern office of the Fish and Game Commission passed the 25,000 mark for the current year this week, and are still going out with undiminished strength. Beside this total is the considerable number that have been placed by county clerks upon which class of sales the retailers get no commission. The figures have proved almost as astounding to those handling the business as to outsiders who considered sportsmen as harmless cranks and representing a very small minority of the public.

Predictions that there were 35,000 men in Southern California who loved to hunt, and nearly as many fishermen, are in a fair way of proof. The value of the community resource in fis hand game is steadily impressing itself.

Plans to transplant striped bass from the provedly-favorable environment of San Francisco Bay to the seacoast lagoons of the south will be carried out this week, when the fish car comes down with the remainder of the trout allotment from Sisson hatchery for Southern California streams, bringing also twenty cans of the fingerling bass seined in San Francisco Bay with the undersized mesh net taken from beach seining violators. Storms during the summer postponed the gathering of striped bass in shipment quantities. This is thought a favorable season, as the heavy rainfall of last January and the early rains of this fall have given the bass particularly advantageous conditions. They live in fresh water much of the year and the young grow best in brackish sloughs, the older bass spawning away up the rivers.

A petition, asking the Fish and Game Commission to enforce strictly the "law forbidding all seining within three miles of the shore line" was actually started a few weeks ago at one of the beach towns and secured many signatures until attention was called to the apparently-overlooked fact that there is no such law on the statute books to be enforced. Netting within 750 feet of any wharf is forbidden, and all beach seining except for smelts with a net of not less than one and one-half inch mesh, but a prohibition of net fishing within three miles would throttle the fisheries industry, and no such law ever passed the people's guardians.

HOLLYWOOD TIES WITH POLYTECHNIC.

Coach Gray's Hollywood 130-pound and Coach Hasslett's Polytechnic second squad played through to a 0-to-0 tie yesterday afternoon on Prager field.

Both teams put up a good fight and came within a short distance of their opponents' goal line, but were unable to gain yards when they meant first down. Although outweighed considerably, the Hollywood lads played well against their heavier opponents.

Only once was the Ply eleven within danger of scoring. On this occasion they carried the ball down the field on bucks to within a couple of yards of the Hollywood line, where they lost the ball when the head linesman got mixed up on the number of downs. The Hollywood boys used the forward pass successfully on several occasions, but were unable to get away with any long runs.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Bearing out predictions, the Vernon club is about to change hands. Ed. R. Maier yesterday announced his intention of retiring from baseball, a move which is generally known to have been contemplated for some time.

The announcement came in the form of a statement that he had given T. J. Darmody an option on the club. Darmody, it is understood, will have completed the purchase next Sunday night. It is reported that a number of business men are back of Darmody in the purchase, but this has not been confirmed, and there is little doubt that T. J. has the wherewith to buy two or three ball teams if he wanted them.

In arranging to make the purchase, Darmody took into consideration the fact that the Vernon team will be severely depleted following the loss of Roy Bates, Ellis Johnson and Swede Risberg. He figures that it will take a large sum to put the club on a pennant-winning basis, and considerable of this money will be spent for players with a penchant for hitting the ball. One .300 clean-up hitter would have won the pennant for Vernon this year, and assurance is given that the club will not be shy of clean-uppers next season, if such can be obtained.

For more than a year now, Maier has contemplated retiring from baseball, and if he was heretofore undecided, the loss of six out of seven by his team to the tailenders last week was enough to turn the scales. "I'm tired of the game, and I can't really afford to waste any more of my time with it," he declared yesterday.

Darmody is to buy the club outright, according to present plans. This means that he will take over the holdings of Henry Koch and Al Koch, who were minority stockholders.

The liabilities of the Vernon club are said to be not far from $110,000, while the earnings this year will approximate $35,000, leaving a deficit of about $85,000. As the purchaser will assume this indebtedness it is not likely that a large amount of money will be involved in the transaction.

* * *

Darmody would have given a better price for the club had he been granted an option on it a couple of months ago, or before Bates, Risberg and Johnson had been lost to the majors. He believes that it will take not less than $15,000 to replace these men.

Aside from the enjoyment of running the club, and the indebtedness mentioned, the Vernon franchise did not cost Maier anything. The league made his late brother, Fred Maier, a gift of the franchise, while Henry Berry made him a present of three valuable ball players—Happy Hogan, Curtis Bernard and Kitty Brashear. Other clubs in the league promised to turn over players in order to assist in founding the new team, but failed to come through. Berry also took Fred Maier on in the Washington-street lease on a fifty-fifty basis. Fred Maier died soon after, and the club became the property of Ed. R. The latter's active interest in the club dates back about three years. Prior to that time he gave practically full control to Happy Hogan.

The Vernon and Salt Lake teams are the only ones in the league which have not won a pennant, although both of them have made strong bids. The Salt Lake club has been in the league two years, and Vernon seven. The Bees took second their first year out, and have a chance for third this season. Vernon finished fourth twice, last once, second three times, and fifth on another occasion.

Henry Berry, agrees with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, that the National Commission should be so reorganized as to eliminate all those connected with baseball from its membership. "Only in this way can it be made a thoroughly representative and impartial body," declared Berry. "If a member of the commission is affiliated with baseball he is bound to have his friendships and enmities among the club owners. This means that he cannot be wholly impartial, because it is human nature to favor one's friends. Because of this I favor the reorganization of the commission by electing as members only those who have no personal interest in any club, either major or minor.

George Stovall has been mentioned as a possible successor to Ham Patterson as manager of the Tigers, while rumors have linked Frank Dillon's name with the position. Indications are that the coming winter will be devoted largely to picking successors.

Vernon Wins.

well-known beanery, some time ago offered a feed to the team making a home run on the home grounds. The athletes neglected to go around and collect, and in the meantime seven home runs and seven feeds have accumulated. As all of said feeds must be eaten during the present season and there are only four more days to go, the task confronting the Angels can easily be appreciated. The athletes are now far in arrears. In order for them to ketch up it will be necessary for the team to eat an average of almost two meals a day there from now until the close of the season. Another way would be to partake of a banquet there tonight, Friday and Saturday and eat four meals there on Sunday. However, this will be impossible, as they are to be the guests of President Powers at a food carnival to be given at the Los Angeles Athletic Club next Saturday night, which means they will be compelled to skip a date of Harlow's. This means that they must eat five meals at Harlow's next Sunday or quit the season losers. With millions starving to death in other parts of the world certainly nobody would be so wasteful as to pass up a square meal right here at home.

Los Angeles scored a run in the first on hits by Jackson, Ellis and McLarry. Vernon retaliated at once, blows by Gleichmann and Callahan and a sacrifice by Bates doing the business.

The third was featured by two of our noble athletes falling flat on their justly-celebrated faces. Maggert drove to McGaffigan, but mired down on his face before he had proceeded ten feet from the plate. In the last half, Rube Ellis stopped a double by Bates and when last seen was standing on his classic features. This double and a brace of singles by Gleichmans and Mattick gave Vernon a commanding lead of two runs. The Hamptons gathered another in the fourth on a walk by Doane, a wild pitch, a single by Gleichmann and a double steal was eminently successful when McLarry paused to count the stitches on the pill and then harped the pill against the wire netting. Vernon sewed the game up, so to speak, in the sixth on Schmidt's single and steal of third and a brace of boots. Schmidt swiped third while Bassler was returning the ball to Hall. This is mentioned merely to show the alert baseball being played by the Angels.

Los Angeles counted two in the seventh. As they had the bases full in this inning with nobody out there seemed a possibility that they might tie the score. However, such a thing was furthest from their thoughts.

In the eighth Walter Doane went through all the motions of making a home run. With two out he cracked the pill almost to the left center-field fence. Maggert got the ball and threw it to Davis, who relayed it home, Bassler missed Doane, and the latter missed the plate. Johnny gave Walter plenty of time in which to return and touch said utensil, but Walt was all in and couldn't move. He simply lay there on his stomach panting with his tongue hanging out, and there was nothing to do for Bassler but to tag his apparently-lifeless form. The score:

MAKES BIG HAUL.

Burglar Steals Jewelry, Clothing and Cash While Wife is Away.

Jewelry, clothing and cash, aggregating a total value of $800 was taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Fleming, No. 3624 South Grand avenue, between 11 and 1 o'clock yesterday, while Mrs. Fleming was lunching downtown.

The loot included a wedding ring which Mrs. Fleming is anxious to recover. Other articles taken were three leather suitcases, $50 in cash, diamond earrings, a gold watch, bracelet, and gold match box, dozen silk shirts, overcoat, woman's tailored suit, three suits of clothes, dozen suits of silk underwear, and other garments.

When Mrs. Fleming returned to the house, she found a rear window had been pried open. The burglar visited every room in the house during his harvest trip.

ERICKSON BREAKS SOTHORON'S STREAK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Sothoron, the Portland pitcher, after fifteen straight victories, lost his chance of tying the Pacific Coast League record when he lost the game today with San Francisco, 4 to 10. The record, sixteen straight games, was made by Browning in 1909. Erickson, the Seal pitcher, was wild, but effective, and struck out twelve. Sothoron lacked control and the Seals found him easy to hit. Score:

BUNNY BRIEF TIES OLD RECORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Oct. 25.—"Bunny" Brief tied the Coast League record for home runs today when he hit two over the fence, making his total thirty for the season. Ping Bodie holds the mark. MUST BE TRUTHFUL.

Lad to Go to Preston School for Three Years.

J. E. Hubert, an 18-year-old boy, told Judge McCormick yesterday that he had a fine past record and that if released from the charges against him, he would hurry back to his mother in Kentucky. A moment afterwards he was confronted with his actual record, obtained by Probation Officer Dodds.

It included numerous petty misdeeds and sentence of four months in a Kentucky reformatory for a theft. He was convicted several days ago of having stolen a Ford automobile.

Judge McCormick suggested that the young man had little conception for the truth and that he might attempt to acquire the virtue of telling it during a three-year sojourn at the Preston School of Industry at Ione.

At the end of that time, he is to be returned to the jurisdiction of the court and, if he has made a satisfactory record, he may be allowed his freedom.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Oct. 25.—Coach Cunningham of the University of Redlands is a busy man this week patching his team of cripples up for the opening of the college conference season here on Saturday, when the heavy Whittier team will come here for a game.

Whittier is known to have one of the heaviest teams in the conference this year, and the game will be one of weight against speed. Cunningham is working his men hard on the forward pass and forming a defensive against the smashing line drives of the Quakers.

Capt. Gillette will be lost game, although his place is where he was kicked in the Sievert, who played in the field last year, has been put end and Hill has been put half. Trine is playing running the team.

Fred Fulton may be next opponent in the ring.

WHEN you feel your car skid—that feeling of utter helplessness with its attendant fear of disastrous consequences—it will be too late to do anything, except pray. No amount of human skill will then avert a crash against the curb, a nearby vehicle, or, worse yet, the innocent bystander.

But you don't have to suffer that terrible "feeling of utter helplessness". Appreciate now that the only thing to do is to use the dependable preventative —Anti-Skid Chains on all four tires.

Weed Anti-Skid Chains

The Only Real Safeguard Against Skidding

"Safety First" means taking precautions rather than depending entirely on skillful driving, and experience teaches that Weed Chains are an absolute necessity for the expert as well as for the novice.

Procrastination is answerable for most of the skidding accidents. When a motorist is afflicted with this disease he usually says: "I'll wait until 'tomorrow' before buying Weed Chains"; or if his car's equipment includes Chains, he doesn't think of using them until he "feels a skid", and then, as we said before, it's too late to do anything, except pray.

Don't suffer that agonizing anticipation of "feeling a skid" with its attendant fear of disastrous consequences. Enjoy that "safe feeling". Take the necessary "stitch in time"—put Weed Chains on all four tires at the first indication of slippery going.

San Felice Cigars
FIVE CENTS STRAIGHT AND WORTH IT!

Owing to the greatly increased cost of quality tobaccos, in fact everything pertaining to high grade cigars, the makers of the San Felice cigar, The Deisel-Wemmer Company, have advanced the selling price to jobbers and dealers, and henceforth this cigar will positively be sold to the consumer at 5 cents straight instead of six for a quarter as previously.

The San Felice is national in its scope and character, having justly attained this eminence through its unexcelled excellence. To maintain this unequaled standard of quality, the advance in question is absolutely unavoidable. The generous support of all men using quality cigars is earnestly desired.

Technical Conditions Represented by the Extended Bull Account Outweigh More Favorable General Development in the Market, Leading Issues Again Reacting Modertely.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Technical conditions represented by the extended bull account outweighed more favorable general developments in today's market, leading stocks again resetting moderately after an early period of irregular strength. The high professional character of the trading was evidenced by the extraordinary activity of issues having oil potential or future value, especially Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, which outranked all other stocks on 15 extreme rises of 7½ points to 84¾, with an overturn of 225,000 shares. Foreign and international issues again contributed to the irregularity of the bond division, with pronounced strength in the convertible or speculative issues of minor railways. Total sales, par value, $6,125,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Going Up.

UNION ADVANCES ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

STRONGER DEMAND FOR OIL FAVORITE.

Persistent Rumors that Deal has been Closed on Control of Company—Big Jim Higher—Home Telephone Stocks Dull—First National Active.

Union Oil was the chief feature at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Demand for the oil leader became persistent early in the day, and under the force of a strong buying power the quotation moved up to 101.50 at the close, representing a net gain of a point for the meeting. Rumors that a deal has been definitely closed which will affect the fortunes of the Union Company considerably were in constant circulation upon the return of W. L. Stewart to this city, but the terms and character of the same were not disclosed. Higher prices are anticipated for Union in the immediate future. Big Jim was more active Wednesday, and the stock advanced to a high of 1.21, closing at 1.20. This figure was 3 points higher than final dealings the previous day. According to a number of local brokers this is but the beginning of a sharp upward drive in the Oatman favorite, which will carry values for the issue to much higher levels. Tom Reed was in good call around 2.21½, but the other Oatmans were rather quiet. United Northern picked up some strength, and closing sales were recorded at .15¾. Nellie was up at .24½, and there was some inquiry for Yellow Pine at 1.20. Home Telephone stocks were dull and unaltered on call, while Los Angeles Investment did not vary from the quotations of Tuesday. Associated Oil sold at 67.75, and a little variety was injected into the proceedings when 20 First National Bank sold at 960.00 off board.

Business Page: Citrus Fruits, Butter and Eggs—Current Trade—Local Produce Market

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Los Angeles millers have again advanced their quotations on all grades of flour. The best quality of family flour is now selling for $9.40 a barrel, and No. 1 bakers' flour is bringing $8.50. Practically the entire list of feeds and grain have been raised, also, the general run of advances being from 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds. Local millers have held back as long as possible before making such advance, but the condition of the primary wheat market has been such that it was a case of either raising prices or operating at a loss. Most authorities can see nothing but higher prices in the near future. Wheat crop shortage grows; more arrats every day, and it is now believed that the general harvest will not exceed 60 per cent. of that of last year. At the same time grain is going out of the United States at a tremendous rate. Unless an embargo is declared within thirty days it appears doubtful whether there will be enough wheat to meet domestic requirements.

With the arrival of several large shipments of Jonathan apples prices for that fruit have been lowered to $1.60 and $1.75 a box, depending upon quality. There is not much of a demand for Hood River apples this season, and as a matter of fact many dealers are complaining of the quality of these apples. Grapes are winding up, and the market on all varieties that are still on hand is firm.

In the vegetable list Brussels sprouts have been lowered to 10 cents a pound. Pink beans are down to 7.00 a hundred, and other varieties of the dried product are slightly easier. Onions continue to bring high values, and both yellow and brown varieties were raised yesterday to $3.25 a hundredweight. White Globe onions are very scarce, and but a few local dealers have any on hand.

Case-count eggs dropped another cent on the Produce Exchange Wednesday morning, when offers of 42 cents a dozen went begging. Receipts were 128 cases of eggs, 61,700 pounds of butter, 3300 pounds of cheese, 870 sacks of potatoes, 384 sacks of onions, 1449 sacks of beans, 34 sacks of sweet potatoes and 8807 boxes of apples.

HOLDINGS GO OVER IN MARKET SLUMP.

DEMORALIZATION MARKS WILD BREAK IN NEW YORK.

After Making New High Levels in Response to Ginning Figures, Which are Smaller than Expected, an Unsettled Tone Develops. Close is Highly Irregular.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—Cotton today showed the reverse picture and gave an excellent demonstration of recorded experience to the effect that the market can decline as well as advance. After making new high levels in response to ginning figures which were smaller than expected, an unsettled tone developed, and along in the afternoon a wild break occurred with considerable demoralization. The slump carried prices 110 points down from the level of the morning, with holdings thrown overboard under great excitement. Prices broke 15 to 20 points between sales, and stop-loss orders were executed at prices considerably out of line with the level at which they were entered. There was a recovery of about 60 points from the bottom in a very few minutes, but the close was highly irregular at a net loss of 39 to 45 points. The Census Bureau o'clock issued its report on the amount of cotton ginned prior to October 18. This showed 7,291,731 bales, compared with 5,710,-824 last year, and 6,021,581 two years ago. The amount of cotton ginned up to September 25 this year was 4,981,-000 bales. The trade had been expecting about 7,400,000 bales, and the discrepancy between expectancy and actuality induced some heavy buying. The opening advance was a matter of 17 to 23 points. The May option reached the 20-cent level on the opening call. Initial prices were the highest of the day, however, and a reaction of about 20 points took place on profit taking. The tone was unsettled, however, and heavy selling in the afternoon started a wave of liquidation.

IMPERIAL MUST REDUCE CANAL BED ELEVATIONS.

Consulting Engineers Make Exhaustive Report of Improvements Needed and Estimate that Cost will Reach Three-quarters of a Million Dolllars—Experts Explain the Recommendation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. Extend canal stream above Hanlon headgate one and one-quarter miles.
2. Dredge material from canal with two dredgers.
3. Remove trestle obstruction below Hanlon headgate.
4. Shorten Alamo River canal above Cudahy Creek.
5. Improve the regimen of the Alamo River canal by contracting its width.
6. Make all necessary repairs to Hanlon headgate.
7. Connect the old Alamo River with the Alamo Canal.
8. Prepare plans for an upstream extension of the Cerro Prieto Canal.
9. Cost of improvements estimated at $750,000.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 25.—Pointing out the need of immediate work in reducing the canal bed elevations to prevent possible water shortage next season, C. E. Grunsky of San Francisco, and George G. Anderson of Los Angeles, composing the advisory board of consulting engineers, today filed their report with the board of directors of the Imperial irrigation district. Eight additional recommendations were made to the directors for improvements to cost approximately $750,-000.

Following the submission of the report to the directors, a public meeting attended by water users in all sections of the valley was addressed by the engineers, who explained the various recommendations and their reasons for urging them.

The directors recently committed themselves to carrying out the recommendations of the advisory board.

The report in part states:

"Your consulting engineers consider that the problem of greatest urgency is that of securing an adequate supply of water for the district during 1917.

"At the outset of our discussion of the problem, the fact must be recognized that all the conditions affecting supply are more adverse at the present time than they have been since. There are great deposits of silt in the upper portion of the main canal. There are now larger volumes of water, with probably more silt, in the Colorado River than usual at this time of the year, and the natural erosion of the canal is not ordinarily experienced in the early water season may, as a consequence, be less than normal.

"The available dredging equipment is inadequate and delay will be excused in obtaining the requisite machinery to increase dredging capacity.

"It is not probable that the works to reduce the amount of silt entering the canal, hereafter suggested, can be constructed before the annual period when, in the past, the demand for water has exceeded the capacity of the canal to convey.

"The permission to construct a temporary weir in the Colorado River will likely to be renewed, it cannot be relied upon and the construction of a weir is not among the recommendations made.

"Under all these circumstances, and in view of the annually increasing demand for water, amelioration of the water supply situation, after the 1917 high water stage in the Colorado River, can best be secured by the systematic concentration of efforts on well defined plans for the reduction of canal bed elevations from its head downstream.

RIVER CANAL EXTENSION.

"Recommendation No. 1—Extension of canal upstream above Hanlon headgate.

"The recommendation has for its purpose the reduction, in some manner, both of the total amount of silt entering the canal and the proportional amount of sand. It is proposed that the intake of the canal be extended upstream from the Hanlon headgate about 7000 feet, and water would be admitted to it through a structure extending along the river bank for a distance of 1000 feet. This intake structure is to be arranged with a series of gate openings, the flow through each of which is to be controlled by flash boards, over the top of which the water will drop into the canal. It will thus be made possible to reduce the quantity of sand that will go to the canal if water were taken to the bottom of the gates and the admitted water would be taken from near the surface of the river where, ordinarily, the percentage of material in suspension is less than near the bottom. By making the structure long, the velocity at which the water enters the canal will be kept low, thereby facilitating the deflection of drift along the face of the structure along which there is to be a floating timber boom. There is one disadvantage of the upstream location of the intake now recommended, due to the fact that the canal will have more fall than the river and that, therefore, for the same water elevation in the canal at the present headgate, the river must be somewhat higher to afford a full supply. But this disadvantage is more than offset by the improved facility in dredging along the Hanlon gate, by the reduction in the amount of silt brought into the canal, by the deflection of drift and by the added factor of safety that will result from having two structures for the control of the water into the canal, instead of one gate as at present.

CHANNEL CHANGES.

"This recommendation, which includes a structure along an unstable river bank, is made despite the fact that we can give no assurance that the river may not come when the changes which are constantly going on may make it difficult to hold the river to the line of the present bank. For years the river has maintained its right bank on its present alignment at the selected intake point, and a change therefrom does not seem likely. It may reasonably be assumed, furthermore, that this alignment will some time be made permanent by government agency or otherwise.

"Recommendation No. 2—Dredger in canal from Hanlon Gate to railroad bridge.

"Not all of the solid material which the river carries into the canal goes through its entire length with the water which brings it in. Some of it finds temporary or permanent lodgment in the bed of the canal. The amount of the material dropped by the water in the canal bed in the course of a calendar year may reach several million cubic yards. On such a volume the two suction dredgers, the El Centro and the Imperial, working near the head of the canal, make but small impression. Furthermore, these dredgers, operating in restricted canal stretches, cannot do as effective work as would be done if they were operated over greater lengths of canal where a reduced depth of dredging from the tops of the shoals would afford better opportunity for the deposit of the coarsest sand, which is the most important portion of the silt to be gotten rid of before it travels far in the canal.

The canal, on its present location, and any canal not provided at its head with adequate sluicing facilities, which are not obtainable at Hanlon's, will always receive more or less silt which is too heavy for transport by the waters of the canal. A certain amount of dredging will always have to be done, therefore, as long as the canal heading is at Hanlon's. There is every prospect, too, that a heading at Hanlon's will be continued in service, even though it be supplemented at some time in the future by an auxiliary connection with the Laguna dam. In view of these circumstances an increase of suction dredge capacity is required. The suction dredge discharge need not be restricted to a delivery into the river.

TWO DREDGES NEEDED.

"For the present, and for the immediate purpose of improving the water service in 1917, it is recommended that the purchase of one suction dredger, of ample capacity, be arranged for at once, and, when obtained, placed in the canal section from the Hanlon headgate to the railroad bridge and kept in operation there. Such dredger should now be at work, and could be continually operated to advantage.

It will be advisable to arrange for the purchase of the section dredger also at this time, as it would be material assistance to the "El Centro" in removing the great accumulations of sand and drift that enter the section intake above the Hanlon headgate during the early spring floods in the river.

Recommendation No. 3—Removal of trestle obstructions.

About three and one-half miles below the Hanlon headgate the Inter-California Railroad is carried across the canal on a trestle. A few hundred feet below the railroad crossing are trestle bents for a highway bridge. The railroad trestle crosses the canal obliquely. The piles of both the railroad and the highway structure obstruct the flow in the canal to some extent, and are therefore responsible for some higher water and canal bed elevations in the head of the canal that would otherwise obtain. The disturbance to the canal flow by such obstructions is detrimental, causing bar-building, both above and below. The trestles should be replaced by structures which will not obstruct and unnecessarily disturb the canal flow.

"Recommendation No. 4—Shortening the Alamo River canal. The most effective measure to maintain an adequate depth of water at the head of the Alamo River canal is to shorten that channel wherever possible. The opportunities for such shortening are none too numerous, and it will require persistent effort to complete such work as will afford relief before midsummer, 1917.

"The reduction in the channel length which the alignment changes will affect will cause a lowering of the bed at up-stream points. This will in a short time make itself felt at the head of the canal, and if the canal were operated in the future under the demand conditions of the past it would ultimately amount to four to six feet.

LAND ACCUMULATIONS.

"Recommendation No. 5—Improve regimen of Alamo canal by contraction of channel. At certain points of its course, the Alamo River canal is narrow and deep; at other points the distance between banks is excessive and the canal is wide and shallow. In the wide and shallow stretches there is the greatest accumulation of sand. Some bank protection work and correction of bank alignment will aid in securing and maintaining a uniformity of canal regimen. Such uniformity, if it could be secured, would aid the canal to meet the calls upon it. For the present a width between banks of 200 feet and between levee centers of about 300 feet, may be accepted as general guides in determining where the canal needs contraction.

"Recommendation No. 6—Repairs to Hanlon headgate. This recommendation is directed to the safeguarding of the water supply and the removal of a menace to the canal system which would arise if an accident should happen to the Hanlon headgate at a high stage of the river. The stability of the gate has been brought into question. It is known from the examination which was possible at the time stony gate was put in, that there has been some undercutting of concrete foundations. It is known that the granite on which the gate structure rests is not throughout sound granite, and it is known from the examinations made for the district by Mr. J. W. Martin in the spring of this year and reported upon by him under date of April 11, 1916, that the supposed natural rock support is gone from under some of the downstream portions of the structure. While Mr. Martin's examination seems to establish that no material recent change in the situation at the gate has taken place, nevertheless every precaution should be taken to thoroughly safeguard the structure.

OLD ALAMO CHANNEL.

"Recommendation No. 7—Wasteways to old Alamo channel and the Paredones. Before the landward flow of the Colorado River in 1905 and 1906 had eroded the present Alamo River channel, which courses along what was theretofore a broad smooth-surfaced area, a large amount of water followed the original course of the Alamo, which lies to the north, nearer to the base of the sand hills. It seems possible that this old channel may sufficiently open and may have sufficient capacity to be worth utilization as a supplemental channel from some points or perhaps several miles below the point where the new channel broke out from the old near the head of the Quail River to a reentry into the present Alamo River canal, some six miles below the Cudahy Creek.

"If the use of the old channel as an auxiliary be found to be feasible, it will be of particular value at such times as the demand for water is a maximum. At other times a division of the canal flow would probably be undesirable. Consequently, depending on the situation as it may be developed by survey, a controlling gate in the bed of the canal leading to the old Alamo channel will probably be found to be a necessity.

"The increase of wasteway throughout the route of the Alamo River canal is highly desirable, for sluicing purposes and for additional safety to the operation of the system.

CERRO PRIETO EXTENSION.

"Recommendation No. 8—Cerro Prieto extension canal. The Cerro Prieto canal was constructed in 1916, to put the irrigation system into better condition for the supply of water to the west side and to relieve the Alamo River canal throughout its length, of a part of the service demanded from it. It is understood that the diversion of water from Volcano Lake into the canal is as yet without final sanction of the Mexican government.

"The canal, in a northwesterly course of about sixteen miles, reaches the west side canal at the Wisteria heading. In the head of the Cerro Prieto canal is a timber headgate. The canal has a capacity of about 1200 second-feet. It was operated after completion for a period of twenty days in August of this year until the fall of the water surface in Volcano Lake put the canal out of service for the time being.

"The present west side canal which receives its water from the Alamo River canal at Sharps has an extreme capacity of 1200 second-feet. This canal passes under the railroad near Packard in a concrete inverted syphon. The syphon structure has six openings, each six feet in diameter. Two of these are choked with silt and have been out of commission for a year or more. An attendant is kept at this structure to keep it free from obstruction by drift, which, if allowed to accumulate would cause the water to rise up-stream from the structure and would prove disastrous to the high canal banks. The canal is carried over the deep gorge of New River in a wooden flume.

"Both the inverted syphon and flume on the line of the present West Side canal are points of weakness. An accident at either of these places might seriously inconvenience and perhaps greatly damage the west side, unless water can be delivered there along some other canal route.

"On the west side, as is the case generally throughout the Imperial Valley, the demand for irrigation water is steadily increasing. Facilities must therefore be improved for delivering more water to the west side. It is possible that for some uncertain period each year, while the Colorado River holds to a course entering or approaching Volcano Lake, the flow of the west side canal can be supplemented with water taken from the lake by Cerro Prieto canal, but for physical, as well as political reasons, too much reliance should not be placed upon the lake as a source of supply.

"Any canal extending southwesterly from a point on the Alamo River canal at the Cudahy check would serve in some measure as a wasteway. Surplus waters from the Alamo River canal could be delivered on this route into Volcano Lake. The establishment of such a wasteway is desirable.

"Giving consideration to these essential facts and to the advantage that would result from having two canals on widely-separated routes to the west side, instead of only one, the recommendation is made that studies be completed and a cost estimate made for an extension of the Cerro Prieto canal from point below, but near its present headgate in a northeasterly direction to a connection with the Alamo River canal at the Cudahy check.

"The excavated material from such a canal extension would be placed as a levee along the west and north side of the canal. At its northerly or northeasterly end, this levee would be connected with the south levee of the Alamo River canal. This levee should have ultimate crest elevations and dimensions at least equal to those of the present Volcano Lake levee.

"It remains to be stated in connection with this proposed extension of the Cerro Prieto canal, that it would also prove beneficial to certain lands in Mexico, because it would make the Cerro Prieto canal a dependable source of water. It might therefore result in the earlier extension of irrigation to some 30,000 to 35,000 acres of land along the upper course of New River in Lower California than would be the case if this connection from the Alamo River canal to the Cerro Prieto were made. This statement applies with particular force to the lands which lie to the west of the Cerro Prieto canal and are not yet covered by laterals from the west side canal.

"In view of the situation as here pointed out, it is deemed important that further study of the best location of a levee practically paralleling the Volcano Lake levee be made, together with a cost estimate of the contemplated levee, canal and structures as a basis for a definite recommendation.

"Conclusion—Particular attention is called to the fact that the bed of the Alamo River for more than a mile below the Hanlon headgate has an average elevation higher than the original sill of the gate (ninety-eight feet above canal datum.) Its elevation should be at least six or eight feet lower than this still, or some eight or ten feet lower than it now is. Every endeavor should therefore be directed to do such work and to make such improvements as will lower the canal bed and the canal water surface in the head of the canal. Recommendations Nos. 2, 3 and 4 are made with this purpose directly in view, and with the expectation that if carried out material benefit will result before July, 1917.

"Without having at this time the advantage of any close cost estimates of the work covered by our recommendation, we believe that their proper execution will involve the expenditure of about $750,000, and at least this sum should be made available immediately. The plans for the execution of the work recommended, not having been prepared in advance, should remain subject to the approval of your consulting engineers."

INTERESTING TO SHIPPERS.

The Security National Bank has just issued for the information of shippers a pamphlet containing the complete text of the Federal Bill of Lading Act, together with an analysis. INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

George C. Boswell, recently accused of subornation of perjury in connection with the verification of the nomination petition of Harry Loomis, was dismissed on the first accusation brought against him, Justice Palmer held the prosecution had failed to establish sufficient evidence to hold him to the Superior Court for trial. There is still another preliminary hearing pending against him on an election fraud charge.

ORANGE COUNTY FAVORS BONDS.

Enthusiastistc Meeting Wants Good State Roads.

O. K. Parker Urges Highway System Completion.

Boulevards will Prove Big Dividend Payers.

That Orange county is strongly in favor of the adoption of the $15,000,000 road bonds at the general election of November 7 was shown at a special meeting of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce held last night under the auspices of the Tri-State Good Roads Association, Inc.

The meeting was held to get the sentiment of Orange county on the proposed road bond measure and practically every one of the 125 members present approved the issuance of the bonds.

The principal speaker was O. K. Parker, good roads advocate, and the man who has driven an automobile more than 25,000 miles over the improved highways of California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Parker spoke on the need of voting the road bonds in order to carry out the work of completing the great California highway system and said that if the bonds failed to carry the many gaps in the present system would left incompleted. This, he said, would leave in a half-finished condition a system of boulevards that would prove to be California's greatest dividend payer.

ILLUSTRATES.

He used several hundred feet of film showing many beautiful stretches of the present highway system and strips over desert and mountain territory that are to be built from the $15,000,000 bond issue. He flashed on the screen scenes in Orange and Los Angeles counties, Yosemite Valley, Northern California, the Imperial Valley and on the ridge route.

Mr. Parker has done a great deal for the road building of the West. He helped survey and advocated the Tioga road and is a firm believer in good highways.

Other speakers at the Orange county meeting were Gesner Williams, president of the association; Senator John N. Anderson of Santa Ana, S. H. Finley of the Orange county engineering department, J. C. Metzger, Secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; A. H. Sitton of Fullerton, and others.

ALL PRESENT.

All of the Orance county committee of the Tri-State Good Roads Association, Inc., who are working for the adoption of the bonds November 7, were present, as follows:

J. Frederick Ahlborn, M. W. Beebe, Frank N. Gibbs, C. K. Holcombe of Anaheim, F. W. Beckwith of Balboa, William Schumacher of Buena Park, George Bird, C. V. Culp, Harry Ray, J. G. Saxon, G. W. Burlew, M.D., Joe C. Burke, C. S. Croockshank, Col. S. H. Finley, J. C. Metzger, J. A. Nelson, H. E. Smith, W. B. Williams of Santa Ana, Philip A. Stanton of Seal Beach, J. A. Armantage of Sunset Beach, Jasper Leck of Tustin, W. O. Welch, J. F. Conley of Yorba Linda.

LOCAL BOOSTERS.

Among the Los Angeles members present were O. K. Parker, A. F. Andrade, Gesner Williams, president; George G. Ellis, secretary; Dr. A. J. Scott, chairman of the advisory board; Clyde Potter, deputy commissioner of the association; L. L. McKay, F. A. Somerby, manager of the Southern California division, and Deputy Commissioner S. B. Barrett.

Noted Brazilian Agriculturist is Taking Citrus Fruit Experts to South America to Develop Vast Estates South of Rio Janeiro.

Col. A. V. Ollerira Castro, a brother-in-law of the President of Brazil, left yesterday for Riverside. He is here in the interest of the Brazilian Department of Agriculture and is making a study of the citrus fruit industry of California. He will take several citrus fruit experts from California to the Latin American republic in South America for the purpose of developing the vast estates south of Rio Janeiro, where the soil and climate are similar to Southern California.

Col. Castro brought letters from Count Candido M. de Almeido, of the Senate of the Hidalgos of America, to the consuls of the order in Los Angeles. During his stay he was the guest of Gen. T. H. Tracy. The colonel joined the organization at the local lodgerooms. He is enthusiastic about the objects of the order in furthering the fraternal and commercial interests of the three Americas.

BAKERSFIELD WOMAN PRINCIPAL HEIR.

RECALLS DIVORCE OF DR. M'KEE OF CINCINNATI.

Famous Scientist Traveler-Author Leaves Over $10,000 to Friend in this State—Wife had Secured Decree Over a Year Ago in Eastern State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 25.—By the filing of the will of Dr. Edward S. McKee, in the Probate Court of this county yesterday, it was learned that the famous scientist-traveler author had made Mrs. Florence Ruth Brown of Bakersfield, Cal., the principal heir of his estate. Mrs. Brown, prominent as a singer in social and musical circles of the East as well as on the Pacific slope, at one time resided at Norwood, this county, and was a close associate of the decedent, and his wife, who recently secured a divorce in this city, and secured a considerable cash alimony settlement.

The amount which the California songstress will receve, it is estimated, will exceed $10,000. Her remembrance in the will was not a surprise to the society folks of this city, when it was recalled that when Anna Louise McKee filed suit for divorce, from Dr. McKee, May 21, 1915, she charged that Dr. McKee thought more of Mrs. Brown than he did of her and had neglected her on that account, deserting her at Pasadena, Cal., at the home of relatives at the close of a trip around the world.

During the trial of the divorce case, Dr. Dr. McKee testified that there was no wrong between himself and Mrs. Brown, then a married woman, although about a peck measure of ardent love poems were produced in court to show the Doctor's feelings in admiration of Mrs. Brown, Dr. McKee testifying that he only felt a fatherly interest in her. Mrs. Brown also denied in sworn depositions that there was anything wrong in their admitted close friendship. The decree was granted on the grounds of neglect. After the divorce Dr. McKee, who had traveled many times around the globe, left the city for another extended trip, this time to Quito, Ecuador, and died there quite recently. His body will be brought back for burial.

In addition to the bequest of a third of his estate to Mrs. Brown, nieces and nephews will receive about $20,000. These beneficiaries are Louise Robinson and Catherine McKee, Berkeley, Cal.; the Rev. H. P. Lane, Van Nuys, Cal.; George H. McKee, Ellen McKee, Mary E. Lovel, Bertha Berry, Mabel Shapp and Sarah F. Pike, Ellen McKee, Willis McKee and Donald McKee.

The Provident Bank and Trust Company of this city will execute the will, which was made five days after the divorce of Mrs. McKee.

POLL SHOWS FEW OPPOSE STATE HIGHWAY BONDS.

A THOROUGH canvass of the entire State, which was completed yesterday, under the direction of officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile Association, shows conclusively that there is no important opposition to the proposed $15,000,000 good roads bonds which are to be voted on at the general election, November 7.

"The bonds will carry at least three to one, providing the advocates of good roads go to the polls," declared Standish L. Mitchell, secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Good Roads Committee of One Hundred, yesterday, in discussing the situation. "Interest in the success of the bonds is increasing all over the State. In fact, there are few if any propositions on the ballot so well known to the electors at large as the goods roads bonds. All the important newspapers throughout the State are practically united in favor of the bond issue, designated as amendment No. 3.

"On behalf of the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Good Roads Committee of One Hundred, which is representative of upwards of fifty leading civic organizations, I wish to call attention to the fact that no funds are being solicited on our authority for the good roads campaign.

"The campaign for good roads in California and the completion and perfection of the present great system of State highways was instigated by the Automobile Club of Southern California, with the cooperation of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and more than two score other prominent Southern California business organizations, but no money has been solicited on the outside and none will. In fact, the Automobile Club of Southern California is bearing the entire expense of the campaign."

FRENCH VILLAGE TO BE TRANSPLANTED TO PARK.

PROMINENT society and club women and many motion-picture actors and actresses will appear Saturday in the "Foreign Market," which will be held all day in Central Park, under the auspices of the Belgian Relief Commission and the French Red Cross. The proceeds of the market will be used to aid the Belgians and wounded allied soldiers.

The market is under the direction of a general committee composed of L. N. Brunswig, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and Dr. W. A. Edwards. The affair will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and close at 11 p.m. Foods, clothing, household articles and innumerable other things will be sold at cost to purchasers.

One of the features will be a French village, in which there will be a fish stall, a meat market, bakery and all the appurtenances. Well-known society women will appear in the villages dressed in French peasant costumes. The entire market will be under the direction of Mrs. John Percival Jones.

Jams and jellies, fancy articles, babies' clothes, work bags, sachets, bootees and pincushions, tea, coffee, chocolate, waffles, eggs, butter, milk and similar foodstuffs will be sold. There will also be a rummage sale in which evening clothes and slightly worn suits will be offered for sale. One of the displays will be a cage of baby lions from the Selig Zoo.

Motion-picture actors have been released by the following companies, and will appear in costume in regular scenes: Universal, Lasky, Christy, Griffith, Morosco, Vogue, Ince, Horsley, Vitagraph and the Keystone companies. Talent will also be secured from Pantages and the Hippodrome theaters. D. W. Griffith has also contributed a box for "Intolerance," to be auctioned

POSTOFFICE JOBS FOR DESERVING DEMOCRATS.

THE efforts of the pure and undefiled Democrats of Los Angeles county to give some of the "deserving" members of the party a place at the public trough, through the Postoffice Department, has succeeded, according to semi-official advices received yesterday from Washington.

It is announced that beginning with the new year the postoffices at Glendale, South Pasadena and Alhambra will be independent offices, and not branches of the Los Angeles city office as they have been for years.

This will give President Wilson an opportunity to appoint three postmasters, at a probable salary of $2400 a year each. But the pay of the mail carriers will be but $1100, as compared with $1200 under the present arrangement. It will also have the effect of reducing the monthly receipts of the Los Angeles office by from $30,000 to $40,000.

Some years ago, when these three places were smaller in territory and population, they were not large enough to have free delivery, and were eager to come into the city organization, because by so doing they were assured delivery. Now they are large enough to have free delivery on their own account.

It is understood the proposed change has been brought about by the Democratic County Central Committee, who have some of the hungry and thirsty to provide for. H. A. Wilson, a real estate man of Glendale, is said to have been active in the enterprise, which is understood to have been carried through to success by the assistance of Congressman Randall, who, in addition to being a Democrat and a Prohibitionist, also alleges he is a Republican. The scheme is apparently intended to assist Randall in his campaign for re-election.

ANYWAY, HE LIKED GERMAN COOKING.

DOCTOR SAYS PLAINTIFF ASKED HIM TO MARRY HER.

Special Calls Charged up on the Business Side of Ledger, Woman Claims in Suit Against Doctor. Court Decides Otherwise After Hearing Testimony.

The suit of Dr. Z. Levin against Miss Freda Schlager, which was tried and decided against Miss Schlager by Judge York yesterday, revealed a story of an alleged inheritance tied up by the European war, an engagement to marry, money loaned to pay an attorney in a slander suit, fees for professional services, the doctor's appreciation of a good German dinner and social calls charged up as professional visits.

Miss Schlager sprang into the limelight, some time ago, when she brought suit against J. H. Francis, former superintendent of city schools, for alleged slanderous statements made before a committee. At that time Miss Schlager was a city school teacher.

This suit was dismissed by Miss Schlager, it appeared from testimony before Judge York yesterday, because she discovered that Mr. Francis had not said the things reflecting on her reputation which she said Dr. Levin told her.

Dr. Levin brought in his accounts to prove that he had treated Miss Schlager professionally. He also said he had lent her money. This money Miss Hilda Schlager, her sister, declared she had borrowed. Hence, Miss Freda denied she owed it. On the other hand, she had no way to prove that Dr. Levin had not made the professional calls.

At this point the love end of the story comes in. Both the young women declared Dr. Levin was engaged to Freda, and that he had charged up as professional visits many of those that were purely of a social nature.

Dr. Levin testified that he was not engaged to Miss Freda, saying she had asked him to marry her, but he had refused. Furthermore it appeared she had told him she expected an inheritance from Europe, but that the war tied it up, and it was on this basis, it is alleged, that he loaned her $719.85 last year. His professional fees amounted to $639.

It was further testified that the German cooking at Miss Freda's home suited the doctor, as he dined there several times. The German fried potatoes especially appealed to him, it was said. Judge York gave judgment for Dr. Levin in the amounts asked for.

HOGS BRING MONEY.

So Speaker Advises, Pointing Out Great Results in Imperial Valley Last Year; He Urges State to Take the Opportunity.

"California raises only 30 per cent. of the hogs and by-product it consumes," said D. O. Lively of the California Swine Breeders' Association at Tuesday's noonday lecture at the Chamber of Commerce.

"Southern California is an ideal place to raise swine and there is money in the industry," he said. As a result of the keen interest manifested a movement was started to hold a convention in Los Angeles early next year of the hog raisers of the State. It is estimated that there are 500 persons engaged in this industry.

Mr. Lively pointed out the great results obtained in Imperial Valley in hog raising and called attention to the fact that 70 per cent. of the meat and by-products of swine used in this State came from Idaho and east of the Rocky Mountains.

Rooming-house Keeper Charges Him with Representing Officer and Accepting Money, Promising Results—Place was Closed for Abatement Act Violation.

Dr. L. O. Wilcoxon, frequently in the limelight during the past two years, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Fox and Strong on the charge of having defrauded Mrs. Bessie Hale out of $101 by representing himself as an officer of the District Attorney's office, who had the power to "square a Red Light Abatement injunction."

Mrs. Hale operated an East Second-street rooming-house which was closed for violations of the Abatement Act. Shortly after the injunction had been issued, Dr. Wilcoxon is alleged to have approached her and represented himself as Detective Wilcox of the District Attorney's office. "He told me his principal wish was the aiding of persons who had been put out of business by such injunctions and that he could arrange matters so I could reopen the rooming-house in a few days," said the woman.

Dr. Wilcoxon is alleged to have called several times and finally on September 26, Mrs. Hale declares she gave him $500 and that she then waited for results, which failed to arrive. Detective Sergeant Chapman of the police department learned of the matter and after investigating laid the matter before Deputy District Attorney Woolwine.

Yesterday Dr. Wilcoxon was brought before Deputy Woolwine and asked for an explanation. He stated that he was working for an attorney and that the money he had secured had been turned over to the lawyer for the purpose of bringing proceedings in the Superior Court to have the injunction set aside. He refused to divulge the name of the attorney, so he was taken into custody. He will be arraigned today.

TOPHAM WANTS ACTION ON THE CROSSING PROBLEM.

Railroad Commission's Attitude of Claiming Jurisdiction, but Refusing to Act Until Supreme Court Tells it to, Causes Trouble for Public Works Board.

Believing that there should be no delay in determining whether the city or the State Railroad Commission has jurisdiction over grade crossings in Los Angeles, Councilman Topham will this week present a resolution to the City Council instructing the City Attorney to institute an action in the State Supreme Court to settle the matter.

The Railroad Commission handed down a decision last Monday claiming jurisdiction, but said it would do nothing toward exercising it until ordered by the Supreme Court to do so. City Attorney Stephens will be formally directed to ask for a writ of mandate compelling the commission to act, and in this way the question of jurisdiction can be threshed out.

"It is a matter that should be settled with the least possible delay," Councilman Topham said, in announcing that he will take action to have a test case started immediately.

The desirability of this move being no longer delayed was impressed on the Board of Public Works yesterday. The board is trying to secure the opening of Domingues avenue, Wilmington, and has asked the Southern Pacific to remove its right-of-way fences. The Southern Pacific states that it wants to do what is fair, but it does not wish to be placed in contempt before the State Railroad Commission, which claims jurisdiction in such matters.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

Dick Lyons, a motion-picture actor, appeared before Justice Palmer yesterday for arraignment on the charge of embezzling a diamond ring valued at $500 from Mrs. Elsie Morgan. Mrs. Morgan alleges that on October 9 she was with Mr. Lyons, when he asked to lend her her ring. She permitted this, and he playfully put it in his pocket and she alleges, failed to return it. She importuned him to do so. His bail was fixed at $1000 and his preliminary hearing set for tomorrow.

Bible Quoted to Supreme Court in Behalf of Christian Scientists.

In a brief filed yesterday in the United States Supreme Court at Washington by Atty.-Gen. Webb and Dist.-Atty. Woolwine in support of the constitutionality of California laws exempting Christian Science and other "prayer practitioners" from examination before medical boards, the court was referred to forty-six Bible quotations. These quotations were presented to prove that "healing by prayer or as a part of the practice of a religion has ample justification in the Scriptures."

It was also stated that seventeen other States give similar exemptions, and an order of ex-President Taft providing a similar exemption in the Panama Canal Zone was cited.

Christian Science practitioners, the brief stated, should not be classed with druglesshealers, such as osteopaths and neuropaths, who undergo examination for license in California.

The law is being attacked by a local drugless healer, who is not a Christian Scientist.

HOPES FOR NEW COUNTY GONE

Word Received at Venice from Attorney-General.

Sixty-five Per Cent. of Voters Are Needed.

Los Angeles Electors Would Have to Favor Plan.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Oct. 25.—Hopes of forming a new country from the section including the beach cities on Santa Monica Bay received a set back today upon the receipt of a letter from Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, as written by Deputy John G. Howse.

In the opinion it was brought out that the conditions required would make the forming of a county of the beach unlikely, unless legislative action were taken. Some of these conditions are that,

First, a petition, signed by at least 65 per cent. of the qualified voters residing in the proposed new county, and not less than 50 per cent. of those residing within the county out of which the proposed new county is to be carved, must be filed with the Board of Supervisors.

Second, the lines of the new, proposed county must not pass within five miles of the county seat of the county which it is proposed to divide.

This would eliminate many of the sections of the new county plan as the Los Angeles city limits touches several of the cities proposed as part of the new county. Even Santa Monica edges on Los Angeles, due to the recent annexation election.

It is necessary, says the opinion, that 65 per cent. of the votes be cast in the election in favor of the new county plan. This would mean that Los Angeles city itself would have to favor the proposition in order to carry it through.

UNLUCKY DAY FOR POMONA BOY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Oct. 25.—Joe Sotelo, alias Joseph Brand, who has been residing with his grandmother, Mrs. E. F. Garland, at No. 730 West Holt avenue, in this city, was arrested early today by Officer Pleasant, on a felony complaint sworn out by Postoffice Inspector C. D. Lowe of Los Angeles, charging him with having forged a signature to a postal money order.

It seems that Joe is accused of stealing a letter containing a money order for $12, which was addressed to Mrs. Pauline Lourin, residing in the house next door to that of his grandmother. Several cheap photo gallery pictures showing Sotelo clad in woolly chaps, and standing with one arm leaning upon a bar which was lined with tall bottles, were found in his pockets. Behind the bar was a sign announcing "Whisky Two Bits a Throw."

Around the local pool hall he has claimed to be "a tough guy."

PIGS GRUB OUT THE SAGE BRUSH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BURBANK, Oct. 25.—Clearing land by hand has long since given place to accomplishing the feat by machinery, and just to disprove the proposition that there is nothing new under the sun, Frank Gillis, a Burbank rancher has introduced the novel idea of clearing land with the aid of pigs.

Mr. Gillis came to Burbank several years ago, taking a tract of land in exchange for town real estate. He was disappointed to find the land thickly dotted with scrubby sage brush, which proved a tough customer to grub out. He had almost given up hope of being able to clear the land by hand when he discovered several of his pigs were nosing about the roots of the sage brush that grew in front of his shack. He immediately conceived the idea of puttings the porkers' natural instinct to advantage.

Gillis has found that by strewing the area to be cleared with garbage, and by turning the pigs loose in it, that within a short time, the tough roots are grubbed, and the soil loosened until it is a matter of a few minutes to pull out the balance of the roots.

EVANGELIST PRICE TALKS RELIGION.

HUGE FRAME TABERNACLE FILLED TO OVERFLOWING.

Services to Continue for Thirty Days—All Churches Join in Movement to Hold Old-time Revival—Chorus of One Hundred and Twenty-five Voices.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONROVIA, Oct. 25.—Fresh from a triumphant series of meetings in Chico, Butte county, where over 600 were converted, Rev. Thurston B. Price, nationally famous evangelist, opened a series of meetings here last night under the combined auspices of Monrovia, Duarte and Arcadia churches. The services, which will continue for thirty days, are being held in a great frame tabernacle, whose capacity is 1500. The building was erected in a day, when seventy volunteer carpenters gave their services from dawn to dusk, and built a rainproof structure 75x100 in floor area.

In his opening service Rev. Mr. Price chose for his sermon theme the following: "Some folks pull, some folks push, some folks ride—and ride the brakes." "Where art thou?" In his vigorous, closely-knit address, the evangelist asked his congregation to examine themselves spiritually and decide, before the revival was started in earnest, where they stood.

"Some of you," declared Mr. Price, "are among the faithful few that form the bulwark of the church. You are the salt of the earth. Others of you are keen on the revival meetings but as soon as the excitement is over you drift away and forget your religion. Still others of you are an actual hindrance to the work of the church. Knowing nothing of the meaning of religion, you pull back and undo what has taken years for others to accomplish. What I want you all to do, first of all, is to examine yourselves and determine whether you are pushing, pulling or riding on the brakes."

A great chorus choir of 125 trained voices, under direction of the evangelist's musical superintendent, Mr. Thomas, is assisting in the services and a junior choir, made up of boys and girls from all the churches, will be trained to give a number of sacred concerts during the month's meetings.

For weeks before the coming of the evangelist's special cottage prayer meetings have been held twice weekly. All local arrangements have been under the Monrovia Ministerial Association with Rev. J. F. Humphrey, pastor of the Methodist church, as general chairman.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT DOWN SAN DIEGO WAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 25.—Good things to eat were exploited today at the exposition when housewives' day was celebrated. The programme started with a parade managed and planned by the women of the Home Industries League. The parade was given by the women because the home industries float was left out of the Admission Day parade and they vowed to have a parade of their own.

Floats representing the various industries of the city and exploiting foods formed the procession which was flanked by the women in autos. A picnic in the pepper grove, a food exhibit when prizes were awarded to the housewives who excelled in making various dainties and a dinner at the Cristobal tonight with a ball on the Isthmus made up the programme of the day.

VENTURA, Oct. 25.—What is pronounced to be the record crop of lima beans threshed is that on the Adolfo Camarillo place, where twenty acres ran 1065 sacks or more than fifty sacks to the acre. Tom Steele, whose wide experience as an expert thresher of beans for many years gives weight to his opinion, says this is the largest crop of beans he has ever threshed, the Camarillo ranch holding first place. The Adolfo Camarillo place comprises 1737 acres, while another vast holding between the two brothers amounts to 9092 acres. The beans will not have to be hand-picked on account of the recent rains in the Camarillo district, but the chief loss to growers seems to be in the Mound district.

COTTON SEED HIGH.

Forty-four Dollars is Reported as Being Contract Price in the Imperial Valley Made by Independent Mill Brokers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Oct. 25.—Cotton seed is expected to jump in price when the new cotton gin being constructed at Imperial by J. J. Reynolds is completed.

Mr. Reynolds is known to have made contracts for the purchase of seed at $44.00 a ton, a raise of $4.00 over the figure being paid by other buyers. The price of seed has ascended from $20.00 at the opening of the cotton season as the result of the activities of Mr. Reynolds, who came here from Cisco, Texas. The warm fight between Mr. Reynolds and J. B. Spears, proprietor of the Imperial Valley Oil and Cotton Company to buy the most cotton seed, is claimed to be the result of family differences of many years ago in Texas.

BRITISH-AMERICANS TO RAISE FUNDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 25.—Mrs. J. Tracy Melvin has been named manager, Mrs. C. E. Robin, assistant manager, and Mrs. W. A. Ferguson, treasurer of the British-American War Relief Association, a local of which was formed here at a meeting held last evening. Providing supplies for the British Red Cross Society and clothing for wounded soldiers will be the chief activity of the organization for the present.

DITCH CAVES IN; PLUMBER INJURED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Oct. 25.—A ditch at the home of E. A. Moore on Garden street caved in this afternoon while J. C. Scott, a plumber employed by Kline & Underwood, was working in it and he was very seriously injured. He was bruised about the shoulders, his back was twisted and he was hurt about the hips. Doctors say that he was probably injured internally. It will be two or three days before the extent of his injuries will be known. Scott was working in a ditch several weeks ago when the sides caved in and he was in the hospital for some time. He is not married.

AUTOS COLLIDE; SIX ARE HURT.

Accident on State Highway Near Las Flores.

Frank Mertzmann, San Diego, in Serious Condition.

All Were Taken by Train to Santa Ana Hospital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 25.—With the collision of two automobiles on the State highway at Las Flores, near San Onofre, in San Diego county, an automobile owned by Frank Mertzmann, retired, of No. 3303 Second street, San Diego, turned over and six people who were in it were injured.

According to members of the Mertzmann party, the accident resulted from carelessness on the part of the driver of the other machine, which was coming toward Mertzmann's machine. They say the other driver turned around in his car to talk to someone on the rear seat, and his machine swerved across the highway and ran into the Mertzmann car, overturning it.

Those in Mertzmann's car were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mertzmann, their son Frank, Jr., all of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chadwick of National City and Harry Cox of the Balboa Hotel, Los Angeles. Mrs. Chadwick is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mertzmann, who have been living at San Diego for thirty-two years.

The party was returning to San Diego from Los Angeles, Mertzmann and his wife and Cox were put on stretchers and were placed in the baggage car of the Santa Fe. Frank, Jr., with a badly bruised leg and hip and one hand cut, and his sister, who has one side severely injured, came with them.

The five were taken to the Santa Ana Hospital, where they now are. Chadwick, though severely bruised, remained with the wreck for the purpose of getting the name of the driver of the other car, which was not overturned and in which no one was hurt.

Frank Mertzmann, upon examination, was found to have suffered from severe internal injuries, concussion of the brain and had his chest burned from a gasoline blaze. He is in a very precarious condition. Harry Cox had three ribs broken and his lung punctured. Mrs. Mertzmann had two ribs broken on the right side and Mrs. Chadwick suffered from lacerations of the chest.

TUNA CANNERY AT HUENEME.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, Oct. 25.—The establishment of a $60,000 tuna cannery at Hueneme is announced by McCroskey & Tweedale of Wilmington, Cal., marketers of the Del Rey brand of canned tuna. A site, 127 acres in extent, has been purchased from J. A. Driffill and others, the price paid being $7500. A force of from 100 to 150 people will be employed.

FRAUGHT WITH TRAGEDY, ROMANCE CAREER ENDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Rhoda M. Payne, bride of less than three months and notable pioneer of Eastern California, whose career from babyhood to age had been darkened by tragedy after tragedy and brightened by romance upon romance, is dead. Her body was laid away today in the old cemetery between those of two husbands taken before, with the third and last as one of the chief mourners. The spot is marked by a tombstone which she had put up years ago and upon which had been chiseled only her given name, in possible anticipation of the change in surname before the end. Mrs. Payne was nearly 71 years old. She leaves considerable property. Her son, Charles W. Robinson, lives here. She was loved by her neighbors for the good she was ever ready to do, the helping hand to lend.

Mrs. Payne was a native of England and her maiden name was Magoff. When she was 4 years old her parents sailed for America with her. In the middle of the Atlantic fire broke out on the vessel. Through the flame and agony and death that followed the child came almost unscathed, but the mother was cremated and the father severely burned. Many other passengers, trapped between fire and water, perished, but the death ship finally reached port. Magoff took his daughter to Salt Lake City and a high dignitary of the Mormon church adopted her. She grew into one of the beauties of the Mormon capital.

In 1867 she married Alpheus W. Robinson, Chief Justice Titus of Utah officiating, and six years afterward they came here. Robinson and John Baxter, still an extensive ranchman here, quarreled over water rights and the former made threats against the other's life. In 1882 they met on the street in Darwin. Robinson was flourishing a six-shooter. Baxter had his gun handy and as he was the quicker on the trigger Robinson died in his tracks. The verdict was "justifiable homicide."

Later the widow married Charles M. Houle, who died in 1911. Last July she became the wife of Mr. Payne, a comparatively young man. Rev. L. H. Sanborn, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who performed the marriage ceremony, conducted the funeral service.

WEALTHY EASTERNER CANNOT BE FOUND.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD (Cal.) Oct. 24.—That Albert Wolff, aged and wealthy landowner of Dayton, O., has met with foul play, is the fear of his friends in Oxnard. Wolff came here for his health some months ago. He is frail, and suffered severely from asthma.

He had no relatives here, or elsewhere, having been heard to remark that, should he die, his property, valued in excess of $100,000, would go to the State of Ohio, unless he made a will, on which he was known to be working.

About one month ago he remarked that some Dayton friends had called and he was going for an automobile ride with them. That is the last seen of him, and his friends are apprehensive. Inquiries are being made in Dayton and elsewhere in an endeavor to ascertain his whereabouts.

MEXICANS SHOVE AMERICANS OFF SIDEWALK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CRAFTON, Oct. 25.—Capt. A. G. Johnson, the commander of Co. G of the Seventh Regiment, who has been here from Los Angeles on a few days' leave of absence, says that conditions on the Mexican border are worse than when the company was sent there. "The administrations boasts of keeping us out of war," he says, "but the men who have been on the border cannot see it that way."

"The Mexicans are carrying on a guerrilla warfare at Nogales now and have been for weeks. It is hardly safe to appear on the streets of the border town and the soldiers have to submit to all sorts of indignities at the hands of the Mexicans. Americans have been shot across the border and the American troops are forbidden to shoot back. The Mexicans are so arrogant that they attempt to shove our boys off the sidewalks as they are walking about Nogales," says the captain.

POMONA SELECTS COMMERCE CHIEF.

PEOPLE DECIDE AMENDMENTS.

Complete Returns Show Ten Were Carried.

Cafe Dancing Ordinance Loses Nearly Two to One.

Consolidation of Tax Offices Wins by Big Vote.

Complete returns from the 351 polling places were received by City Clerk Wilde at noon yesterday and show that ten out of the fourteen proposed charter amendments carried. The other four were defeated together with the cafe-dancing ordinance and the slaughter-house ordinance. The total vote was 60,471.

The cafe-dancing initiative ordinance was defeated by nearly two to one, the borough amendment lost by 4500 votes, the amendment creating bonding districts was beaten by more than 600 votes, the amendment empowering the Harbor Board to make emergency contracts lacked 9000 votes, the amendment giving the city authority to borrow money in anticipation of taxes lost by nearly 11,000 and the slaughter-house ordinance by more than 8000.

SHOW INTEREST.

A larger vote was polled than anticipated. This was brought out by the interest taken in the cafe-dancing ordinance. The total vote on this ordinance was the largest of any on the sixteen propositions, being 59,587, of which 26,561 were for the ordinance and 39,026 against. The next largest vote was recorded on Amendment No. 1 providing for consolidation of City and County Tax Collectors' and Assessors' offices, which totaled 53,744, the number in favor being 35,580, and 18,164 against.

THE RESULTS.

The people conclusively proved that they do not approve of the emasculated borough system proposed by Amendment No. 3. Of the total vote of 46,132 on this proposition 25,312 were against it and only 20,820 in its favor.

City Clerk Wilde announced the results as follows:

Amendment No. 1, consolidation of city and county offices for the assessment and collection of taxes: Yes, 35,580; no, 18,164.

Amendment No. 2, authorizing holding special city elections with county and State elections: Yes, 35,-414; no, 16,521.

Amendment No. 3, borough system: Yes, 20,820; no, 25,312.

Amendment No. 4, to require railroads to elevate or depress grade crossings: Yes, 26,463; no, 23,600.

Amendment No. 5, widening the city's powers in respect to municipal affairs: Yes, 23,450; no, 21,731.

Amendment No. 6, allowing city to do street work by contract or day labor: Yes, 24,517; no, 22,450.

Amendment No. 7, authorizing rights of way through parks: Yes, 24,547; no, 21,953.

Amendment No. 8, for the appointment of commissions to control park donations: Yes, 24,111; no, 23,169.

Amendment No. 9, creation of bonding districts: Yes, 19,325; no, 25,788.

Amendment No. 10, authorizing temporary sale of surplus city power to outside municipalities: Yes, 23,794; no, 21,474.

Amendment No. 11, authorizing weekly or semimonthly pay days for city employees: Yes, 32,121; no, 16,158.

Amendment No. 12, allowing Council to meet five days a week instead of six: Yes, 25,775; no, 21,518.

Amendment No. 13, empowering Harbor Board to make emergency contracts: Yes, 18,890; no, 27,900.

Amendment No. 14, giving authority to borrow money in anticipation of taxes: Yes, 12,944; no, 33,858.

Slaughter-house ordinance permitting slaughter-houses in certain annexed districts: Yes, 19,844; no, 28,274.

Cafe-dancing initiative ordinance: Yes, 26,561; no 39,026.

DRYS REJOICE.

There was joy at the California campaign headquarters over the result of the election. When the returns from the cafe-dancing ordinance fight were received, the fact that a vote of two to one had been registered against the measure in Los Angeles made the dry leaders more certain of success in November.

Owing to the fact that the voting at Tuesday's election was heavier than was expected, the election officers may receive $6 each for their work instead of $5. Councilman Topham brought the matter to the attention of the Finance Committee yesterday and a recommendation will be made to the Council this morning.

It was the belief at the City Hall that only about 30,000 would go to the polls, but as a matter of fact 60,471 performed that duty out of a total registration of 209,475. The Council based the rate of pay on the assumption that the vote would be very light.

A FLYING SQUADRON.

Speakers to Make Addresses in Four or Five Towns a Day During the Last Week of the Campaign for the Prohibition Amendments.

D. M. Gandier, State superintendent of the Dry Federation, refuses to indorse any candidate, declaring that he is out for "California Dry," and will not listen to any other issue.

He announces that an automobile flying squadron will cover the major portions of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties during the closing week of the campaign, and that prominent speakers will give addresses each day in four or five towns and cities, with big mass meetings in the evenings at some strategic points. Among the speakers in the flying squadron will be Arthur Arlett of Oakland, Nathan Newby, S. W. O'Dell and A. J. Wallace.

The speaking campaign is planned as follows: Monday, October 29, Covina, Glendora, San Dimas, Claremont and Pomona; Tuesday, Chino, Ontario, Upland, Rialto, Redlands, San Bernardino; Wednesday, Colton, Riverside, Arlington, Corona; Thursday, Sawtelle, Santa Monica, Redondo Beach, San Pedro, Long Beach; Friday, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton, Whittier and Anaheim.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

Symbolic Ceremonial for Two Life Companions, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Welliver, Last Night. Friends Give Surprise Party in Afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Welliver of No. 313 East Avenue Forty-two celebrated their golden wedding last night at their home, with the symbolic ceremonial. The bride is 70 years of age and the groom is 72 years old.

The couple were married in Illinois after Mr. Welliver's discharge from the army. He served through the Civil War, being wounded, and he marched with Sherman to the sea. Mr. and Mrs. Welliver have been living in Los Angeles since his retirement. He was formerly a prominent farmer at Ft. Collins, Colo. They have two children, Mrs. Jennie Tomlinson of Ft. Collins, and Miss Ona Welliver, who is living at the family address. Mr. and Mrs. Welliver were given a surprise party by friends yesterday afternoon.

Last Honors.

WAS ORPHANS' FRIEND.

Final Rites for Mrs. Rosina Lang, Who for Many Years had Provided Easter Eggs for Children in Various Local Institutions.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosina Lang, the "Easter Egg Lady" of various orphan homes in this city, occurred yesterday. The services were conducted at the family home, No. 915 South Alvarado street, by Rev. Baker P. Lee of Christ Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Lang passed away at her home early Monday morning after a brief illness. She was 85 years of age. She had been deeply interested in charitable work, and especially in children's institutions. She was known as the "Easter Egg Lady" in nearly every orphanage of the city, and had made it a practice to send to the children of these institutions at each Easter time eggs that she herself had colored.

Mrs. Lang leaves three sons, Louis F. Eberhardt, A. G. Lang and G. J. Lang, all of this city. She was the widow of John Lang, well-known mining and business man, who died in 1900.

IN DAMAGE ACTION.

Jury Hears Evidence in Retrial of Suit Resulting from Indio Death.

The second trial of the action of Elizabeth J. Gard against the Southern Pacific to recover $50,000 damages alleged to be due on account of the death of her husband, George Gard, who was burned to death by the explosion of a car of gasoline at Indio in April, 1915, is on before a jury in Federal Judge Trippet's court. The suit is brought in behalf of the widow and her daughter, Miss Marjorie Gard.

The first trial resulted in a victory for the railroad company, but a new hearing was granted, on the ground that the statement made by the deceased, before his death in the hospital of the Southern Pacific at Indio, was admitted as evidence.

SPEECH ARTS ASSOCITION.

One of the new associations here is the Southern California Speech Arts Association. Its officers are Leonard Nattkemper, Long Beach, president; Miss Mila Tupper Maynard, Los Angeles, vice-president; Miss Eva Dowling, Hollywood, secretary. The next meeting of the association will be on Saturday morning, November 18, at 10 o'clock, in the Y.M.C.A. Building. Teachers are invited to attend.

ROSS INHERITANCE TAX BEARS HUGE INTEREST.

BY A RULING of Judge Works yesterday the heirs of the estate of the late Ida Hancock Ross must pay the State more than $47,700 interest on the inheritance tax of $159,354.90 assessed by Judge Rives of the Probate Court. The matter came before Judge Works on the application of G. Allan Hancock for a writ of mandate compelling State Controller Chambers and County Treasurer Hunt to issue to him a receipt in full for the inheritance tax of $159,354.90.

The State and county officials demanded interest from the date of Mrs. Ross's death, and declined to give a receipt in full because State Controller Chambers had appealed from the valuation placed upon the estate by Judge Rives. The Supreme Court affirmed Judge Rives's judgment, but State Controller Chambers insisted that the estate should pay interest.

The argument before Judge Works was engaged in by Attorneys John W. Carrigan and Edwin H. Pennock for Controller Chambers, and Raymond Stephens for the Ross estate. Judge Works, in dismissing the writ of mandate, stated that the question was one which should be passed upon by the Supreme Court. He recommended that an appeal be taken.

Before the estate can be distributed to the heirs, it was stated by Mr. Carrigan, the executor will be required to pay 10 per cent. interest on the amount of tax assessed from the death of Mrs. Ross to the date the tax is paid.

Judge Works based his dismissal of the writ on the ground that when the money for the inheritance tax was tendered to the State Controller a condition was attached that was unreasonable. He held the State Controller did not have to comply with this condition, which was to issue a receipt in full, but could have issued a receipt on the right of appeal.

WESTGATE WANTS TO BE BOROUGH.

BUT HOW'S IT GOING TO DO IT, IS THE QUESTION.

People Voted Down the Proposed Freak Amendment and City Attorney Says Present Provisions in Charter are Unconstitutional, so There's Small Chance.

Starting a movement for the formation of the borough of Westgate within the city the West Los Angeles Improvement Association will today ask the Council to proceed with the formation of the borough.

A letter to this effect was filed with City Clerk Wilde yesterday by Andrew E. Diebold, president of the association. The application contains a flaw, however, in that it asks that the borough be formed under Amendment No. 3 to the present charter. That amendment was voted down by the people day before yesterday.

It is requested that the borough be composed of the whole or part of the Westgate annex, the exact boundaries to be determined at a later date. The letter probably will be referred to the City Attorney and repose in his office until after the State Supreme Court has given a decision on the Wilmington borough application. City Attorney Stephens believes the borough provisions in the present charter are unconstitutional. If the court upholds this view there will be no way for the formation of boroughs within the city.

SAY IT'S MISNAMED.

SILENT DRAMA TOO NOISY.

Complaints having been made by Hollywood people that they can't sleep because of noise made at the "silent drama" studios, the Welfare Committee of the City Council yesterday named November 13 as the day on which a public hearing will be heard at which the moving-picture companies as well as the complainants can be represented.

Representatives of the Western avenue and Griffith Park Improvement Association yesterday waited on Councilwoman Lindsey, chairman of the committee, and told her that while they are not antagonistic to the movies they would like to sleep of nights, but, they said, there is so much hammering and hollering in the moving picture places and such brilliant electric lights are burned that night is turned into day in their neighborhood.

The residents also object to the high board fences built by the companies and also to the flimsy nature of many structures. They say, further, that the housing of Indians in tents in residential districts is not sanitary.

NEW COMMISSION.

TO CONTROL CHARITIES.

The Council yesterday adopted an ordinance creating a Municipal Social Service Commission to investigate charitable associations and indorse those which comply with its regulations. Mayor Woodman does not expect to sign the ordinance until provision is made for the formation of an Industrial commission which will have control of the Municipal Employment Bureau. The penal ordinance regulating the solicitation of alms and contributions for charitable purposes is to be further amended and action on it was deferred until November 1.

The ordinance creating the Social Service Commission provides for five members, not more than three of whom shall be of the same sex. The commission will not indorse any charitable organization which pays out more than 15 per cent. of its collections to solicitors. It will maintain a constant survey of the field of charities in Los Angeles. One of its aims will be to secure intelligent cooperation among all charities here to the end that a comprehensive and economical plan in philanthropy may be attained.

As soon as the ordinance becomes effective the Municipal Charities will automatically be abolished and the terms of office of its members discontinued. The Mayor already has their resignations.

Doubts its Validity.

Contractor B. Crites, who was ordered by the Board of Public Works to carry out his contract for the improvement of Cove avenue between Alvarado and Allesandro streets, came back yesterday with the report that he "is compelled to refrain from accepting the contract for the reason that serious legal questions have arisen as to its validity." He stated that a majority protest was signed against the work but afterward some of those who objected withdrew their opposition. Nevertheless property owners have notified him of the protest and, acting on the advice of his attorney, he feels unable to proceed with the contract.

City Hall Notes.

The Council yesterday adopted the final ordinance for the sewering of Echo Park avenue and Bellevue avenue district.

The Council has adopted new specifications for fire hose so that bidders will not have to bid under a special brand.

The ordinance of intention for the ornamental lighting of Washington street, between Main street and Central avenue, for the period of one year, has been adopted.

A majority petition against the improvement of Allesandro street between Scott avenue and Reservoir street was filed with the Council yesterday but as it was declared not to be in legal form further consideration was postponed until November 1.

HUSBAND SCORES IN ELEVENTH-HOUR PROTEST.

Ethel D. Occhsel had Long List of Grievances Against Spouse, Including Slaps, but Judge Finds for Him in Divorce Action in Which Ennui is Feature.

Ethel L. Occhsel had a list of grievances against her husband, Alfred J. Occhsel, but they failed to win her a decree of divorce in Judge Wood's court yesterday, because the court called him to the stand. Occhsel testified he wanted his wife to have a divorce because he did not believe they would ever get along together, but, as she had charged him with things which were not true, he wished he had fought it.

Mrs. Occhsel declared that as her husband did not like her earrings he tore them off and broke them; that he slapped her when she spanked the baby; swore when he had to chop wood for her and then let her do it, and told her not to swim with friends at Bimini, declaring he would not go home if she did. She also said he ordered her to put on a petticoat before company.

WINS DECREE.

HE WENT HOME—ONCE.

What is a man going to do if his wife tells him if he ever came to the house he would be sorry for it? Herbert C. Johnson, former head of a Pittsburgh bonding company, told Judge Wood yesterday that Mrs. Maude E. Johnson made this statement to him in the presence of Earl McKnight, and the latter corroborated the testimony.

Because Mrs. Johnston stayed in Pittsburgh when Mr. Johnson came to California six years ago he brought suit for desertion. He said he had occasion to go to his home for some papers and Mrs. Johnson greeted him with a blow from a curtain pole. The decree was granted.

AUTO SMASH.

SEEKS BIG RECOMPENSE.

As a result of an accident on the Ridge route, wherein J. M. Dargatz alleges his automobile was struck in the rear by the car driven by Jules Coblentz, September 19 last, and tumbled over the edge of the road and wrecked at the bottom of the canyon, Mr. Dargatz filed suit against Mr. Coblentz yesterday for an aggregate of $1629 damages.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Coblentz attempted to pass Mr. Dargatz while another machine was approaching, and charges him with negligence. He segregates his damages as follows: To the machine, $500; expenses of hiring another car, $25; loss of time, four days, $18; cost of recovering car from canyon, $36; injuries he received when he jumped, $1000.

IN AND OUT.

ABOUT THE COURTS.

MALPRACTICE SUIT. In a suit against Dr. Willis E. Hutchason charging negligence, Julius Muller, a farmer, asks $10,450 damages for a fractured jaw and an infection of the mouth, following the extraction of teeth for an artificial set. Dr. Hutchason was employed, it is alleged, June 12 last.

FAIL TO AGREE. The jury trying the $25,000 damage suit of Marie Straughn against the Los Angeles Railway Company for injuries received when, she alleges, she was jarred off a car on Maple avenue on April 12, last, disagreed yesterday and was discharged by Judge Wilbur. Miss Straughn testified that she had sustained a fracture of the skull.

DAMAGE SUIT. W. F. McDowall filed suit against the California Arizona Construction Company and the City of Los Angeles yesterday to recover $50,518 for injuries he received by rocks and dirt from a blast June 30, last, at First and Harbor boulevard. He says he was walking on the street when the blast went off, and alleges the defendants, who were grading First street, were negligent.

I CURE PILES

FISTULA

and all Rectal Diseases WITHOUT AN OPERATION

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others. I cure without surgery and my patients are not confined in bed and seldom lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic conditions in my office.

I solicit old, severe and obstinate cases of fistula, prolapsus, fissure and ulceration that have heretofore resisted all treatments employed. If you are a sufferer from rectal trouble I invite you to investigate my method thoroughly by talking or writing to any of my cured patients. If you will call at my office I will be pleased to give you the names and addresses of many well-known Los Angeles people I have cured, whom you may interview in regard to my treatment.

Read what a few well-known Southern California people have to say of my method. Many similar letters are on file in my office.

WELL KNOWN SANTA MONICA MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. C. H. White has cured me of a distressing hemorrhoidal ailment of 25 years' duration. His method of treatment is effective, but not severe. He has the appliances, the knowledge and the skill born of many years of specialization in this fruitful source of physical disease. He accomplishes all his claims in his advertising, and at reasonable expense.

I take pleasure in heartily commending the man and his methods.

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache?

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacts are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two anti-kamnia tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one anti-kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet.

Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all Pain.

—For 'tis half the success of the Thanksgiving dinner to have it served on beautiful, snowy linen!

—And, naturally, when we think of linens, we think of Hamburger's—where quality is best, and prices are lowest.

—Our fine Irish linens are from the foremost manufacturers of Belfast! A shipment just received was contracted for eighteen months ago, which allows us to sell these high-grade linens at last year's prices, and at a very great saving to you! Buy linens now!

Linen Table Damask, $2

—2000 yards came to us from Ireland—beautiful double damask of an extra heavy quality, snow white and with an exquisite satin damask design. 72 inches wide—$2 yard.

Double Damask Scalloped Table Cloths

—Superior in quality, finish and design—table cloths that on today's market would demand much higher prices than Hamburger's quotations. Round scalloped cloths, fully bleached, with a high satin luster; several beautiful designs—

German Lines to Formidable.

Allies Said to be Convinced is Impossible to Break Through.

Joffre to Adopt New Plan to Stop Needless Sacrifice of Soldiers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Oct. 26.—The Providence Journal will say tomorrow morning: (The following message, which was refused cable transmission in London on Saturday, October 14, reached the Providence Journal by mail through Montreal, last night.)

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A careful estimate of the probable duration of the war from sources which include the best brains of the military organizations of France, Great Britain and Russia, and which also reflects the personal belief of Gen. Joffre, in supreme command on the western front in Europe, has established the belief among the allied governments that there can be no possible cessation of hostilities in the next two years. It is also the belief of the military authorities among the allies that the only contingency that will shorten this period is the possible disintegration of the Austrian empire.

While conditions on the western front are more than satisfactory to the allies, they do not believe they can force the German lines back
